Compartmentalization or consistency? In this Sunday's Gospel, Jesus tells a strange story of a sneaky, savvy steward that raises questions about our personal virtue. "How much do you owe? Here is your promissory note, write one for eighty." This parable isn't advice for money management. Historically, there were many positions that acted on behalf of their masters regarding money, like customs agents, household stewards, and tax collectors. Often these workers over-charged and skimmed off the top.

Usurious practices like this were not in line with the traditional Jewish understanding of money lending, which strictly forbade them from taking interest or making a profit off of their own people. As the steward reduced the debt, he was likely writing out the amount he originally intended to take for himself. Before the steward can be commended, he needs to right the wrong done.

"The person who is trustworthy in very small matters is also trustworthy in great ones; and the person who is dishonest in very small matters is also dishonest in great ones." This parable contains an important self-check. We have a great many things we're responsible for that seem to have nothing to do with the kingdom of God. How do we interact in those spaces? Are we trustworthy in our dealings at work and at home? Are we honest and faithful to our commitments to family and friends? Are we honest with our money and prudent with how we spend our time? Jesus calls his disciples to consistency. How often do we expect that we can be one person one place, yet shrug off that persona in a new situation? "No servant can serve two masters." These week, take stock of your life.

All of your life. Are you living the Gospel values wherever you go?

FROM THE PASTOR

For centuries in United States and throughout the world, there has always been tension and various battles between the wealthy and the poor. Some, who are blessed with material treasures, worked hard to gain ground and become affluent, while others maybe cheated or took advantage of situations to become prosperous. The mindset of God is one of justice and equality, offering challenges to the wealthy to share with the poor or be mindful of their needs. The Scriptures emphasize prudence, fairness and honesty as stewards on the Twenty Fifth Sunday of Ordinary Time. The first reading from the book of the prophet Amos denounces the wealthy, who make it their priority to care only about personal gain or comfort without any hesitation to cheat or neglect the poor. Amos reminds them that the Lord will never forget these acts of injustice. Luke's gospel passage offers another parable, which shows the impact of greed, injustice and selfishness. The unjust steward worked for a rich man, and he was caught doing some wrong things. He was summoned to give a full account of his managing or stewardship of the property entrusted to him. He knew he would be dismissed, so he tried very cleverly to secure his future at the owner's expense and granted unjust favors to those who had debts with the owner. When the dishonest steward was confronted with his acts of cheating or injustice, he was commended by the owner for being creative even though he was entirely self-interested. The lessons of the parable call us to be cognizant of God's awareness of how we live with our material resources and spiritual gifts, for Jesus said: "The person who is trustworthy in very small matters is also trustworthy in great ones; and the person who is dishonest in small matters is also dishonest in great ones." Are we generous with our treasures with the local parish and the Archdiocese? Do I find myself engaged with the consumerist culture and have no care or concern for the poor or needy? How much am I willing to sacrifice in order to follow Jesus and serve the Gospel, supporting the kingdom of God? Am I grateful for the multitude of gifts that God has granted me?

The Annual Archbishop's Appeal begins this weekend. Every registered household should receive a mailing with information about this appeal and its impact upon our parishes and the greater Church within the Archdiocese of Omaha. Each parish and all parishioners are asked to help support this appeal by prayers and financial gifts. Below are the goals for each parish this year:

St. Michael of Albion: $22,158

St. Anthony of Cedar Rapids: $8,261

I will make a donation and I invite you to do the same. Your support assists the many ministries within the Archdiocese and I am grateful for your cooperation and willingness to be generous stewards!

Fr. Mark

"No servant can serve two masters. He will hate one and love the other, or be devoted to one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon (wealth)." Luke 16:13

Is money a "god" that you put before God? Giving money to support the Church and other charity is a pillar of our faith, just like attending Mass every Sunday and participating in parish ministry. Giving money frees us from being a slave to money. It increases our dependence on God and our trust that God will provide all that we need.
