From Your Priests

Fr. John Rickert, FSSP, Pastor

In today's Gospel we hear the words, "The letter kills, but the spirit gives life."

Often these words are spoken in reproach against what is condemned as mere legalism or Pharisaism, and, more drastically, practically in favor of Antinomianism -- that we are not obligated to follow any laws. This is undoubtedly a misunderstanding of the text. For one thing, it is looking at the letter of the text instead of its spirit. Christ makes clear over and over again, "If you love Me, keep My commands." What we need to understand is that a merely material observance of a formalism will not save us -- that would be a form of Pelagianism -- but instead what we need is a devout and fervent observance of Christ's commandments in faith and filial piety. The words of Our Lord are spirit and life (John 6:64.)
