Dear Parishioners,

Although school has closed down, things haven't really slowed down here at Saint Joe's. Mrs. Clark, the faculty, and staff are hard at work putting together plans to reopen school in the Fall. I'm confident that we will have plans in place for in school learning and contingencies if schools get shut down at any point during the year. All of our policies and procedures will help us provide the safest possible environment for an excellent Catholic education.

Some of our classes have already filled but there are available spaces in several grades. Please call Mrs. Kelly during summer school hours, Tuesday through Thursday from 9AM-12Noon if you would like information about our school and for registration.

Starting this weekend, we have increased our seating capacity to 100 people in the church. The sign-up genius is still on the website. If our attendance is under 100 for the next week or two, we will discontinue the sign-up genius for August. Extra seats will be available in the front entrance in the event that there aren't available seats properly distanced in the pews.

I hope everyone is able to get out and enjoy the summer weather. While I haven't gotten out kitesurfing yet, MeiLi and I have been walking in the morning and evening out on the bike path. We even started jogging, although I think I'm more tired than she is when we finish.

Have a great week and stay safe!

God Bless,
Father Stowe
