TOGETHER IN SPIRIT

THE EPIPHANY OF THE LORD

They were overjoyed at seeing the star, and on entering the house they saw the child with Mary his mother. They prostrated themselves and did him homage.

Then they opened their treasures and offered him gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh. - Mt 2:10-11

The Epiphany of the Lord

January 2, 2022

FROM FR. MIKE'S DESK

Happy and blessed New Year to you and your families!

I am writing this before we celebrate the Christmas liturgies, but already I am seeing the choirs doing extra practice, the decorators spending their time in the church getting it ready for our celebrations. It takes so many different people to rise to the occasion of the Christmas celebrations. I am grateful to the social justice commission and all the others who helped collect and distribute gifts to members of our communities as well as the White Earth Indian reservation. I am grateful to all those ministers (choir, liturgical ministers, decorators, and video/sound techs) who helped us celebrate these days.

Today, as we celebrate the Epiphany I am grateful to our faith formation staff, catechists, students, and parents who helped us to celebrate the Epiphany through their re-enactment and singing of the Epiphany story.

Last year was a good recovery year and although we are hanging on the edge of the omicron variant of the Covid virus I am grateful that we are pushing ahead to re-engage our community life. I look forward to what promises this new year holds out for each of us!

God bless each of us as we begin and continue into 2022.

STAFF CORNER

I couldn't sleep last night. Perhaps it was the excitement of the season and all of the possibilities with a new year upon us. I decided to grab a snack in the kitchen. I found myself sitting at the kitchen table eating a granola bar and looking out the window at the stars. It was a clear night and the stars were brilliant. I had the song, "Mary did you know?" running through my head as it is one of my favorite Christmas songs and had the song playing in the background before I went to bed for the night. The light from the stars gave off enough light to see outside and check-in on my neighbors at this late hour. Everything seemed as it should. Calm. Looking at the stars, I felt at peace thinking about the night Jesus was born in a humble manger and how Mary and Joseph must have been exhausted from their travels. Having given birth to two children of my own, I felt in awe of Mary. To think that, after a long and hard journey to Bethlehem riding on a donkey, she gave birth to the Christ Child without medication and without a team of medical professionals helping her through the amazing yet painful process of giving birth. I had two c-sections and it was not an experience that I would call "comfortable" but holding my babies in my arms made me forget the pain I went through to have them and the amazing gift from God of unconditional love for our new family. And Joseph, he must have felt somewhat helpless watching the woman he loved be in so much pain. And all of the questions that must have been running through his mind with a newborn now in his care. I hope the community surrounded them in their time of need. And to think those people probably didn't know that the small role they played was of epic proportions as the Savior of the World was born that night.

My thoughts continued to wonder as I looked at the stars. I still didn't feel very tired so I poured myself a glass of water. I began to think about the shepherds who saw the magnificent sight of angels and went into town to see the baby they were told about. And the Magi, who traveled a great distance following a single bright star with gifts to bring the new King of the World. I wonder what they thought when they found a young tired mother, an exhausted new father now carrying the weight of a family on his shoulders and an innocent child as the only Begotten Son of God?

To think about an event that happened over 2000 years ago brings about so many questions. I am filled with awe, wonder and peace....and finally ready to go back to bed to get some sleep before my alarm goes off in a few hours.

As you listen to the Gospel today and watch our youth re-enact the Epiphany of the Lord, allow yourself to wonder and feel the gloriousness of this occasion both in our youth here today celebrating and in the Epiphany it's self. A 2000-year-old event in a land far away from us reminds us of the endless possibilities of living a life of faith. Truly, nothing is impossible for God. I wish you a blessed new year and I hope that you always see and feel the light of God working within you and in those around you.

Thank you to our preschool and elementary school faith formation youth for singing for us and for our 6th grade youth for re-enacting the Gospel Reading. You are beautifully and wonderfully made and a blessing to us all. We are so proud of you and all the wonder and possibilities you bring to our lives. Thank you.
