Lex Orandi, Lex Credendi

During a recent conversation with a member of our parish, he told me that over the past few years he has come to a greater love and appreciation for the True Presence of Christ in the Eucharist. He attributed this awakening to his experience of reverence in the liturgy. In particular, he said that attending Eucharistic exposition and benediction, with the Latin chants and the incense, has made a deep impression on him and increased his devotion to Our Lord in the Blessed Sacrament. Since our conversation, his words have stayed with me. As I reflect on them, they bring to mind one of the ancient sayings of the Church, which is: lex orandi, lex credendi.

This expression dates back to the fifth century, and its literal translation from Latin is “the law of praying is the law of believing.” The Catechism tells us that, “when the Church celebrates the sacraments, she confesses the faith received from the Apostles... The Church believes as she prays” (CCC 1124). This is important because prayer is an essential part of our relationship with God. In all of our relationships, especially the most important ones, learning to communicate well is vital. We get to know each other better through our interactions, including the way we speak to one other. Really good friends can know each other so well that they are able to communicate what they are thinking with merely a look or a subtle gesture.

When we apply this to our relationship with God, we see that the way we pray expresses our understanding of Who God Is. We understand Who God Is through our life in the Church, and the greatest form of prayer we have is the Church’s liturgy, most especially the Mass. The words of the Church’s liturgy articulate truth about God. The way we pray those words in the liturgy also expresses truth about God and our relationship with Him. Through the Church’s liturgy we learn how to communicate with the Lord God. The words, gestures, postures, vestments, incense, music, and beauty of the church building are supposed to help us to participate together in the reality of what we’re doing, revealing our faith in the truth of what we profess as members of the Church.

The phrase lex orandi, lex credendi sometimes concludes with: lex vivendi (“the law of living”). How we pray reveals and informs what we believe. Both are supposed to transform the way we live outside of the liturgy, making our lives in the world an extension of our worship as members of the Church. When we understand better the reality of what we do as the Church in the liturgy, it should fill us with greater reverence in the way we worship. Likewise, when we worship with greater reverence, it should increase our understanding of the reality of what we're doing. All of this should fill us with greater reverence for everything in God's creation, and transform our daily tasks and interactions into sacred work that makes visible to everyone we meet the truth, goodness, and beauty of the One we worship.

In Christ,
Fr. John

MASS FOR THE 16TH SUNDAY
IN ORDINARY TIME

Prayer to Saint Michael the Archangel

St. Michael the Archangel, defend us in battle.
Be our defense against the wickedness and snares of the Devil.
May God rebuke him, we humbly pray, and do thou,
O Prince of the heavenly host,
by the power of God, cast into hell Satan,
and all the evil spirits, who prowl about the world
seeking the ruin of souls.
Amen.

Introit: Behold, God is my helper and the Lord is with them that uphold my soul; turn back the evil upon mine enemies. In thy faithfulness, destroy them, my protector, O Lord. Glory be to the Father, and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit, as it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be world without end.

First Reading: Jer 23:1-6

Woe to the shepherds who mislead and scatter the flock of my pasture, says the Lord. Therefore, thus says the Lord, the God of Israel, against the shepherds who shepherd my people: You have scattered my sheep and driven them away. You have not cared for them, but I will take care to punish your evil deeds. I myself will gather the remnant of my flock from all the lands to which I have driven them and bring them back to their meadow; there they shall increase and multiply. I will appoint shepherds for them who will shepherd them so that they need no longer fear and tremble; and none shall be missing, says the Lord. Behold, the days are coming, says the Lord, when I will raise up a righteous shoot to David; as king he shall reign and govern wisely, he shall do what is just and right in the land. In his days Judah shall be saved, Israel shall dwell in security. This is the name they give him: "The Lord our justice."

Responsorial Psalm: The hand of the Lord feeds us; He answers all our needs.

Second Reading: Eph 2:13-18

Brothers and sisters: In Christ Jesus you who once were far off have become near by the blood of Christ. For He is our peace, He who made both one and broke down the dividing wall of enmity, through His flesh, abolishing the law with its commandments and legal claims, that He might create in Himself one new person in place of the two, thus establishing peace, and might reconcile both with God, in one body, through the cross, putting that enmity to death by it. He came and preached peace to you who were far off and peace to those who were near, for through Him we both have access in one Spirit to the Father.

Gospel: Mk 6:30-34

The apostles gathered together with Jesus and reported all they had done and taught. He said to them, "Come away by yourselves to a deserted place and rest a while." People were coming and going in great numbers, and they had no opportunity even to eat. So they went off in the boat by themselves to a deserted place. People saw them leaving and many came to know about it. They hastened there on foot from all the towns and arrived at the place before them. When He disembarked and saw the vast crowd, His heart was moved with pity for them, or they were like sheep without a shepherd; and He began to teach them many things.

Communion Antiphon: Honor the Lord with your wealth and with first fruits of all your produce.

Angels & Demons:
What Do We Really Know about Them?
by Peter Kreeft

In response to actual questions many people have asked him about angels and demons, well-known author and philosophy professor, Peter Kreeft separates fact from fantasy, and myth from reality, as he answers 100 common questions about these spiritual beings. This book responds to the incredible amount of interest in angelic beings and attempts to clear up some of the misinformation abounding in the numerous books today on what we know about these mysterious spirits.

Drawing on the Bible, traditional Church teaching, and St. Thomas Aquinas, Kreeft gives straight, clear answers to the perennial and philosophical questions asked about angels and demons throughout time. Kreeft answers such questions as "What are angels made of?", "How do angels communicate with God?", "How do angels communicate with us?", "Do demons or devils or evil spirits really exist?", and many more.

The CHOSEN

Zoom Meetings are
Tuesdays at 7:15 p.m.

July 20 - August 3, 17, 31

Have you watched the series, "The CHOSEN"? Director Dallas Jenkins's new original series, "The CHOSEN" offers us a glimpse into what the daily life of Jesus and his disciples might have looked like 2,000 years ago. The production quality of the series is impressive; the writing, acting and musical score all add to encountering Jesus, fully Human and fully Divine.

Using "The CHOSEN" as a starting point, the bible study will watch the first season together and discuss the life of Jesus and his disciples. We'll acknowledge where liberty has been granted in the production and how seeing the bible come to life has increased our faith and love of the bible.

There is no cost to join, just RSVP to receive the ZOOM link.
