Letting Christmas Become a Season

When they had fulfilled all the prescriptions of the law of the Lord, they returned to Galilee, to their own town of Nazareth.

The child grew and became strong, filled with wisdom; and the favor of God was upon him. - Luke 2

One of the great opportunities we have these days is to savor the Christmas season. Christmas is not a single day; it's a season. It is a two (sometimes three) week period in which to enter more deeply into the mystery of the One who came to become one of us - to save us from our sins.

So often Christmas day seems to come and go very quickly, and with it, the spirit of the Christmas season can be lost in the process of cleaning up, finishing left-overs, traveling or returning gifts. There is a religious value to these days after Christmas which we can give ourselves to with simply a little focus. Having prayed that our Lord might come to us, we can let the reality of his coming enter more deeply into our daily experience. We do that by savoring the story and letting his being one with us become a more conscious reality as these stories intersect with our daily lives. For example, in the rush of Christmas, and I can ask myself if I took time to imagine myself there in the stable, and take it all in, as a personal witness. Did I really listen to what Mary and Joseph said to each other? Did I let myself be moved by how open the shepherds were to this mystery and how transformed they were by it? Did I ask Mary if I could hold her child? What happened within me as I beheld my Savior so small, so vulnerable, with such tiny fingernails and with such a breath that would one day expire on the cross, but would be raised to breathe the Holy Spirit into his followers and into us all?

We can take each of the gospel stories and let ourselves become a part of the story or let the story become a part of our lives. The Epiphany is part of the powerful story according to St. Matthew. While Luke's account reminds us of the poverty of his coming and his union with the lowly of the earth, in Matthew we can almost hear the drum beats of danger. Herod is out to kill the child. In spite of the cleverness of the Magi to return another way, many innocents are slaughtered.

The Holy Family flees to Egypt and Jesus enters the mystery of his people's slavery and liberation. Every one of us who has every been "trapped" in any way can identify with this story. And, we can let this story enter our lives. Jesus became one with us in all the ways we are not safe or free from fear. Jesus came so that none of us should ever feel alone in whatever has happened to us, however secret, however damaging. This is where we can taste the power of the freedom Jesus brings us in his surrendering to his own mission from his Father.

Perhaps the Feast of the Holy Family will be a time to reach deeper into our desires and to ask for graces for our family. This might be a wonderful time for us to contemplate the hidden life of Jesus. Apart from the glimpse we get of the 12 year old Jesus being left behind in Jerusalem, the scriptures are silent about the thirty years of Jesus' life as an ordinary part of the Nazareth community. Again, with the contemplative power of imagination, we can walk the dusty streets of this small town where Jesus grew up. We can watch the toddler Jesus at home, listening to his mother and foster father singing the psalms at night. We can picture the little boy Jesus playing with his friends. What a joy it can be to imagine the young Jesus learning the carpenter trade from Joseph, even picturing them delivering the chairs and tables, doors and wagons they made together. The young man Jesus must have been a stunning personality, yet later people would be surprised at his charisma, saying "Isn't this the carpenter's son?" These many years he lived in a fairly ordinary, hidden way, place him in solidarity with our ordinary day to day lives. He knew work, he knew service, he had friends and he loved family. We suppose that Joseph died during those years. Jesus knew the grief of the loss of one who had held him and nurtured him and became an earthly father to him. Reflections like these, no matter how they occur in our week, will allow Jesus to come very close to us these days.

This Christmas Season culminates in the celebration of the Baptism of the Lord. It is very consoling to contemplatively imagine the discernment process Jesus went through to decide to leave home and to move down toward the River Jordan where he must have heard that his cousin John was baptizing. Of course, Mary let him go and, of course, she blesses him for his mission. What a precious scene to enjoy! And, there at the Jordan, Jesus and John meet again. If John leapt in his mother Elizabeth's womb, how much more now did his heart soar as Jesus came to assume his role as the one who would free us from our sins. But, first, there had to be this part of the Incarnation and this epiphany. Here Jesus becomes one of us in a new way. Paul says, "For our sake he made him to be sin who did not know sin, so that we might become the righteousness of God in him." (2 Cor. 5:21) And, there is the great manifestation of God, witnessing to Jesus: My beloved Son; listen to him. We can conclude this wonderful Christmas Season asking for the grace to be one with Jesus whose mission from the Father he invites us to share.

THE HOLY FAMILY

After three days they found him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the teachers, listening to them and asking them questions, and all who heard him were astounded at his understanding and his answers. - Lk 2:46-47

Tri-Parish Survey

We are looking to update the Mass schedule for the Tri-Parishes in the new year, so please take the Tri-Parish survey. There are copies near the exits and where the bulletins are.

Please especially fill out the bottom of the sheet, detailing what changes you would like. The survey will continue until the end of Advent.

Any questions or concerns, please call the parish office.
Thank you!

Coming Back to Church

Question:

I have been away from the Church for a few years and really want to get active again, not so much for me, but for my children. Is this a bad reason to come back to Church?

Answer:

Your children leading you back to the Church is not as important as the fact that you are back.

This is an opportunity for you to renew, strengthen, and deepen your faith. Regardless of how we get to Church, or what draws us closer to God, the fact is we are there. Do what you need to do to get right with God and the Church. Go to confession, begin good family religious practices, and be involved in the ministries your parish offers. Be more than a lukewarm parishioner. Be the kind of Catholic you want your children to be.

MASK UP!

Per Cardinal Sean O'Malley's directive, masks must be worn starting this weekend, December 18th, and ending on January 17th, 2022. Anyone over the age of 5 must wear a mask, only to be taken off to do duties during Mass or receive the Eucharist.

Any questions or concerns please reach out to the parish office for more information.

Thank you!

Over the coming months, Catholics from around the world will be participating in the Synod on Synodality.

What does that mean?

Here in Boston it means that we will be gathering, as parishes and as a diocese to pray together and to invite the Holy Spirit to help us to listen deeply to one another, and we will talk together about how best to do that.

So, for instance, a parish council may get together and ask "How can we as a parish council do a better job of letting the voices of all our parishioners be heard, even those who are not a part of an inner circle or who might be marginalized for whatever reason?"

The archdiocese and the church around the world will be engaging in the same sort of conversation. We pray that the Lord will open our hearts to Him and to all of our people.

The link for doing the survey is: <https://forms.office.com/r/aPadVsPFt9>. It will also be emailed out for those on the parish listserv. For more information, please reach out to the parish office.

Spiritual Development Committee

Would you like to be involved in putting together programs, guest speakers, and other initiatives for the spiritual development of the Tri-Parishes? The evangelization assistant is looking to reboot the Spiritual Development Committee for the next year. Call the parish office to sign up.
