The Back Page

Holy Smoly! Have you noticed what's coming up on the Church calendar? Tuesday, the 28th, is the feast day of St. Irenaeus, Bishop and Martyr. Wednesday, the 29th is the feast day of Saints Peter and Paul, Apostles and Martyrs. Thursday, the 30th, the memorial of The First Martyrs of the Holy Roman Church. All of these Martyrs! And do you know there are Christians and Catholics being martyred for their Faith in these present times too? Celebrations of martyrs and reading about the martyrs of now always has me thinking and wondering if I would have the same courage and strength of martyrs past and present. I just don't know. I hope I will never have to find out. I could... We could... be martyred in other ways. It is called White Martyrdom, and it occurs whenever we are marginalized, criticized, ostracized, discriminated against, because of our Christianity and our Catholic Faith. I think there will be more of this. The world is so not into the Church, God, Faith, Christianity, Jesus, and all of it these days. We can roll over and let the world have its way with us, or, we can be strong in our Faith as the first martyrs were and the present martyrs are. I don't know... I think the bold, the strong, the committed, the courageous ones are few. The world is a strong force. Very easy not to fight against it, to give in, to be complacent. Pray!

I got a kick out of this: I was complimented this weekend (the 11th & 12th) on some recent homilies. The homily I preached on Sunday, the 5th, in Highmore and the one I preached on Saturday, the 11th, in Miller. Do you know what was the same about both homilies? They were short! That is what I get a kick out of! The individuals who gave me the compliments mentioned other things besides that the homilies were short, but that they were short certainly had something to do with the positive feedback. Sigh... I recall a comment I heard about homilies years ago: A good homily has a beginning and an end and the two should be close together. Hmmm... Short, understandable, and memorable. That would make for a good homily, yes? Pray for me!

Thanks to all of you business owners who advertise in the bulletin! I appreciate it very much. The ad guy from our bulletin company—LPI—was here for part of the week of June 5-10 calling folks about buying an ad. I am anxious to hear how he did. One report was a bit dis-heartening. He told me that he called someone from Highmore—thankfully it was not a parishioner—and the business owner told him that our bulletin was a joke and then hung up on him. I'm a bit offended by that. I do not think our bulletin is a joke. Further, the business owner could have simply told the ad guy that he wasn't interested, and no thank you. I hope he was just having a bad day!

Former Notre Dame football coach Lou Holtz discovered that one of his golf partners had placed this bumper sticker on his golf cart:

“Jesus loves you, but everyone else thinks you are an a.”

“We love hurting people.”
