Evangelists in Action

Today we celebrate Divine Mercy Sunday, a relatively recent addition to our liturgical calendar. Just 22 years ago, April 30, 2000, on the occasion of the canonization of St. Faustina, then Pope John Paul II granted the gift of the Feast of Divine Mercy to the Universal Church, to be celebrated the first Sunday after Easter. Fourteen years later, on April 27, he was canonized and henceforth would be known as St. John Paul II, or St. Pope John Paul II.

The Entrance Antiphon sets the theme for each day's Mass. Today's is taken from the 1st Epistle of St. Peter "Like newborn infants, you must long for the pure, spiritual milk, that in Him you may grow to salvation, alleluia."

The Divine Mercy devotion is based on the diary of St. Faustina Kowalska, a young Polish nun who died in 1938. At the direction of her spiritual director, St. Faustina wrote almost 600 pages describing the messages of mercy she received from Jesus Christ, beginning on February 22, 1931, and continuing throughout the remainder of her life. The messages were a reinforcement of what Christ always taught: God loves us no matter how great our sins. He wants us to come to Him with trust, receive His mercy, and let it flow through us to others.

On the 8th Sunday of Ordinary Time, just before Lent, we heeded the words of Jesus as He was instructing His disciples, "Follow me!" Now that Lent is over, it doesn't mean that we should quit following Him. Instead He is challenging us, along with His disciples, to a new, lofty mission. Today's Gospel brings us an exciting message of mercy and peace.

The disciples were gathered behind locked doors in the upper room in Jerusalem because they were afraid of the Jews. On the evening of that first day of the week, Jesus appeared in the room among them. He had no need for doors being opened, he just appeared. Twice Jesus offered His greeting, "Peace be with you." Then He commanded, "As the Father has sent me, so I send you." They were to become evangelists, evangelists in action.

Then Jesus instituted the wonderful gift of the sacrament of Penance. In His words, "Receive the Holy Spirit. Whose sins you forgive are forgiven them, and whose sins you retain are retained." Peace and mercy! Mercy and peace! What a fantastic combination!

We can see how the disciples began their work of evangelization by following in the Acts of the Apostles. Our First Readings throughout the Easter Season will be from the Acts of the Apostles. Now it is up to us to listen to the mission that Jesus has given each of us: "As the Father has sent me, so I send you." Jesus is asking us to become evangelists.

What can we do to become good evangelists? Look around you. Be observant. We can find many great examples to follow, especially among the saints who have gone before us. We also have multiple candidates for sainthood whose example we can emulate. Some of interest to people in our area: Fr. Emil Kapaun, Fr. Michael J. McGivney and Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen. All were wonderful evangelists, worthy of imitation. Please pray for their causes for sainthood.

Listen as He speaks to us: "Peace be with you. As the Father has sent me, I send you."

Marian Reflection

Reading: Great is the Lord and worthy of all praise in the city of our God. His holy mountain, most beautiful of all, is the joy of the whole earth.
~Ps 48:2

Reflection: Our Lord had reserved the soul together with the body of the Blessed Virgin in that purity which became her who was to receive a God into her womb. For, as God is holy, He reposes only in holy places.
~St. James Damascene

Prayer: O Mary, you were given the grace of the highest holiness so as to be able to have God reposing in you. Help me to strive after the greatest holiness possible since your Divine Son dwells in me, too, by grace.
