The origin of "Mother's Day." Anna M. Jarvis (1864-1948) first suggested the national observance of an annual day honoring all mothers because she had loved her mother so dearly. At a memorial service for her mother on May 10, 1908, Miss Jarvis gave a carnation (her mother's favorite flower) to each person who attended. Within the next few years, the idea of a day to honor mothers gained popularity, and Mother's Day was observed in several large cities in the U.S. On May 9, 1914, President Woodrow Wilson proclaimed the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day by an act of Congress. He established the day as a time for "public expression of love and reverence for the mothers of our country." By then, it had become customary to wear white carnations to honor departed mothers and red to honor the living, a custom that continues to this day.

Stewardship Reflection

Jesus' commandment is that His disciples love one another, even to the point of laying down their lives, if necessary. What gifts of myself — my skills and talents, my time and resources — will best demonstrate my love for God's people?

ii) As our friend, Jesus will always be faithful to us. Let us return this fidelity by being faithful to him in doing His will; iii) By calling us his friends, Jesus made us equal to him. Let us be proud of it and lead lives worthy of our unique status; iv) As an understanding friend, Jesus is ready to forgive us time and time again. Let us also forgive those who offend us; v) As a friend, Christ has told us everything so that our joy might be complete in him. Let us enjoy Jesus' divine friendship; and vi) Jesus declared that there is no greater love than to lay down one's life for a friend. He has done it for us. Hence let us also love others sacrificially.

2. Let us be persons for others: Jesus demonstrated God his Father's love for us by living for us and dying for us. Hence as his disciples, we are to be persons for others, sacrificing our time, talents, and lives for others. This is what parents spontaneously do by sacrificing themselves, their time, talents, health, and wealth for their children, or in other words, by spending themselves for their children. The most effective way of communicating God's love to others is by treating everyone as a friend, giving him or her the respect he or she deserves. In moments of trial and stress when people are hostile or ungrateful, and we feel the pull of bitter resentment in our hearts, we need to remember that Christ's love was not limited to the people he liked, and hence we should close our minds to thoughts of revenge.

Joke of the Week - Everlasting Love: "Dearest Jimmy, No words could ever express the great unhappiness I've felt since breaking our engagement. Please say you will take me back. No one could ever take your place in my heart, so please forgive me. I love you; I love you; I love you! Yours forever, Marie. P.S. And congratulations on winning the 20 million state lottery."

Let us remain or abide or dwell in God and God in us and one another.

Love and Peace,

Fr. Karl

Dear Parishioners,

Today's scripture passages declare the profound truth that those who believe in Christ and obey his commandment of love – "love others as I have loved you" – "remain or abide or dwell in" God and God in them. In the first reading, Peter teaches us that God shows no partiality in His love and that there are no boundaries to abiding in love. God loves everyone, both the Jews and the Gentiles, and wants everyone to be saved through His son Jesus. That is why God welcomed the Roman centurion Cornelius as the first non-Jew to become a Christian. The reading tells us how God also allowed the Gentiles who heard Peter's speech to receive the same Holy Spirit and His gifts that Peter's Jewish audience had received on the day of Pentecost. Today's psalm also directs our attention toward God's marvelous love and kindness in offering salvation to the whole world. In the second reading, John defines God as love and explains that He expressed His love for mankind by sending His son to die for us humans "as expiation for our sins." This divine love gives us the command and duty to love one another as God has loved us. Since God has loved us first, we can and should love God in return, love ourselves, and love one another.

After telling the parable of the vine and branches, in today's Gospel, Jesus explains precisely how the disciples are to remain bonded to him as branches are bonded to a vine. They are to obey his commandment of love just as he has obeyed his heavenly Father's will by fulfilling His commandments and remaining inseparably bonded with his Father. Jesus' unconditional, forgiving, selfless, and sacrificial love for us must be the criterion of our love for others. The highest expression of this love is our willingness to lay down our lives as Jesus did for people who do not deserve it. The goal and result of our abiding in love, in God, will be perfect joy. Jesus calls us friends; he tells us that he has chosen us and that if we use his name, we can ask the Father for anything.

How do we "remain or abide or dwell in" God and God in us?

1. Let us cultivate an abiding and loving friendship with Jesus: The qualities we normally expect from our friends are trust, faithfulness, equality, forgiveness, joy, and sacrifice. Jesus offers us all these qualities in our friendship with him. i) As a friend, he has trusted us by sharing everything he has heard from his Father. Hence, we have to trust him as a friend by listening to him through the Bible and talking to him by prayer;
