GOD'S MINSTREL

This Monday, October 4, is the feast day of St. Francis of Assisi (1881-1226). St. Francis is one of the most beloved saints in the Christian tradition, especially among the people of his native Italy. An Italian friend of mine once joked that Italians love St. Francis best, then comes St. Joseph, then Padre Pio, then Jesus! St. Francis captured the imagination of the people of his time, with his radical poverty, his love for creation, and his infectious devotion to the sacred humanity of Christ.

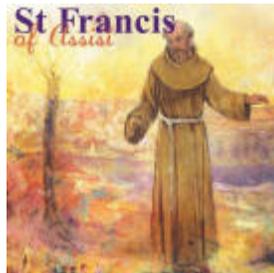

There are many books about St. Francis. I particularly like the one by the English writer G.K. Chesterton. Chesterton's style takes some getting used to, but he has the ability to instill in the reader a new childlike sense of wonder at the world that we take for granted. In the chapter of his book entitled, "Le Jongleur de Dieu," Chesterton refers to St. Francis as "God's minstrel." In the Middle Ages, a minstrel sought to delight the royal court through song, acrobatics, and playing the fool. By nature, St. Francis as a young man desired the admiration of others, and did not like to be considered a fool. It pained him to be thought a failed soldier for his disastrous military career, or to be thought a thief for having given money from his father's business to the beggars of Assisi. But somehow his humiliations were touched by God's grace, and in them he discovered happiness and the path to holiness. Chesterton describes the change in St. Francis as being like a man who digs a tunnel through the earth - at some point during his descent, he mysteriously begins to ascend. It is a strange sort of revolution, a turning around, that is at the heart of conversion.

Through his conversion, Chesterton explains, St. Francis saw the world from a new perspective. He saw the world upside-down. From that vantage, all the great things of the world, that seemed fixed and unmovable, suddenly appeared to be dangling precariously from above, in danger of falling into nothingness save for the goodness of God. The world is by nature dependent, a word that literally means "hanging down." This is, Chesterton argues, "the fundamental fact which we cover up, as with curtains, with the illusion of ordinary life." The curtains pulled back, and the "ordinary" set aside, St. Francis' mystical vision of the infinite debt that creation owes to our Creator filled his heart with joy and gratitude. For he knew that God creates because God loves. Having learned humility through his conversion, St. Francis embraced the reality of total dependence. He knew that he was nothing without the Lord, and so his response was to make his life a love song to his Creator. Psalm 19 tells us: "The heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament proclaims His handiwork." This is how St. Francis understood all of Creation in relation to God. Ascetic though he was, undergoing many fasts and penances, St. Francis enjoyed Creation perhaps more than any man who ever lived. He understood, as all saints do, that its quality as gift imbues all of Creation with significance, and delights Him upon Whom we depend for all things.

In Christ,
Fr. John

Fr. Mariusz is starting a spiritual reading group.

The first book will be The Story of the Soul by St. Thérèse of Lisieux.

Please join us for an orientation session on the book on Tuesday, October 12th at 6:30 p.m. in the Parish Center.

Anyone who is interested is welcome to participate.

Prayer to Saint Michael the Archangel

St. Michael the Archangel, defend us in battle.
Be our defense against the wickedness
and snares of the Devil.

May God rebuke him, we humbly pray, and do thou,
O Prince of the heavenly host, by the power of God,
cast into hell Satan, and all the evil spirits,
who prowl about the world seeking the ruin of souls.
Amen.

Entrance: Hail Holy Queen Enthroned Above 530

Introit: In Thy power, O Lord, is the whole world placed, and there is no man that can gain say Thee; for Thou has made all things heaven and earth, and all the wondrous things under the heavens; Lord of all things Thou art. Righteous art Thou art. Glory be to the Father, and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit, as it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be world without end. Amen.

First Reading: Gn 2:18-24

The Lord God said: "It is not good for the man to be alone. I will make a suitable partner for him. So the Lord God formed out of the ground various wild animals and various birds of the air, and He brought them to the man to see what he would call them; whatever the man called each of them would be its name. The man gave names to all the cattle, all the birds of the air, and all wild animals; but none proved to be the suitable partner for the man. So the Lord God cast a deep sleep on the man, and while he was asleep, He took out one of his ribs and closed up its place with flesh. The Lord God then built up into a woman the rib that He had taken from the man. When He brought her to the man, the man said: "This one, at last, is bone of my bones and flesh of my flesh; this one shall be called 'woman,' for out of 'her man' this one has been taken." That is why a man leaves his father and mother and clings to his wife, and the two of them become one flesh.

Responsorial Psalm: May the Lord Bless Us, All the days of our lives

Second Reading: Heb 2:9-11

Brothers and sisters: He "for a little while" was made "lower than the angels," that by the grace of God He might taste death for every one. For it was fitting that He, for whom and through whom all things exist, in bringing many children to glory, should make the leader to their salvation perfect through suffering. He who consecrates and those who are being consecrated all have one origin. Therefore, He is not ashamed to call them "brothers."

Gospel: Mk 10:2-16 or 10:2-12

The Pharisees approached Jesus and asked, "Is it lawful for a husband to divorce his wife?" They were testing him. He said to them in reply, "What did Moses command you?" They replied, "Moses permitted a husband to write a bill of divorce and dismiss her." But Jesus told them, "Because of the hardness of your hearts He wrote you this commandment. But from the beginning of creation, God made them male and female. For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh. So they are no longer two but one flesh. Therefore what God has joined together, no human being must separate." In the house the disciples again questioned Jesus about this. He said to them, "Whoever divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery against her; and if she divorces her husband and marries another, she commits adultery."

And people were bringing children to Him that He might touch them, but the disciples rebuked them. When Jesus saw this He became indignant and said to them, "Let the children come to me; do not prevent them, for the kingdom of God belongs to such as these. Amen, I say to you, whoever does not accept the kingdom of God like a child will not enter it." Then He embraced them and blessed them, placing His hands on them.

Offertory: Prayer of St. Francis

Communion Antiphon: My soul aspires after your salvation; I hope in your word.

Closing: Now Thank We All Our God 607

FALL BIBLE STUDY

Many Catholics want to read the Bible because they know it's God's Word, but they give up because it seems so complicated.

Unlocking the Mystery of the Bible, with the presenter Jeff Cavins, helps you get the "big picture" by showing how fourteen narrative books of the Bible tell the complete story of salvation history from Adam and Eve to Christ and the Church. You will be able to make sense of the Bible, discover the remarkable connections between the Old and New Testaments, see how the sacraments, the Church and our entire Catholic Faith is rooted in Scripture and much more.

Unlocking the Mystery of the Bible is only eight sessions; the study program includes video presentations that explore all twelve time periods of The Bible Timeline Chart, group discussion and some homework.

Order your book at: <https://ascensionpress.com/collections/unlocking-the-mystery> - $26.95 gives you both the book and access to the on-line study and video at Ascension Press for one year. You'll also receive a new Bible Timeline Chart and Bookmark.

Fall Book Study

Tactics: A Game Plan for Discussing Your Christian Convictions

In a world increasingly indifferent to Christian truth, followers of Christ need to be equipped to communicate with those who do not speak their language or accept their source of authority. In Tactics, Gregory Koukl demonstrates how to artfully regain control of conversations, keeping them moving forward in constructive ways through thoughtful diplomacy. You'll learn how to stop challengers in their tracks and how to turn the tables on questions or provocative statements. Most importantly, you'll learn how to get people thinking about Jesus. Tactics provides the game plan for communicating the compelling truth about Christianity with confidence and grace.

The study started September 8th and run Wednesdays from 6:45 p.m. - 8:15 p.m. at St. Cecilia's McDermott Hall. Space is limited. To purchase the book and reserve your spot email noelle.gross@gmail.com or call 857-345-0808.
