From Your Priests

Fr. John Rickert, FSSP, Pastor

In the parable we hear today, the steward is initially called into account on the grounds of squandering his master's goods, but then, faced with the prospect of not having a job or a home, quickly discovers a way to use his master's goods to his advantage. We must realize that God gives us many gifts, but that we will have to answer some day for how we have used them, and we may, or may not, get enough advance notice of when we will be called into account. Therefore, we need to think ahead before it's too late to think ahead.
