A note from the Most Reverend Leonard P. Blair:

A further threat of the spread of COVID-19 has arisen, and I'd like to specify some additional actions that we should take for the celebration of liturgies: We are recommending to everyone that they resume the wearing of masks in church. Also the wearing of masks by everyone distributing Communion remains in effect.

Sincerely yours in Christ,
Most Reverend Leonard P. Blair

SEPTEMBER 19, 2021

True Greatness

In conformity with Jewish custom, our Blessed Mother and Saint Joseph presented Jesus to the Lord in the Jerusalem temple. It was then the prophet Simeon said to Mary: "Behold, this child is destined for the fall and rise of many in Israel, and to be a sign that will be contradicted and you yourself a sword will pierce so that the thoughts of many hearts may be revealed" (Luke 2:35). This is a fitting quote to begin my reflection as I write it on September 15th, the Feast of Our Lady of Sorrows.

When I think of the many sorrows our Blessed Mother endured, I am deeply saddened, and yet at the same time inspired by the strength of will, the courage and fortitude she exhibited as the mother of God. It all began the day she humbly responded to the Archangel Gabriel's invitation with the words: "I am the handmaid of the Lord, may it be done to me according to your word." Mary and others like her, Christian or otherwise have contributed much to the betterment of society and continue to inspire women and men the world over to follow her example of faithful service to God and to their neighbors, which brings me to the point of my reflection.

In the book of Genesis, we are reminded that: "God created mankind in his image; in the image of God he created them; male and female he created them" (Genesis 1:27). It's sad to say however, that even in the so-called enlightened, free and democratic societies and religious institutions in the West, anti-feminism persists. On the one hand this should not come as a surprise to us due to long-standing sociological norms that viewed women as inferior to men. On the other hand, it should never be acceptable! There is one particular image of anti-feminism that I saw in the evening news recently that is burned into my memory. It was a video clip of a man publically thrashing a woman in the streets of Kabul, Afghanistan in front of a mob of male onlookers. The helplessness of the woman and the callousness of the mob, disgusted me. It was reminiscent of the Gospel account of the woman caught in adultery, however, Jesus was not there to say to the man and the on-lookers, 'let those among you who is without sin be the first to thrash this woman.' No one in that mob was man enough to confront the injustice they were witnessing. Consequently, this poor woman had to endure the brutality and pain leveled against her by those, who only by virtue of being male held sway over her predicament. It was awful!

Continue to next column…

Continued…

As I said above, while misogyny - i.e., contempt for and ingrained prejudice against women has been culturally acceptable throughout the world for years, that in no way makes it right! In fact, any bias that persists in suggesting a person, position, race, government, political party, ethnicity, religion, etc., is greater, better, smarter, more entitled than another is an affront to God and to those who have taken a stand against prejudice in all its vile manifestations. In our second reading St. James says as much: "Where jealousy and selfish ambition exist, there is disorder and every foul practice. Then in the Gospel we find Jesus' disciples arguing about who was greatest. Our Lord, recognizing the opportunity to teach a lesson about humility, placed a child in their midst, and putting his arms around her/him, said to them, "Whoever receives a child such as this in my name, receives me; and whoever receives me, receives not me but the One who sent me." In other words, true greatness is the ability to see Jesus and love Jesus in everyone, especially in those considered to be the "least" among us. Who then has the right to stand in judgement over another human being? Who will cast the first stone or be the first to whip another human being?

Deacon Ernie

In the coming weeks you will notice a book in our stacks titled: Child Consecration to Jesus Through Mary*. The book was authored by Mrs. Blythe Kaufman from West Hartford and has been recognized by Archbishop Blair and endorsed by Cardinal Robert Sarah, former prefect of the Congregation for Divine Worship. The consecration is modeled on that of St. Louis Marie de Montfort, and written through spiritual lens of St. Therese, of Lisieux. It consists of 33 days of reflection and prayer, ending with a solemn prayer of consecration to Jesus through Mary.* Please take only one book per family.

You might notice with in the next few weeks the alcoves of the Blessed Mother and St. Joseph are in the process of being renovated. Our intention is to beautify our worship space and to enhance the Sacred liturgy and to provide places of prayer. Besides the tile work, the votive candles have been added in the alcoves and more work will be done in the near future. To defray the cost, contributions can be made to St. Elizabeth of the Trinity Parish. Fundraising has helped to pay for some of these costs, so thank you for your fundraising support.

Reaching Out, Healing Together
It is fundamental that when you give to any charitable organization you are confident the funds used wisely. Be assured that your gift to the Archbishop's Annual Appeal supports the catholic ministries and programs as indicated in the 2021 Appeal literature, which can be found at:

No appeal funds are ever used for legal fees or settlements.

This week at the nursery school:

Our first few weeks of nursery school have passed and there are much fewer tears as our little friends acclimate to the routine of school. The first month focuses on our feelings and how we interact with one another. For many of our friends this is the first time away from their family and due to our world, the first time interacting with other children. All that being said, our children are resilient and the playground and classrooms are filled with laughter, wonder, and awe. A big thank you to our teachers for their patience and most of all their dedication to sharing their vocation with our children and families. God bless our teachers and our families on this first stop on their child's learning journey.

Communion Fasting Question:

Do we need to fast for one hour before Mass, or one hour before communion?

Answer:

The practice of fasting before receiving the Eucharist is a centuries-old act of devotion that was once very different than it is today. In the 1917 Code of Canon Law, for example, anyone who wanted to receive the Eucharist had to fast from midnight until the time of communion (even water and medications were forbidden). Over the following decades, the rules for the eucharistic fast were relaxed, first by Pope Pius XII and, later, by Pope Saint Paul VI.

The current Code of Canon Law (1983) states very clearly: "A person who is to receive the Most Holy Eucharist is to abstain for at least one hour before holy communion from any food and drink, except for only water and medicine" (Canon 919, §1). And, in the case of those who are ill and the elderly, the rules are even more accommodating, "The elderly, the infirm, and those who care for them can receive the Most Holy Eucharist even if they have eaten something within the preceding hour" (Canon 919, §3).

So, if we strictly follow the "letter of the law," the fast is calculated from the time of Holy Communion and not the start of Mass. However, when we remember why we fast — it is a reminder of the deeper hungers of the spirit that our physical thirst or hunger symbolize — we see that the issue is much bigger than simply fulfilling what is called for by Church Law and tradition. Joining fasting to our prayers and reflection before Mass is an opportunity to really center ourselves and to prepare our minds, hearts, and bodies to welcome the One we receive in the Eucharist.
