From Father Shofner

Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

There are many individuals who are drawn in their spiritual lives to do a daily devotional—a brief passage of Scripture, followed by a meditation or prayer that they can reflect on throughout the day. It is a wonderful way to soak in the Word of God in a way that is not too overwhelming. There are countless options for devotionals that can be found in bookstores and online, many of which are Catholic and many of which are not specific to any particular Christian denomination.

A number of years ago I happened upon a book of daily meditations entitled “Divine Intimacy” by a Carmelite priest from the early 20th century named Fr. Gabriel of Saint Mary Magdalen. Each day he offers two separate meditations on a given spiritual topic, along with a passage known as a colloquy (that is, a conversation with God). Sets of meditations in a given time are grouped by a common theme, for example, the Christian virtues. I remember being struck by a passage on courage, also known as fortitude (which is a favorite virtue of mine these days). There is an increasing need for true courage in our world today, particularly when it comes to proclaiming the truths of our faith in Jesus Christ. Societal pressures and evolving cultural values have caused many Christians to retreat out of fear of persecution. Courage is also needed to persevere in our daily tasks, which can overwhelm us when we are overcome with fear, fatigue or doubt. What does the virtue of courage consist of? And how can we grow in this much-needed virtue?

Fr. Gabriel states that courage finds its origin in our love for God: “The more a soul loves God, the more courageous it will be in undertaking any work, no matter how laborious, for love of Him.” Love causes a person to be single-minded in their purpose and to act without hesitation or doubt, because there is a greater purpose driving our actions. This can be likened to a parent who would not hesitate to do anything for their child, even something that is quite fearful. Love for God impels us to do the same, and the courage that comes as a result overcomes the fear of fatigue, of suffering and of danger. “Courage enables us to confront anything in order to be faithful to God.”

I think the most misunderstood aspect of courage is that we believe it means never being afraid. But true courage, we’re taught, arises not from the emotions, but from the will, meaning that we choose to be courageous, even if fear is present. We make up our minds to act, in spite of our natural fear, particularly when the smallest difficulties seem like mountains. I think it’s true for most of us, that if we were to wait until we felt courageous, we might never act on anything. I love what St. Therese of Lisieux has to say on this: “What does it matter if we have no courage, provided we act as though we were really brave?”

There are certainly many circumstances where we could grow in courage. I often hear from folks who describe being with friends, and the conversation may turn to gossip, which makes them uncomfortable. Courage would dictate that we speak up to put an end to those conversations, but many of us are timid in doing so, for fear of being rejected or condemned. Yet doing what is right always trumps being accepted by others. To grow in courage in such a circumstance, we have to trust that the Lord has given us sufficient grace to take the initial step, to open our mouths and correct our brother or sister. We just need to cooperate with that grace and do it. The Lord will do the rest. We might be surprised how courageous we suddenly become when we no longer depend on our own strength but rather on God’s grace!

In time, courage will conquer our fears and help us to face the task set before us. And if we need greater encouragement, just look to Jesus as He prayed in the Garden of Gethsemane: “My Father, if it is possible, let this cup pass away from me; yet not as I will, but as You will” (Matthew 26:39). As Jesus faced His suffering and death, He turned to the Father for strength and courage. So must we. As Fr. Gabriel states: “By uniting ourselves to this act of our Savior...we shall find strength to embrace all that is painful in our lives.” Let us take his counsel to heart, and not be afraid!

God bless,
Fr. Chris Shofner

Ordination of Bishop Joseph Williams, new Auxiliary Bishop for the Archdiocese of St. Paul-Minneapolis

On October 18, Pope Francis appointed Bishop Andrew Cozzens, auxiliary bishop of our Archdiocese, as Bishop of the Diocese of Crookston in north-west Minnesota. He was officially installed on December 6, 2021.

On December 10, Pope Francis named Father Joseph Williams, a priest of the Archdiocese of Saint Paul and Minneapolis, as the new Auxiliary Bishop of Saint Paul and Minneapolis. His Episcopal Ordination will take place Tuesday, January 15 at 1:00 pm at the Cathedral of Saint Paul. The ordination will be livestreamed on MetroCable Channel 6 and on the Archdiocesan Facebook page: <https://www.facebook.com/ArchdioceseSPM/>. Please join us in praying for our new Auxiliary Bishop!

I would like to extend a heartfelt Thank You to everyone who supported me after my fall. From all the prayers, thoughts, visits, walks, food and everything else. I am truly blessed to have such wonderful support. I am convinced that all the kindness and prayers certainly helped me recover faster. We have a wonderful parish community, and I have seen first-hand the goodness that comes from it.

God bless you all.
Tess Miller

Do you want to connect with like-minded parents in a welcoming and supportive environment? Do you want to learn various ways to teach the Faith to your child? Do you want to deepen your relationship with your child? Then, join us for Early Catholic Family Life (ECFL)!

At ECFL, we believe that a child's first and most important teachers are his or her parents. Our mission is simple—connect parents with their peers and empower them to raise their children optimally in the Faith. ECFL welcomes families with children 0-5 years old.

This time around we will be doing a 4-part program including parent discussion time where we will focus on the book "Life is Messy" by Matthew Kelly and children's learning time. If you have children older than age 5, you are welcome to join us for the parent discussion portion of the book.

Casie Klockmann and Emily Sunderman are excited to bring this opportunity to our community and hope that you will join us! To learn more or join, contact: Emily Sunderman at: esunderman@stanneslesueur.org
