This week, we honor courage in the face of suffering, persecution, and sacrifice. Isaac Jogues left his role as college professor in France to become a missionary to the Huron tribe in what is now the northeastern United States. Fr. Jogues was captured by a warring tribe of Iroquois. He escaped just over a year later but not unscathed. Several of his fingers had been removed during torture in captivity. He returned to France, only to sail back to the New World, where he was later martyred.

Fr. Jogues was one of eight Jesuit priests martyred over a seven-year period. They knew the dangers, yet pressed forward in love for Christ and his people. May we be inspired by their courage!

From Your Priests

Fr. John Rickert, FSSP, Pastor

In the Epistle reading today, we hear, "Bear one another's burdens," and very soon after that, "Each one will bear his own burden." Those who refuse to believe in the Bible will say, "See, the Bible contradicts itself." That is not true, but it does serve as a reminder to us to pray and examine Scripture carefully to understand it; many misunderstandings (and heresies!) have erroneous readings of the Bible. We are also reminded that Sola Scriptura is an unworkable and faulty doctrine; we do need to rely on tradition and the magisterium of the Church in order to understand Sacred Scripture correctly. Back to the verses: Let us help one another in bearing burdens, but realize that we must ultimately answer for our own decisions and actions. No contradiction here.
