“The Only Thing Scary About the Saints is Their Holiness”

In case you didn't notice, today is Halloween, but the readings from Scripture don't mention it. And if you think of scary things first when thinking of Halloween, I suppose the only thing scary from the scriptures today might be what God commands us to do. The Ten Commandments are not meant to be suggestions, and Jesus clarifies which of them is the greatest:

You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your mind, and with all your strength.

The second is this:

You shall love your neighbor as yourself.
There is no other commandment greater than these.

Halloween, traditionally “All Hallows Eve ” that is, the Vigil of All Saints' Day, when we remember those who have gone before us to enter the Feast of Heaven. The next day, November 2, our Church commemorates all the faithful departed still detained in Purgatory, and prays in suffrage for them. The memory of those who have died naturally leads to thoughts of mortality, and our liturgy in the next month also focuses on the end times, adding to the atmosphere of doom.

It is important for us to retain and maintain the Catholic meaning and purpose of holy days, especially those that society has adapted and commercialized. It is important that we keep the meaning of the season and these feasts. If we continue to forget our Judeo- Christian roots there is much more that will be lost than just life.

However you choose to celebrate Halloween, if you celebrate it at all, celebrate the truth that it points us toward death and the afterlife. Express in every detail of these days the beauty and depth of the Feast of All Saints. Spend these days in devotion to God whose saints give us hope that we too may one day enter into the Kingdom prepared for God's holy ones from the beginning of time. Heaven is meant for all, but not all will choose it. If we do not keep the greatest commandment, then the afterlife is certainly uncertain. That should be the scariest thought of our day.

God Bless,
Fr. Jerry

CATHOLIC CONSIDERATIONS FOR OUR EARTHLY PASSING

We know earthly death is not the end, but rather the door through which we must pass to gain eternal life. Because of our belief and hope in the Resurrection, we can face death not with fear, but with preparation. Although certainly not comprehensive, the following considerations are provided as starting points for understanding and preparing for this transition, whether it is imminent or not.

Now and at the Hour of our Death [1]

We prepare for eternal life by choosing to love and follow God now, in our daily lives and decisions. For example, through prayer and regular reception of the sacraments, especially Confession and the Eucharist, we obtain grace to live in ever-deeper communion with God and with one another in lives of faith, charity, and justice.[2] We ask for Our Blessed Mother's help now, and we entrust ourselves to her further as we "surrender 'the hour of our death' wholly to her care." [3]

Forming Our Consciences

Our journey with Christ naturally includes equipping our consciences to make morally good judgments and acting accordingly.[4] Learning about the dignity of human life and the indispensable respect for it, [5] as well as applicable principles for medical care, is particularly important in preparing for our eventual passing.

Some bishops offer guides applying moral principles to local legal options.[6] Parish and online resources are also widely available for careful and prayerful study, and the Ethical and Religious Directives from the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops give direction for health care services to those who are seriously ill or dying.[7]

A Note on General Principles

No summary can substitute for thorough catechesis, but some general principles are clear. We are entrusted by God with the gift of life, and in response, we care for our lives and health in obedience and gratitude to our Creator.

This obliges us to make use of appropriate, effective medical care. However, even effective treatments may at times impose such a great burden that we, in good conscience, may forgo or discontinue them. This applies even to life-sustaining treatments. Of course, nothing should be done or deliberately omitted to hasten death.[8]

The Church affirms the inviolable dignity of every person, regardless of the duration or extent of the person's incapacity or dependency. Nothing diminishes the unchangeable dignity and sanctity of a person's life, or the obligation to protect and care for it. In principle, assisted feeding and hydration should be provided unless it cannot sustain life or is unduly burdensome to the patient, or if death is imminent whether it is provided or not.

Moreover, no one should choose suicide, nor counsel or assist another to take his or her own life.

Discerning Treatment Options

Judging the effect and burden of treatments can be difficult, especially as death draws near. To understand health facts and treatment options, we need professional medical advice. To understand Catholic moral teaching, we need to consult Church teaching and those who can faithfully explain it.

Speaking with Loved Ones

After informing our consciences, we need to inform our families. If we are unable to make decisions, they most often have legal authority to make surrogate decisions on our behalf. Or we may designate a health care agent by a durable power of attorney.

Though it is often helpful to also have written, signed documentation, no living will "check box" can ever replace clear conversations about our faith-guided principles. The best option is to choose an agent who will make medical decisions on our behalf in accord with our Catholic faith and Church teaching.

We should also inform family of our pastoral care preferences, and make clear that after death, we desire prayer, funeral rites, and Christian burial.[9]

Accompaniment before and after Death [10]

Those who are sick should not be alone, as multiple popes have reminded us in messages for the annual World Day of the Sick. Patients who have serious or life-threatening illnesses, as well as their families, can be provided with physical, psychological, and spiritual care through team-based palliative care.[11] Hospice care can provide similar integrated care for those nearing death and for their families.

Pastoral care is integral to both palliative and hospice care, and includes making available the Eucharist, Confession, Anointing of the Sick, and Viaticum.[12] It also includes supportive prayer[13] and support for decision makers. It may be helpful to familiarize ourselves with local services available in preparation for our own passing or that of loved ones.

Even after death, accompaniment continues. Our prayers can help those who are being purified in Purgatory, so it is a spiritual work of mercy to pray for those who have died.[14]

Hope in the Resurrection

Those who die in God's grace and friendship live forever with Christ. Heaven is not an abstract idea, but a true and lasting relationship with God that is beyond all earthly description and understanding. We look forward to the resurrection of the dead and everlasting life by preparing now, in hope, for our passage from this life into eternal life. We need not fear. Christ is with us.

National Vocation Awareness Week is Celebrated November 7-13, 2021.

"When the Lord awakens a vocation, He thinks not only of what you already are, but of what you will one day be in His company and that of others." – Pope Francis, Christus Vivit

National Vocation Awareness Week will be celebrated by the Catholic Church from November 7-13, 2021. This annual week-long event is a time for dioceses and parishes in the United States to foster vocations in their local communities and renew their commitment to pray for those discerning a call to the priesthood, permanent diaconate, or consecrated life.

The parish is often the first environment, outside of the immediate family, that nurtures the seed of vocation. Pastors, youth and young adult ministers, catechetical teachers, and faithful parishioners have consistently ranked as having the greatest influence on men and women discerning a priestly or consecrated vocation. All faithful are charged with the responsibility to assist discerners, through gentle and patient accompaniment, with hearing the voice of God and responding, in love, to His will for their lives.

Lord of the Harvest

BLESS young people with the gift of courage to respond to your call.
Open their hearts to great ideals, to great things.

INSPIRE all of your disciples to mutual love and giving—for vocations blossom in the good soil of faithful people.

INSTILL those in religious life, parish ministries, and families with the confidence and grace to invite others to embrace the bold and noble path of a life consecrated to you.

UNITE us to Jesus through prayer and sacrament, so that we may cooperate with you in building your reign of mercy and truth, of justice and peace. Amen.

— Pope Francis

Solemnity of All Saints

We will celebrate the Solemnity of All Saints with Liturgies on Monday, November 1st at 8:15 am, 12:00 noon and 6:00 pm.

All Saints Prayer

God of all, on this day we recall those who have gone before us, leaving this world and joining you forever.

Help us to remember that we are never alone.

For even when we feel lost in our walk with you, we have a cloud of believers surrounding us, cheering us on.

May your saints guide us with their words, inspire us with their example, and bring us to holiness with their prayers.

Most of all, give us the desire to be saints ourselves, to know, love and serve you in this life, and enjoy you forever in the next, fulfilling the purpose for which you created us. Amen.

Chapel of Remembrance: Remembering Our Own

November is a time when we as a Catholic community pray for and remember all of our loved ones who have died. As we enter into this special time of prayer and reflection, a Chapel of Remembrance has been set up in the area south of the baptismal font. All are invited to place photos of their deceased loved ones in this area during the months of October and November. Please label picture with your name and phone number. This collection of photos serves as a tangible reminder of the Communion of Saints which binds all of us, living or deceased, into one Church. Please take the time to list the names of those you would like to remember in our Book of Remembrance. The Book of Remembrance will be processed in during November liturgies and will be placed at the foot of the altar. All those listed will be remembered during our liturgies in November.

November Liturgy for the Deceased

All are invited to remember those dear to us who have gone home to God, on Tuesday, November 2nd at 6:00 pm. This liturgy is in remembrance of family members of our community as well as those in our parish, listed below, and all other loved ones you wish to remember who have gone before us. During this beautiful liturgy, family members will come forward to light a candle in remembrance of their loved ones. Everyone is encouraged to attend this liturgy to pray for the faithful departed and remember those who meant so much to us.

OF NORTHEAST KANSAS

This weekend we are happy to have with us representatives from Catholic Charities of Northeast Kansas. As a ministry of the Archdiocese of Kansas City in Kansas, Catholic Charities dispenses love and hope to our neighbors in need throughout 21 counties.

They offer a wide range of specialized programs and services that span from the beginning to life’s end. Help with immediate survival needs including food, clothing and shelter. More than that, they provide education, give guidance and provide resources that will result in long-term change. All services provided are based on need — not religion, race or nationality.

Currently our parish is helping with two campaigns for Catholic Charities. We appreciate all who have given to these worthy causes and we ask for continued prayers and support so that Catholic Charities will succeed in helping those in need.

Catholic Charities - Resettlement Services

Catholic Charities of Northeast Kansas is one of the largest resettlement sites in Kansas. Our Resettlement Services offers programs and services designed to provide social and emotional support to all. Afghans are now arriving in our Archdiocese. We are expecting 75+ people. Your support of our mission has never been more critical as more families turn to Catholic Charities for help, hope and hospitality. We have several needs as we help these families resettle in Kansas.

We have created an Amazon Wish List for many of the household items needed. We are also asking for $20 Walmart gift cards to help with food, personal and hygiene needs. Please go to the link listed below or send a gift card to the contact listed below.

Gospel Stewardship Reflection

Today's Gospel presents Jesus' teachings on the two greatest commandments: (1) love the Lord with all your heart, soul, mind, and strength; and (2) love your neighbor as yourself. Let's consider these "greatest commandments" as they relate to three aspects of a Christian steward's daily life — the giving of our time, talent, and treasure. The use of time refers primarily to our relationship with the Lord — in other words, our prayer life. It is vital to talk to God throughout the day, but if I really want to love Him with all my heart, soul, mind, and strength, shouldn't I make time for God "first" on my agenda each day? Not as an afterthought, but as a time I have intentionally chosen to spend only with Him. The use of talents refers to the way I offer the abilities, skills, and interests the Lord has given me for the good of those around me. Doing so is a practical way to "love my neighbor as myself." At the same time, it is also a way to love the Lord with all that I am and have, since He has told us that whatever we do for others we are also doing for Him. The use of material gifts — or treasure — likewise demonstrates both love of God and of neighbor. When I trustingly offer a sacrificial gift to God through the offertory collection, I am showing Him in a very tangible way that He comes before all else in my life and I am putting my material resources at the service of my neighbor in the Corpus Christi community and beyond. When we live for God and others, we are living a stewardship way of life. And like the wise scribe in today's Gospel, we are moving closer to the kingdom of God, our ultimate destination.

"And to love him with all your heart, with all your understanding, with all your strength, and to love your neighbor as yourself is worth more than all the burnt offerings and sacrifices." Mark 12:33

Of all the gifts that God gives us, the one He wants the most is our heart. He wants us to share out of our love for Him, not out of obligation. Using our talent in parish ministry and contributing money to support our parish mission is important, but it's more important to spend time in prayer with God daily and discern how He is calling us to be generous with all of our gifts. Not just the visible ones, but the invisible ones like love, mercy and forgiveness.
