Ordo

In the sacristy of every Catholic church there is a little book called an Ordo. Published annually by the Bishops of the United States, the Ordo provides all the information about the liturgy that one needs for every day of the year. It tells us what readings we're supposed to read at Mass, what prayers we're supposed to pray, and what feasts fall on which date and how to celebrate them. The Church's liturgy is highly structured and regulated for a reason. The liturgy is something we share as the Church, and the Ordo helps to ensure that we are praying together, experiencing the liturgical year together, meditating on the same mysteries and growing in our life with God together.

The word "ordo" comes from the same Latin word from which we have the word "order." As human beings, we need order in our lives. Everyone lives according to some form of ordo, a plan, or a rule of life. This rule of life shapes how we live, and changes us as we commit to following it. Parents of newborns understand the power of the baby's schedule. Everything they do has to conform to the needs of the infant. The responsibilities that come with parenthood mean that they cannot sleep like they used to, or eat when they used to, or come and go as they used to. Through their faithful commitment to these responsibilities, they are changed by the "ordo" of parenthood, and they become good moms and dads.

Because we are (inescapably) shaped by our rule of life, we need to make sure it orders us and our loved ones towards greater growth in virtue and in holiness. Too often we're not sufficiently intentional about establishing a good rule of life for ourselves and our families, and the result is that our coaches and our employers and our businesses determine our "ordo" for us. Our lives can end up dominated by sports and work commitments, with everything else getting squeezed in around them – or dropped entirely if they create a scheduling conflict.

To develop a good rule of life, we need to ask ourselves what our lives are ultimately about, and what it is that we stand for. Once we have a sense of that, we must organize our lives around things that foster those ends. In last week's bulletin, I wrote about the recent studies that give the reasons for the skyrocketing numbers of people who were raised Catholic but no longer practice the faith. Half of those who responded to the study said that they simply drifted away over time. This reveals how important it is for us as Catholics (whether we be single, married, young, or old) to establish a rule of life that incorporates Sunday

Mass, but also daily prayer, regular study of the faith and scripture, and the cultivation of friendships with others who take their faith seriously and whose words and good example will help us to be faithful. These should be the non-negotiables around which everything else in life is structured. We accept the inconveniences they bring and the sacrifices they require because we believe our life with Christ is most important, just as the parents of a newborn accept the inconveniences and sacrifices required to care for their child and are transformed by the experience. Like parents whose hearts are enlarged through the experience of the sacrifices that come with parenthood, our hearts are enlarged when we persevere together in a rule of life that opens us to the mystery of life with Christ - to the point that we couldn't imagine living any other way.

In Christ,
Fr. John

Anh Vu, Seminarian & Pastoral Assistant

For the past two years we have been blessed with a seminarian, Anh Vu, who has been faithful in his service to our parish. On August 24th, Anh will be leaving us to return to seminary where he will begin his final preparations for ordination to the priesthood.

After Masses the weekend of 8/22-23 we will serve some light refreshments in front of the Church of St. Cecilia.

We invite you to join us in wishing Anh well as he prepares to return to seminary formation at Pope St. John XXIII Seminary in Weston, MA.

We hope to see you there.

Fr. John

Introit: Do Thou look, O Lord upon the covenant, and forget not the congregation of the poor forever. Arise, O Lord and maintain Thine own cause, and be not unmindful of the voice of those that seek Thee. Glory be to the Father, and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit, as it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be world without end.

First Reading: 1 Kgs 19:4-8

Elijah went a day's journey into the desert, until he came to a broom tree and sat beneath it. He prayed for death saying: "This is enough, O Lord! Take my life, for I am no better than my fathers." He lay down and fell asleep under the broom tree, but then an angel touched him and ordered him to get up and eat. Elijah looked and there at his head was a hearth cake and a jug of water. After he ate and drank, he lay down again, but the angel of the Lord came back a second time, touched him, and ordered, "Get up and eat, else the journey will be too long for you!" He got up, ate and drank; then strengthened by that food, he walked forty days and forty nights to the mountain of God, Horeb.

Responsorial Psalm: Taste and see the goodness of the Lord.

Second Reading: Eph 4:30—5:2

Brothers and sisters: Do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, with which you were sealed for the day of redemption. All bitterness, fury, anger, shouting, and reviling must be removed from you, along with all malice. And be kind to one another, compassionate, forgiving one another as God has forgiven you in Christ. So be imitators of God, as beloved children, and live in love, as Christ loved us and handed Himself over for us as a sacrificial offering to God for a fragrant aroma.

Gospel: Jn 6:41-51

The Jews murmured about Jesus because he said, "I am the bread that came down from heaven," and they said, "Is this not Jesus, the son of Joseph? Do we not know his father and mother? Then how can He say, 'I have come down from heaven'?" Jesus answered and said to them, "Stop murmuring among yourselves. No one can come to me unless the Father who sent me draw him, and I will raise him on the last day. It is written in the prophets: They shall all be taught by God. Everyone who listens to my Father and learns from him comes to me. Not that anyone has seen the Father except the one who is from God; he has seen the Father. Amen, amen, I say to you, whoever believes has eternal life. I am the bread of life. Your ancestors ate the manna in the desert, but they died; this is the bread that comes down from heaven so that one may eat it and not die. I am the living bread that came down from heaven; whoever eats this bread will live forever; and the bread that I will give is my flesh for the life of the world."

Communion Antiphon: The bread which I will give is the flesh for the life of the world.

Prayer to Saint Michael the Archangel

St. Michael the Archangel, defend us in battle.
Be our defense against the wickedness
and snares of the Devil.
May God rebuke him, we humbly pray, and do thou,
O Prince of the heavenly host,
by the power of God, cast into hell Satan,
and all the evil spirits, who prowl about the world

A Tale of Two Cities by Charles Dickens

In this exciting novel set during the French Revolution, Charles Dickens expresses sympathy for the downtrodden poor and their outrage at the self-indulgent aristocracy.

But Dickens is no friend of the vengeful mob that storms the Bastille and cheers the guillotine. As with all of his stories, his passion is for the unforgettable and unrepeatable individuals he creates. The sorrows of the suffering masses, their demands for justice, and the indiscriminate fury they unleash take flesh in Madame Defarge, while the self-sacrifice that is the truest means of atonement and rebirth is manifested in the unlikely hero Sydney Carton.

In A Tale of Two Cities, humanity does not show its best side in the mean streets of Paris or even London, but in the intimate circle of loyal friends that gathers around the honorable Doctor Manette and his lovely daughter, Lucie.

Edited by Michael Aeschliman.

The CHOSEN

Zoom Meetings are
Tuesdays at 7:15 p.m.
August 17, 31

Have you watched the series, "The CHOSEN"? Director Dallas Jenkins's new original series, "The CHOSEN" offers us a glimpse into what the daily life of Jesus and his disciples might have looked like 2,000 years ago. The production quality of the series is impressive; the writing, acting and musical score all add to encountering Jesus, fully Human and fully Divine.

Using "The CHOSEN" as a starting point, the bible study will watch the first season together and discuss the life of Jesus and his disciples. We'll acknowledge where liberty has been granted in the production and how seeing the bible come to life has increased our faith and love of the bible.

There is no cost to join, just RSVP to receive the ZOOM link. Please contact Vicki Alton
