Fourth Sunday of Easter

"We shall be like Him, for we shall see Him as He is."

What a marvelous promise! John is telling us that when we see Jesus in heaven, 'as He is,' we will be transformed. That vision of Christ will have such a powerful effect on us, that all of the sinful tendencies we have accumulated over the years will be no more, and we will become like Him. All our selfishness, our pride, our lusts and our pettiness will melt away.

But what is it about seeing Jesus that brings about such a change? After all, His three closest disciples—including John himself—saw Jesus' heavenly glory at the transfiguration, but it didn't have as powerful an effect on them. They still had a lot of changing to do.

The difference is that in heaven we will see Jesus as He is after His death and resurrection. We'll see Him as the "Lamb" who was "slain" for us and who bears the marks of His death as emblems of His love. And not only will we see the evidence of Jesus' love, but we'll be enveloped in it.

The world has never seen a love as complete and pure as the love Jesus has for us. There is no self-interest in it. There is no ulterior motive. There are no conditions. There is only love: pure and strong and merciful. And where there is love like this, there is no room for sin of any kind.

That's what the future holds. But this vision isn't limited to the day we stand before Jesus in heaven. We can see Him every single day: in our prayer, in the Scriptures, and in the people and the world around us.

And most powerfully, we can see Him—and receive Him—at every Mass: The Lamb of God who takes away the sins of the world.

So come and behold Jesus today. Come and see Him with the eyes of your heart and let what you see make you a little more like Him.

"Jesus, open my eyes to see you and my heart to welcome you today."
