LITURGY AT NATIVITY: REMARKS FROM FR. BILL

*If you are returning after the summer, you will notice that servers are again assisting the priest at the altar. Also, since the number of attendees generally begins to increase in September, one Extraordinary Minister of Holy Communion (EMHC), if Deacon Bruce is not present, is now being scheduled to distribute Communion to the west section. The EMHC, like the priests and deacon, will wear a face covering and sanitize his or her hands before distributing Communion.

*A reminder that the lingering Covid-19 pandemic has resulted in Bishop Folda continuing to suspend the distribution of the chalice to the lay faithful that began with the onset of the pandemic last year

*There is a wide variety of opinions regarding Covid-19. I encourage each of you to consider wearing a face covering when you are near to others at Mass, given U.S. Centers for Disease Control guidelines. Whatever your feelings around this issue, I appreciate the respect Nativity parishioners have shown and continue to show to each other.

PARISH AND AREA NEWS

PASTOR'S NOTES

As we celebrate Catechetical Sunday this weekend, all parents, the first teachers of their children in all things, most especially in the ways of faith, will receive a special blessing. Along with them, those individuals who serve as catechists here at Nativity, placing their gifts in service to the Church to assist parents in their faith formation, will be blessed. We also are holding our first annual Ministry Gift Shop this weekend, an opportunity for all members of our Nativity family to offer their gifts in a particular ministry area, or to recommit to their service in that area. In this weekend's Gospel, Jesus and his disciples are on a journey through Galilee. Along the way, he speaks to them a second time about the Passion he will undergo, but as St. Mark records, "they did not understand the saying, and they were afraid to question him." As they continued their journey, the disciples began to argue who among them was the greatest. Jesus uses this opportunity to begin to prepare them for the time he would no longer be with them, instructing them: "If anyone wishes to be first, he shall be the last of all and the servant of all." In St. Luke's Gospel (Luke 22:24-30), we read an account of a similar argument arising among the disciples of Jesus at the Last Supper. There Jesus tells them: "Earthly kings lord it over their people. Those who exercise authority over them are called benefactors. Yet it cannot be that way with you. Let the greatest among you be as the junior, the leader as the servant." Jesus then goes on to remind them: "I am in your midst as the one who serves you. You are the ones who have stood loyally by me in my temptations. I for my part assign to you the dominion my Father has assigned to me." We see Jesus sharing his authority with his disciples, speaking of it as an authority of service. All the baptized share in this authority: at the anointing with Chrism on the crown of the head, part of the Explanatory Rites of the Sacrament of Baptism, we are reminded that the baptized person becomes "a member of Christ, Priest, Prophet and King." In considering how we are being called to live out this kingly authority Jesus shares with us through Baptism, we must enter into a process of discernment, which comes from the Latin word discerne, conveying a sense of sifting through and separating apart. In discernment, as outlined in a book by Donna Steffen, we are sifting through and separating out various feelings, beliefs, and values, to enable us to listen for and to the voice of the Spirit of God. In response to this, we decide when and how to act. For our Ministry Gift Shop, it means ultimately responding positively to God's invitation to offer, or recommit to offering, one's gifts to a particular ministry here at Nativity. The process of discernment helps us understand which of the many areas of ministry here at Nativity God may be calling us to begin or to recommit to, as well as whether now is the time to say yes.

In Christ's Peace, Fr. Bill

DREAM MANAGER BOOK READ DISCUSSION

A couple of months ago, the book Dream Manager, by Matthew Kelly, was given away to those interested in reading it. Some were intrigued by the concepts of the book and were interested in talking more about them. Because of this, we are setting up a time to discuss the possibility of whether the concepts of the book would be applicable in the church setting as far as helping people reach their life's dreams whatever they may be. Please join us for our book read discussion of Dream Manager on Tuesday, September 21, at 6:30 p.m. in the Nazareth Room.

RCIA

RCIA, the process of becoming a Catholic, is moving back to its usual day and time of Sundays from 9:00 to 10:45 a.m. in the Nazareth Room. Sunday classes will begin on September 26 and continue on consecutive Sundays unless otherwise noted. If you are interested in joining the class, please contact Chris Steffan for more information. RCIA is for those who are unbaptized adults, for those who were raised in another faith tradition but are wishing to explore becoming Catholic, or those who are baptized Catholic but have not completed their initiation sacraments. Contact Chris at 701-232-2414 ext. 127 or chriss@nativitycatholicchurch.net

STEWARDSHIP MOMENTS

"If anyone wishes to be first, he shall be the last of all and the servant of all." - Mark 9:35

Jesus teaches us that we are called to love one another. Love involves sacrifice. Sacrifice is a word that many of us do not like to hear. We think it means that we must give up something that we want. However, the literal meaning of sacrifice is "to make holy," from the words "sacer" = sacred and "facere" = to make. In other words, we make our lives holy by sharing our gifts in the service of God.

RESPONDING to the Call

EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP

Recognize God In Your Ordinary Moments

The View from the Back of the Line

Have you known that person? The one who leaves every person they encounter feeling a little more blessed for having met them? They're the friend you can count on when nothing is going well. They're the one who's always "doing" for others. They're never gossiping or sniping or complaining.

We wonder how they do it, how they have it in them. We're a little envious, even if we don't let ourselves acknowledge it.

That, folks, is what the view is like from the front of the line, gazing at those suckers in the way back and wondering why they're smiling so much.

We've all been at the front of a line and felt no shame about it. We show up early, we put in the time and the legwork, and we "earn" whatever it is we came for — sports tickets, the latest Apple product, whatever. That's how it works here on Earth, where the fastest win the race, the fittest survive and the first shall be first, always.

It's exactly why stewardship is such a tall order. Stewardship calls us to play by the rules of another kingdom — one where the richest have the least amount in their bank accounts and the happiest don't seem to have anything to show for it, at least materially.

If you have a person in your life who always seems happy "doing" for others, it's because by a boatload of God's grace, they play by the rules of the other place.

Watch and take notes — and don't be afraid to join them at the back of the line.

- Tracy Earl Welliver, MTS

LIVE THE LITURGY

Inspiration for the week

What does it mean to be God's servant? In essence, it means being willing to call the world back to its childlike innocence, showing all that a joy-filled playfulness has a place in life. The servant of God serves to foster the Kingdom of God. God's kingdom is not a sterile, unhappy, strict, and rigid reality. It is quite the opposite. It is a kingdom devoid of jealousy and selfish ambition where peace, gentleness, mercy, and good works abound. To be a servant of this kingdom means that selfish ambition must be set aside so that others can be first, and justice pursued at all cost. The prayer of this kind of servant is not focused on self-advancement or need. Rather, the servant's prayer seeks to detach from self-concern in order to be used by God. In this way, we who are servants can be inspired, guided, empowered, and led by God. We can then be used to lay the cornerstones of the kingdom: faith, hope, and love. It is upon these that God's firm dwelling is built. Accepting this call may place us last in the world's eyes but first in God's. ©LPI

WORSHIP & MEDITATION

GOSPEL MEDITATION

25th Sunday in Ordinary Time

There is something about being first. Whether it be first in line, first to be picked for the team, or the first one to finish their work, great satisfaction is achieved. Our egos love being first. It somehow sets us apart from everyone else, gives us a sense of pride and positions us to feel better than others. When we are first, we can glory in our efforts, skills, and achievements. Isn't that what really matters? After all, we are taught from a very young age to be proficient, stay on top, be the best at what we do, and win the praise and esteem of others. This is the stuff that makes us successful and provides us with a comfortable, satisfying life.

Jesus wants none of it. All of the details we anguish over mean little to the kingdom of God. You want to be first? Then, be a servant and welcome a child. All of this is the opposite of our often vehement pursuits. If we are serious about following Jesus and living the Gospel, then we must put the needs of others before our own. If we continue to listen only to the noise of the world, we are going to continue to believe the illusions we inherit. Those illusions come in many forms, but all have things in common: me before you, being on top and not the bottom, us versus them, personal security over universal harmony and peace. When are we going to learn that always striving to be the best and first is an empty pursuit in our struggle for happiness? While satisfying our ego with this momentary boost of esteem may feel good for a moment, is it what we really desire?

If we can break from the world's noise and create a space of sacred silence in our lives, we can begin to listen and see that we are being called in another direction. What we really desire is not the bolstering of our egos but the innocence we lost somewhere along the way. When we can be playful, joyful, and even somewhat carefree, life is good. We want our relationships to work, a place to call home, and to live peaceful lives with our sisters and brothers. Only a servant can do this. The servant's prayer seeks to detach from self-concern in order to be used by God. Rather than worrying about being first and coming out on top, we can be inspired, guided, empowered, and led to do good works. Stop worrying about being first and put greater energy into feeling joy.
