May 2022 Financial Report

An average of $18,000 in the collection is needed weekly to meet projected expenses.

What does this number mean?

St. Brendan Parish receives revenue from several sources. To pay for projected expenses, the weekly collection must average $18,000. Revenue from other sources, such as from bequests and special one-time donations, grants, and tuition from school families who are not parishioners, is also needed in addition to the weekly collection to meet regular operational expenses.

If the weekly collection average is too low, how are the bills paid?

So far, St. Brendan has been able to pay bills despite a too-low weekly collection by drawing from savings and by receiving unexpected revenue (such as government money for COVID-19). However, grants and some special donations often cannot be used for regular operational expenses.
