PLEASE SUPPORT OUR COLLECTION FOR EASTER DINNERS
TO BENEFIT NEEDY FAMILIES

This year, we are again collecting donations for Easter dinners to support needy families in St. Katharine Drexel and St. Patrick's in Roxbury — our sister parishes.

Food insecurity is especially acute this year. We will use the funds to purchase hams and Stop and Shop gift cards in the amounts requested by each parish. Checks or online donations should be made out to either Sacred Heart or St. Brigid Parish. Please note "Easter dinners" on the memo line of your donation. Donations can be placed in the collection basket as you leave Mass, mailed to the parish office, or dropped off in the locked mailbox on our office steps. One Stop and Shop gift card of $25 supports one family. Donations received by March 14th will be used for purchases before Easter. Later donations will be distributed after Easter. Each donation is a Lenten practice of almsgiving.

Thank you in advance for your help.

ALL ARE WELCOME

All are welcome at Sacred Heart and St. Brigid Parishes. Regardless of your status in the Church, regardless of your marital state or your prior religious experience, regardless of your personal history, background, or sexual orientation, please know that you are invited, accepted and respected at both parishes! Churches and halls are handicapped accessible and low-gluten hosts are always available.

BULLETIN DEADLINES

Please submit parish bulletin announcements to the Parish Office by noon on Monday for the coming weekend. We will make an effort to publish all parish announcements at least two weeks in advance of activities. Community announcements will be published on a space available basis under "Community Notes". Submit bulletin or website articles to: bulletin@lexingtoncatholic.org.

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

Fr. Richard Rohr is a widely-read Franciscan priest who authors a daily meditation from his Center for Action and Contemplation in New Mexico. His recent reflections on wisdom and bias provide great food for thought in our polarized country and church.

Some biases are good ... like filtering everything through the prism of Catholic Social Teaching. Some biases are bad ... like filtering everything through the campaign platforms of the Republican or Democratic Party. And some biases are really bad ... like filtering everything through the tenets of white supremacy and nationalism.

Rohr's recent invitation is to spend some time reflecting on the biases of our own lives. These can be very powerful. They can lead us in good directions or in bad ones. He insists that one of the keys to real wisdom is recognizing our own biases and our reluctance to pay attention to things that do not support our pre-conceived notions of the ways things ought to be. "We don't see things as they are; we see things as we are. We see things we want to see, the things that confirm our assumptions and our preferred way of looking at the world."

Jesus was fully human in addition to being God and being fully divine. His bias was toward love and justice. He particularly was biased toward people in need. He also gave us a way to overcome our biases by inviting us to see him in each other ... "Lord, when did we see you hungry and not attend to your needs? Whenever you did this for the least of my people, you did it for me."

Today the biases of Jesus have been distilled into what we call the four pillars of Catholic Social Teaching. While these are not political in nature, they do have significant political implications when we begin to apply them to the challenges that we face in our secular world. They are: Human Dignity, the Common Good, Solidarity and Subsidiarity. Catholics should know these as well as we know the Ten Commandments.

Human Dignity means that every human being is equal to every other human being in the eyes of God. We are all made in the image and likeness of God. Human dignity is offended by capital punishment, by the solitary confinement of criminals, by racism, by anti-Semitism, by white supremacy, by caging children at our Southern border, by not caring for children before they are born and after they are born and by all the actions that ignore the transcendent dignity of the human person. It is sometimes referred to as the principle of unity of the human family and should never be disrespected.

The Common Good recognizes that we need to advance the betterment of society as a whole. It requires that we work to insure that laws and institutions benefit our entire society without abridging the rights and responsibilities of individuals. Today, the greatest threat to the common good is our lack of care for our environment, visible in violent storms, rising oceans and soaring temperatures. Nationalism is also a threat to the common good because it fails to recognize that we all share what has been called 'spaceship earth'.

Solidarity adds to human dignity an appreciation that we are, by nature, social beings who need to care and support each other. We are all neighbors, members of the same human family, who ought never to exploit or abuse other people. Solidarity is offended by exorbitant salaries for management while workers in the same company cannot afford health insurance. Solidarity is offended when some children receive a poor education while others receive an excellent education because of where they happen to live. Solidarity is offended when girls and women are denied the same opportunities as boys and men.

Subsidiarity is the principle that should guide the way we interact with governments and institutions. It is really about decision-making. Simply put, subsidiarity means that decisions should be made at the lowest possible level in order to respect the freedom and dignity of all concerned. Subsidiarity is offended when Big Brother takes over everything and tries to run people's lives. (Think Communism). Subsidiarity is most respected when people who are to be impacted by a decision are invited to participate in the decision-making process. Grassroots organizations are great examples of subsidiarity in action.

A bias is generally thought to be a negative thing. In this context, however, it is more like a set of values that provide a frame of reference for making judgments in a complex world. No one is a blank slate, a tabula rasa, in philosophical terms. We all bring our education, past experiences and, most of all our faith, to the looking glass through which we view the world. If we are to move beyond the divisiveness in our nation and in our Church, we need to find common ground on which we can all stand. Acknowledging the validity, appropriateness and value of concepts like human dignity, the common good, solidarity and subsidiarity has the power to give us the common ground that we so desperately need.

Dueling bishops over the Catholicity of President Biden and the absence of any Republican to vote for a Covid-19 Bill that is supported by 70% of Americans prove the case for the need to heal the divisions that separate us.

God Bless

Msgr. Paul

Please pray for those need of our prayers, that God's healing and comforting presence will be with them.
