TWENTY-SECOND SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

"LET ME KNOW MYSELF": A BEAUTIFUL PRAYER BY ST. AUGUSTINE

From Aletea:

"Lord Jesus, let me know myself and know Thee, and desire nothing save only Thee."

We could say the saints are "romantics" at heart, lovers who are deeply in love with God. When they prayed, they did so from their heart and expressed it in how they wrote their prayers. One of the greatest of these saints is St. Augustine, who was an eloquent orator and talented writer. He used the best of Roman culture to formulate his ideas and literary works. Below is a beautiful poetic prayer written by Augustine, which expresses his humility and the great love he had for God. We are invited to make these words our own and stir up in our hearts a desire to know ourselves in the light of God's divine providence.

*Lord Jesus, let me know myself and know Thee,
And desire nothing save only Thee.*

Let me hate myself and love Thee.

Let me do everything for the sake of Thee.

Let me humble myself and exalt Thee.

Let me think of nothing except Thee.

Let me die to myself and live in Thee.

Let me accept whatever happens as from Thee.

Let me banish self and follow Thee,

And ever desire to follow Thee.

Let me fly from myself and take refuge in Thee,

That I may deserve to be defended by Thee.

Let me fear for myself, let me fear Thee,

And let me be among those who are chosen by Thee.

Let me distrust myself and put my trust in Thee.

Let me be willing to obey for the sake of Thee.

Let me cling to nothing save only to Thee,

And let me be poor because of Thee.

Look upon me, that I may love Thee.

Call me that I may see Thee,

And for ever enjoy Thee.

Amen.

In 395, Augustine was named bishop of Hippo (modern-day Annaba, Algeria), becoming the spokesman of the Church in North Africa. As bishop, Augustine guided his flock for 34 years, instructing them by his teaching and writing. He is especially honored for his highly developed, careful explanations of the Faith, as well as his Confessions, The City of God, and various treatises and sermons.

ST. AUGUSTINE'S LIFE WAS CHANGED BY THIS BIBLE VERSE

From Aletea:

When St. Augustine heard a voice say "Take and read," he read this Bible verse, which changed his life forever.

While there were many different contributors to St. Augustine's famous conversion, including the prayerful tears of his mother, the Bible played a pivotal part in his journey back to Jesus Christ. In particular, one day he was with a friend and heard a peculiar voice, as he explains in his Confessions. I heard the voice as of a boy or girl, I know not which, coming from a neighboring house, chanting, and oft repeating, Take up and read; take up and read. Immediately my countenance was changed, and I began most earnestly to consider whether it was usual for children in any kind of game to sing such words; nor could I remember ever to have heard the like. So, restraining the torrent of my tears, I rose up, interpreting it no other way than as a command to me from Heaven to open the book, and to read the first chapter I should light upon.

The first verse his eyes fell upon was Romans 13:13-14. Let us conduct ourselves becomingly as in the day, not in reveling and drunkenness, not in debauchery and licentiousness, not in quarreling and jealousy. But put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make no provision for the flesh, to gratify its desires. The verse made a major impact upon St. Augustine, as he had lived a life of debauchery, indulging in all the carnal desires. He didn't read any more of the Bible at that moment, as that was sufficient to pierce his heart. No further would I read, nor did I need; for instantly, as the sentence ended — by a light, as it were, of security infused into my heart — all the gloom of doubt vanished away.

WITHOUT THIS SAINT, AUGUSTINE MAY HAVE NOT WRITTEN HIS 'CONFESSIONS'

From Aletea:

St. Paulinus asked for an autobiography; what Augustine wrote surpassed all expectations.

Governor of the southern Italian province of Campania, St. Paulinus gave up his privileged position in the Roman Empire to devote himself to a life of prayer along with his wife Therasia. During this time Paulinus began to converse with several bishops, such as St. Jerome and St. Augustine. He became familiar with Augustine through correspondence with St. Alypius, who was a lifelong friend of Augustine and bishop at Thagaste.

It was through this correspondence that Paulinus wanted to learn more about Alypius and asked Alypius to write some autobiographical information.

What happened next would forever impact Western civilization. Alypius, not wanting to write about his own life, forwarded the request to his friend Augustine, who knew him very well. Augustine in turn wrote a letter to Paulinus describing the chain of events and how he intended to fulfill the request. When Alypius had read your request, desiring him to write for you a sketch of his history ... I, seeing him unable to decide between the respective claims of love and humility, transferred the burden from his shoulders to my own ... I shall therefore, with God's help, soon place in your heart Alypius just as he is. As Alypius was a lifelong friend, Augustine's own experience and conversion were interwoven with Alypius' story, resulting in something beyond expectation. Paulinus wrote back after reading Augustine's writings and felt much closer to him than before. By the kindness of the venerable bishops Aurelius and Alypius, we came to know you through your writings against the Manichæans, love for you has taken such a place in us, that we seemed not so much to be acquiring a new friendship as reviving an old affection. So what began as a biography of St. Alypius soon "grew legs" and expanded into Augustine's own Confessions.

It appears that the world owes a debt of gratitude to St. Paulinus, who didn't realize that in asking Alypius for a sketch of his own history, he would receive in return one of the first — and still among the greatest — autobiographical works ever written.
