23rd Sunday in Ordinary Time

Welcome to the Cathedral of St. Joseph and thank you for joining us for the celebration of Holy Mass today!

Please, silence your cell phones and refrain from eating, drinking or chewing gum in the Cathedral. Help keep our Cathedral tidy by utilizing the waste baskets found near the main entrances.

Please, do not take pictures during the Mass celebration. You are welcome to take pictures after Mass.

I confess to almighty God and to you, my brothers and sisters that I have greatly sinned, in my thoughts and in my words, in what I have done and in what I have failed to do, (striking breast three times) through my fault, through my fault, through my most grievous fault; Therefore I ask blessed Mary ever-Virgin, all the Angels and Saints, and you, my brothers and sisters, to pray for me to the Lord our God.

THE LITURGY OF THE WORD

FIRST READING

ISAIAH 35:4-7a

Thus says the LORD:

Say to those whose hearts are frightened:

Be strong, fear not!

Here is your God, he comes with vindication; with divine recompense he comes to save you.

Then will the eyes of the blind be opened, the ears of the deaf be cleared; then will the lame leap like a stag, then the tongue of the mute will sing.

Streams will burst forth in the desert, and rivers in the steppe.

The burning sands will become pools, and the thirsty ground, springs of water.

RESPONSORIAL PSALM

Psalm 146:6-7, 8-9, 9-10

(Refrain sung first by cantor, then congregation repeat)

Praise the Lord, my soul! Praise the Lord!

Text: Refrain trans., Lectionary for Mass, © 1969, 1981, 1997, ICEL; verses, New American Bible, © 1970, Confraternity of Christian Doctrine
Music: Michel Guimont, © 1994, 1998, GIA Publications, Inc.

It is the Lord who preserves fidelity forever, who does justice to those who are oppressed. It is he who gives bread to the hungry, the Lord who sets prisoners free. R

The Lord who opens the eyes of the blind, the Lord who raises up those who are bowed down. It is the Lord who loves the just, the Lord who protects the stranger. R

The Lord upholds the orphan and the widow, but thwarts the path of the wicked. The Lord will reign forever, the God of Sion from age to age. R

SECOND READING

JAMES 2:1-5

My brothers and sisters, show no partiality as you adhere to the faith in our glorious Lord Jesus Christ.

For if a man with gold rings and fine clothes comes into your assembly, and a poor person in shabby clothes also comes in, and you pay attention to the one wearing the fine clothes and say, "Sit here, please," while you say to the poor one, "Stand there," or "Sit at my feet," have you not made distinctions among yourselves and become judges with evil designs?

Listen, my beloved brothers and sisters.

Did not God choose those who are poor in the world to be rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom that he promised to those who love him?

GOSPEL ACCLAMATION

Please Stand

(Sung first by cantor, then congregation repeat)

Al - le - lu - ia, al - le - lu - ia, al - le - lu - ia.
Jesus proclaimed the Gospel of the kingdom and cured every disease among the people. R

GOSPEL

Mark 7:31-37

Again Jesus left the district of Tyre and went by way of Sidon to the Sea of Galilee, into the district of the Decapolis. And people brought to him a deaf man who had a speech impediment and begged him to lay his hand on him. He took him off by himself away from the crowd. He put his finger into the man's ears and, spitting, touched his tongue; then he looked up to heaven and groaned, and said to him, "Ephphatha!"— that is, "Be opened!" — And immediately the man's ears were opened, his speech impediment was removed, and he spoke plainly. He ordered them not to tell anyone. But the more he ordered them not to, the more they proclaimed it. They were exceedingly astonished and they said, "He has done all things well. He makes the deaf hear and the mute speak."

PROFESSION OF FAITH

Please Stand

I believe in one God,
the Father almighty,
maker of heaven and earth,
of all things visible and invisible.
I believe in one Lord Jesus Christ,
the Only Begotten Son of God,
born of the Father before all ages.
God from God, Light from Light,
true God from true God, begotten, not made,
consubstantial with the Father;
through him all things were made.
For us men and for our salvation
he came down from heaven,
(bow here) and by the Holy Spirit was incarnate of the Virgin Mary, and became man.
For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate,
he suffered death and was buried,
and rose again on the third day
in accordance with the Scriptures.
He ascended into heaven
and is seated at the right hand of the Father.
He will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead and his kingdom will have no end.
I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life,
who proceeds from the Father and the Son,
who with the Father and the Son is adored and glorified,

who has spoken through the prophets.
I believe in one, holy, catholic and apostolic Church.
I confess one Baptism for the forgiveness of sins
and I look forward to the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come.
Amen.

CLERGY REFLECTION

I love that Hebrew word “Ephphatha!” “Be Opened!” It rolls off the tongue like the grandiose declaration it is: ef-FA-tha! We are not unfamiliar with this word. Every baptism in the Catholic faith includes what we call the “Ephphatha Rite,” or “The Opening.” It’s one of the last prayers the priest or deacon prays over the child before the final blessing. He first places his thumb on both ears of the baby, and then places his thumb on the baby’s lips, saying these words: The Lord Jesus made the deaf hear and the dumb speak. May he soon touch your ears to receive his word, and your mouth to proclaim his faith, to the praise and glory of God the Father. Amen.

Thus, the intention is that the child would grow one day to be not just a “hearer” of the word, but a “doer” of the word. In the Gospel for today, Jesus uses the declaration to open a man’s ears so that he might hear what he has never heard before; and removes his speech impediment so that he might speak what he has never been able to utter before: the Good News of the Gospel. The implication is that in the end, the man became a true follower of Jesus, zealously proclaiming Him as Messiah and Lord.

Whatever Jesus did, He did with calculation. He healed in order that people would be active participants in his mission – not just spectators watching on the sidelines, but a player, a member, a person who acts and is involved in the faith. Christ demonstrates both the beauty and goodness of God in His actions. Jesus not only says a command, He does something essentially human. He physically touches him. He puts His fingers into the deaf man’s ears and He touches the man’s tongue (with His own spittle) to physically identify with this man’s infirmity and to awaken faith in him. We are reminded of two points. First, the physical remedy He uses for healing is not unlike the conferring of the Sacraments in our Catholic faith. We use words, actions, AND elements (not spittle; but water, bread & wine, oil) to heal and restore and to build up faith. Christ makes the power and authority of God a tangible reality for us. He’s not floating on some cloud in the air, but He is actually present in the sacramental actions that confer grace.

Second, St. Gregory the Great, church father of the 6th century, whose feast day we celebrated last Tuesday, says: “The Spirit is called the finger of God. When the Lord puts His fingers into the ears of the deaf mute, He was opening the soul of the man to faith through the gifts of the Holy Spirit.”

It is the finger of God that opens our souls to faith through the sacramental life of the Church; and it is the finger of God that endows us with the gifts of the Holy Spirit. Let us, like the deaf-mute who was healed, have our “hearts” opened to be led by the Spirit; and our “lives” liberated that we might live in the Spirit. Ephphatha!!
