Freedom properly defined is freedom properly understood. The Cambridge Dictionary tells us that it is, "the condition or right of being able or allowed to do, say, think, etc., whatever you want to, without being controlled or limited." That same dictionary defines liberty as, "the freedom to live, work, and travel as you want to." Both definitions sound very similar. Is there a difference between freedom and liberty? Many are accustomed to believing that freedom and liberty are interchangeable and simply involve possessing rights and privileges. For the Christian, however, there is a big difference between the two.

St. John Chrysostom directs that "the only person who is free is the one who lives for Christ." There are many other inspirational people throughout history who see freedom as something far greater than liberty. True and properly understood freedom has little to do with entitlement or self-promotion. For the believer, it is a matter of the heart and soul. Freedom (and liberty, for that matter), seen only in terms of the world, can quickly be taken away. The freedom spoken of by St. John Chrysostom can only be lost by personal choice. When one lives for Christ, they live in pursuit of virtues that enlighten one's soul (faith, hope, and love) and strengthen one's character (justice, fortitude, temperance, and prudence). Rather than having the ability to acquire or do more things, true freedom asks us to be detached. Privileges, rights, and responsibilities are important, but they do not define us.

The world is not always open to listening to the truth. "I am sending you like lambs among wolves," Jesus tells his disciples. The secular definitions of freedom and liberty are very attractive. They promise us a great deal. It is no wonder Jesus asks his disciples to travel with very little. The Gospel is not dependent upon things or anything those with worldly power or investment can say or do. When one chooses to live for Christ, they choose to live with peace. That's what true freedom will give us. If we do not want what Christ offers, we can close the door, and the messenger will walk away. Distracted by the lure of personal liberties, we risk losing our freedom. We will not have anything truly life-giving to share with others

REAL EVANGELISM

If we are going to be effective in reaching people for Christ we are going to have to start showing people that we really care. Evangelism and missions must be relational in nature. There is no record of Jesus walking up to someone out of the clear blue sky and saying: I am the Messiah and then him beginning to show his care for them. No, he showed his care for them first and then he revealed himself to them.

A story is told about a man who was on a luxury liner and suddenly he falls overboard. He can't swim and in desperation he begins calling for help. Now it just so happens that there were several would be rescuers on deck who witnessed the incident. The first man was a MORALIST. When he saw the man fall overboard he immediately reached into his briefcase and pulled out a book on how to swim. He now tossed it to him and he yelled: Now brother, you read that and just follow the instructions and you will be alright.

The man next to him happened to be a IDEALIST. When he saw the man fall overboard he immediately jumped into the water and began swimming all around the drowning man saying: Now just watch me swim. Do as I do and you will be alright. The person next to him happened to be a member of the INSTITUTIONAL CHURCH. He looked upon the drowning man's plight with deep concern. He yelled out: Now, just hold on friend. Help is on the way. We are going to establish a committee and dialogue your problem. And then, if we have come up with the proper financing, we will resolve your dilemma.

The next man on deck happened to be a representative of the school of POSITIVE THINKING. He yelled out to the drowning man: "Friend, this situation is not nearly as bad as you think. Think dry!" The next man on board happened to be a REVIVALIST. By this time the drowning man was going down for the third time and desperately began waving his arm. Seeing that, the revivalist yelled out: Yes brother, I see that hand, is there another? Is there another? And finally, the last man on deck, was a REALIST member of a CHRISTIAN CHURCH. He immediately plunged into the water, at the risk of his own life, and pulled the victim to safety.

My friends, the harvest is plentiful, but the WORKERS are few. We need realists in the church willing plunge into the water and go to work.

“The harvest is rich,” Jesus tells the seventy-two in today’s Gospel, “but the workers are few.” The situation is the same today. How can I help with God’s harvest? Am I called into the field? Am I one who could provide food or shelter or wages to those who toil in the fields of the Lord?

SAVE the DATE - Mass to Celebrate the Conclusion of the Diocesan Capital Campaign Tuesday, July 19th, 5:30 PM

Bishop Edward M. Rice has scheduled four liturgies in July to celebrate and thank God for the success of the first-ever Diocesan Capital Endowment Campaign, which was recently concluded, and which funded three priorities for the Diocese of Springfield-Cape Girardeau: youth formation, seminarian education/formation and retirement of our diocesan priests.

The date for the St. Elizabeth Ann Seton Mass has been set for Tuesday, July 19th, at 5:30 PM. A dinner/reception will follow the Mass. Please RSVP to 417.887.6472, if you wish to attend.

REMINDER FROM BISHOP RICE

RE: Disposition of human remains

If you are considering cremation for yourself or a loved one, please know that while it is permitted in the Catholic Church, the ashes of the deceased must be laid to rest in a sacred place. You may not scatter the ashes, nor should they be kept at home. And also note, that it is always the preference of the Church to have the body present for the Funeral Mass/Service. If cremation is chosen, the body should be cremated after the funeral and then have the ashes properly buried.

SEAS PARISHIONERS ARE AWESOMELY GENEROUS AGAIN!

Your generosity is awe-inspiring!

During Vacation Bible School, a total of $1,700.25 was collected for those suffering the atrocities of war in Ukraine. Thank you to everyone who contributed to this fund.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK:

Luke 10: 1-9

Key Passage: “Into whatever house you enter, first say, ‘Peace to this household.’ If a peaceful person lives there, your peace will rest upon him, but if not, it will return to you.”

Question: What can you do to bring greater peace to your household?

Children: What one thing can you do at home that would make it a happier place for everyone?
