The Foundation of a Culture of Life

On June 28, 2002 at World Youth Day St. John Paul II made this observation during his homily, "We are not the sum of our weaknesses and failures; we are the sum of the Father's love for us and our real capacity to become the image of his Son." This is the foundation for a culture of life. The dignity and value of each and every human person comes from God and hence each and every human life is sacred. Because the Father's love for each of us is unchanging, this means the value and dignity of each and every person is also unchanging.

We live in a culture which tells me my value comes from my accomplishments, or productivity, or what others think of me, or how many followers I have on social media, or how much health, wealth, or pleasure I enjoy, and so on. However, none of these things touches my fundamental value and dignity because none of these changes the Father's love for me. While all of these are good in themselves, I could lose all of them, and my dignity as a person would not change the slightest bit.

Think how different our world would be if we all lived in a deep awareness of our fundamental dignity before God. Building a culture of life requires each of us to embrace this fundamental dignity for ourselves and to help everyone around us do the same. Those whose health is failing need us to walk with them and remind them by our presence and prayers that their value and dignity haven't changed. Mothers and fathers experiencing an unexpected pregnancy or struggling to raise kids with limited means also need similar support. If everyone felt this supported and loved, abortion and assisted suicide would simply be implausible.

So, we ask ourselves, do I really believe in my own dignity? Am I willing to accompany others in embracing their own dignity? May the Lord give us the grace we need to build this foundation for a culture of life.

Until next time, God bless you,
Fr. Matthew

The Twenty-Eighth Sunday in Ordinary Time

October is Domestic Violence Awareness Month

What's the difference between normal conflict and domestic violence? Conflict is part of every intimate relationship–that's why conflict resolution skills are important. Domestic violence, however, has no place in a healthy relationship, whether the couple is dating, cohabiting, engaged, or married.

What is domestic violence?

Domestic violence is any kind of behavior that a person uses, or threatens to use, to control an intimate partner. The two key elements are threat and control. Domestic violence can take various forms:

Physical – Violent actions such as hitting, beating, pushing, and kicking. In many cases physical abuse becomes more frequent and severe over time.

Sexual – Includes any sexual acts that are forced on one partner by the other

Psychological – Includes a wide range of behaviors such as intimidation, isolating the victim from friends and family, controlling where the victim goes, making the victim feel guilty or crazy, and making unreasonable demands

Emotional – Undermining an individual's self-esteem, constant criticism, insults, put-downs, and name-calling

Economic – Examples include limiting the victim's access to family income, preventing the victim from working or forcing the victim to work, destroying the victim's property, and making all the financial decisions

Both women and men can be victims of domestic abuse. According to the National Domestic Violence Hotline statistics, approximately 1 in 4 women and 1 in 7 men over the age of 18 have been the victim of physical domestic violence, and almost 50% of both sexes have experienced some form of domestic psychological aggression.

What the Catholic Church teaches about domestic violence

The U.S. Catholic Bishops have made clear that "violence against women, inside or outside the home, is never justified. Violence in any form- physical, sexual, psychological, or verbal is sinful; often it is a crime as well." (When I Call for Help: A Pastoral Response to Domestic Violence Against Women)

Domestic violence and the permanence of marriage

Some abused women believe that Catholic Church teaching on the permanence of marriage requires them to stay in an abusive relationship. They may hesitate to seek a separation or divorce. They may fear that they cannot re-marry in the Catholic Church.

In When I Call for Help: A Pastoral Response to Domestic Violence Against Women, the Catholic bishops emphasize that "no person is expected to stay in an abusive marriage." Violence and abuse, not divorce, break up a marriage. The abuser has already broken the marriage covenant through his or her abusive behavior. Abused persons who have divorced may want to investigate the possibility of seeking an annulment.

What the Bible says

Abusive men may take a text from the Bible and distort it to support their right to batter. They often use Ephesians 5:22 ("Wives should be subordinate to their husbands as to the Lord") to justify their behavior. This passage (v. 21-33), however, refers to the mutual submission of husband and wife out of love for Christ. It means that husbands should love their wives as they love their own body, as Christ loves the Church.

The Catholic bishops condemn the use of the Bible to support abusive behavior in any form. Men and women are created in God's image. They are to treat each other with dignity and respect.

Forgiveness

Men who batter also cite the Bible to insist that their victims forgive them (see, for example, Matthew 6:9-15). A victim then feels guilty if she cannot do so. Forgiveness, however, does not mean forgetting the abuse or pretending that it didn't happen. Neither is possible.

Forgiveness is not permission to repeat the abuse. Rather, forgiveness means that the victim decides to let go of the experience, to move on with life and not to tolerate abuse of any kind again.

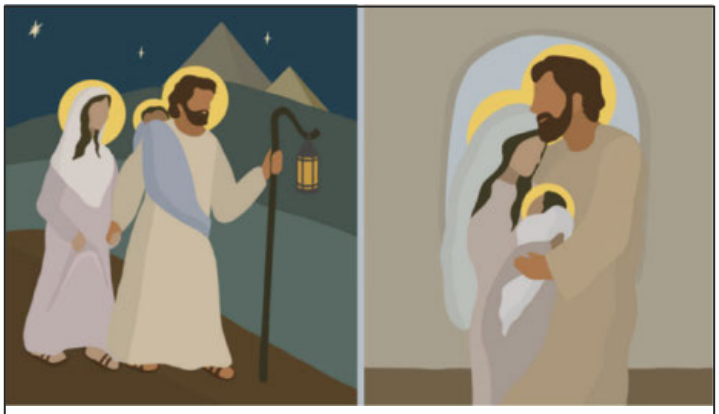
ENJOYING THE FALL SEASON

We are kicking off the fall season with a fun apple project for our toddlers. Our combo class also had fun doing a hands-on outdoor activity. We are still enjoying some nice weather before winter comes!



A Prayer to St. Joseph, Defender of Life

Dearest St. Joseph, at the word of an angel, you lovingly took Mary into your home. As God's humble servant, you guided the Holy Family on the road to Bethlehem, welcomed Jesus as your own son in the shelter of a manger, and fled far from your homeland for the safety of both Mother and Child. We praise God that as their faithful protector, you never hesitated to sacrifice for those entrusted to you. May your example inspire us also to welcome, cherish, and safeguard God's most precious gift of life. Help us to faithfully commit ourselves to the service and defense of human life—especially where it is vulnerable or threatened. Obtain for us the grace to do the will of God in all things. Amen.

God of peace,
there are many places and many people who do not experience Your peace.
Right now there are many,
many women and children
who live under the dark weight of the fear of violence right in their own homes.
We pray for your protection,
and for wisdom for friends and officials
to help bring that right protection to them.
We pray for the many men who themselves feel powerless and confused about their relationships.
We ask that you would help them
find healthy ways to work out their frustrations and to find hope without resorting to destructive impulses. God, work in our country to stem this epidemic. We ask for your perfect peace.
Amen.

THERE IS POWER IN PRAYER

Christ the King Prayer Ministry is comprised of over 100 of your fellow parishioners, who are ready to respond to the prayerful needs of the parish. Let us pray for your loved one, friend, relative or anyone in need of prayers! We are here for you.

If you have someone needing prayers, contact Annie Lackey by phone at 554-7875 or by email lackeyannie12@gmail.com. If you have questions, you may also contact the church office at 273-0710.

A weekly recap of the prayer needs of the parish is compiled and emailed out to the Prayer Warriors each Thursday evening.

Our next blood drive is scheduled for Saturday December 4, 2021 from 8:30 AM - 11:30 AM.
