St. Joseph Feast Day Novena & Mass

Join Holy Family Parish and St. Joseph Church in reciting a nine-day novena on March 11th through March 19th. You will find a pamphlet with the Novena in the back of each church or join us at Holy Family's Facebook page.

Many people pray to St. Joseph, a great intercessor to God, who never forgets to answer our prayers! Praying a novena to St. Joseph shows our trust and fidelity in him, he who is the example of fidelity.

Helping Hands Open to the Community

Helping Hands is a free program offering clothing, shoes, etc., for anyone. It's a great way to recycle those still useful items! Open Thursdays, 1-4 at St Joseph Church.

Contact Lynne with any questions 315-868-7896. Thank you for the continuing support of this valuable community program.

Join Our Study Group About Prayer in April

Holy Family Parish is planning a study group about prayer: "When You Pray: A Clear Path to a Deeper Relationship with God," to be held on Wednesdays, 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., from April 10th through May 22. Additional details and sign-up information will follow. All are welcome!

You know prayer is important, yet you still find it challenging. Perhaps it's hard to find time, or you're unsure what to do when you pray. Or may you feel discouraged by your weaknesses and your inability to overcome them.

If you have these feelings, you are not alone. Many of the saints struggled in prayer. They were like us. But each time they fell, they got up again and learned to rely more on God's grace.

What God did in the lives of countless saints, he wants to do in the lives of ordinary people. And that's what this study is about: the journey of prayer God wants to take us on.

their responses are harsh, as when Peter scolded Christ. Far from being quiet, the Apostles are immersed in the noise of the world.

Often at just such moments, Christ quietly comes up behind them. He is silent because he bears within himself a twofold vision, embracing both heaven and the cross. Even in the human traits of his nature, he habitually portrays a serene silence because he is already carrying his cross, which cannot be seen.

Thus, we should not believe that his Passion began on the night before his death. In truth, the cross that he carried on his shoulders as he made his way to his crucifixion on Calvary rested on him from his first day in this world.

Père Jacques de Jésus*
Retreat for the Carmel de Pontoise
Conference 8, Silence
Thursday evening, 9 September 1943

**During the Holocaust, relatively few people rescued Jews in German-occupied Europe. Indifference, antisemitism, and fear all deterred rescue efforts.*

But among those risking imprisonment and even death to save Jews were individual Christian clergy, who hid thousands of Jewish children in religious institutions or with willing families.

No less celebrated are the acts of Father Jacques de Jésus (born Lucien Bunel in 1900), a Carmelite friar and headmaster of the Petit Collège Sainte-Thérèse de l'Enfant-Jésus. Angered at Nazi policies, Father Jacques made the boys' school in Avon, France, a refuge for young men seeking to avoid conscription for forced labor in Germany and for Jews. In January 1943, he enrolled three Jewish boys—Hans-Helmut Michel, Jacques-France Halpern, and Maurice Schlosser—as students under false names. He hid a fourth Jewish boy, Maurice Bas, as a worker at the school. He also sheltered Schlosser's father with a local villager, and placed the noted Jewish botanist, Lucien Weil, on the school's faculty.

Informed of the Carmelite friar's activities, the Gestapo seized Father Jacques and the three Jewish students on January 15, 1944. Weil, his mother, and sister were arrested at their home that same day. On February 3, 1944, German authorities deported the boys and the Weil family to Auschwitz, where they perished. Father Jacques was imprisoned in several Nazi camps before being liberated by American troops at Mauthausen in early May 1945. Suffering from tuberculosis and weighing only 75 pounds, he died several weeks later.

In 1985 the Israeli Holocaust remembrance center, Yad Vashem, posthumously honored Father Jacques as one of the Righteous Among the Nations. Two years later, French filmmaker Louis Malle paid tribute to his former headmaster in the film, "Au revoir les enfants."

St. Veronica with the Holy Kerchief

Artist: Mattia Preti

When we meditate on the Scriptures and strive to follow Christ closely, we take careful note of what the Gospels tell us about him. We listen to those who knew him and who regularly saw, heard, and served him.

From these accounts, we seek to visualize the radiant face of Christ as it was imprinted on Veronica's veil. When we thus contemplate Christ, we are struck by one of his most characteristic features, his serenity.

Christ is not the type of person whose goal on earth is to enjoy life. Every aspect of Christ's life bears the imprint of his dignified serenity. He is likewise marked by discreet silence. I would like us to meditate together tonight on Christ's silence.

Christ is characteristically serene and silent. In sharp contrast, we see the Apostles as shallow types, bantering among themselves and vying for the foremost places in the kingdom, which they mistakenly conceive in material rather than spiritual terms.

If we examine the conversations of the Apostles, we discover how they posed their questions to Christ and we hear their reactions. Occasionally,
