4TH SUNDAY OF LENT

For everyone who does wicked things hates the light and does not come toward the light, so that his works might not be exposed. But whoever lives the truth comes to the light, so that his works may be clearly seen as done in God. - Jn 3:20-21

Excerpts from the Lectionary for Mass ©2001, 1998, 1970 CCC

Laetare Sunday

Laetare is Latin for "rejoice," the first word in today's entrance antiphon: "Rejoice, Jerusalem, and all who love her. Be joyful, all who were in mourning. . ." (Isaiah 66:10). The priest wears a rose vestment as we "express hope and joy in the midst of our Lenten penances." simplycatholic.com

Mothering Sunday

Since the Middle Ages, this is traditionally a day to honor and visit one's mother church, which is the church of one's baptism. St. Paul's words in today's liturgy are the source of this concept: "that Jerusalem which is above. . .which is our mother."

EASTER SUNDAY

Fourth Sunday of Lent

“When Jesus heard that they had thrown him out, he found him and said, do you believe in the Son of Man? He answered and said, who is he, sir, that I may believe in him? Jesus said to him, you have seen him, the one speaking with you is he. He said, I do believe, Lord, and he worshiped him.”

We can only imagine what a powerful moment this whole event must have been for the blind man who now is able to see because of the healing power of God found in the person of Jesus.

How often does God speak to us in the silence of our hearts, yet we don't hear or simply do not believe that we can have such intimacy with God through the person of Jesus Christ.

Jesus does want to open your eyes and see that he is the Christ, the Son of God, and seeks you in tenderness and intimacy.

Surrender to him and see the face of God in the person of Jesus.

From my heart to yours. . .

Msgr. Brian Donahue
