SPONSOR CERTIFICATES

Only the parish office handles sponsor certificate requests Monday to Friday, 9AM to 5PM, 718-356-0294. To be considered active members of our parish, each family and single adult must be properly registered and must regularly use the weekly donation envelopes at Sunday Mass. This is the only way the parish can issue a Godparent/Sponsor Certificate (or other letter) declaring that the person named is a practicing Catholic in good standing with the Church. Parishioners must be registered and must be using the envelopes for at least 6 months before a Sponsor/Godparent Certificate can be issued. Besides attending Mass each Sunday and Holy Day, a godparent/sponsor must also be confirmed Catholic, and if married, be married in the Catholic Church. Cohabitation disqualifies a person from serving as godparent. If your child is approaching a Sacrament for the first time, please let godparent/sponsor candidates know of this protocol well in advance so that the candidate will have plenty of time to rectify any impediments that would prevent him/her from serving as godparents.

Dear Parishioners,

Three priests in disguise entered the outskirts of a little town in Ireland called Kiltrush. They were fleeing for their lives. The British penal laws of the 18th century called for the death of all Catholic priests, and also called for the death of those who harbored them. The priests came to a farmhouse. Out of the house came a tall, middle-aged man. When he caught sight of the three men he stopped. It was uncommon to see travelers on that obscure road.

“Well sirs?” he asked, looking at them under thick, bushy brows. “We’ve been traveling all night—toward the port,” said one of the disguised priests. “We thought perhaps your lady wife might spare us some of her meal there, though it’s little money we have.” “No man eats hog’s food in my house. There’s fresh-made bread on the stove, isn’t there Jane?” “Aye, and there is, John Williams,” answered his wife. “Bring the strangers in.”

The eldest priest rolled that name over in his mind. It sounded so familiar. Then it came to him. A priest that he knew spoke gratefully of this Protestant man who flouted the unjust laws and even opened his house to a priest to say Mass. The priests ate gratefully the food that Mrs. Williams placed before them. After the meal, the eldest priest said to their host, “We’re priests.” His two companions were filled with terror. They thought he had taken leave of his senses.

He continued, “A boat is ready to take us to safety. We’re grateful to you for your kindness and to others of our hunted breed.” Mrs. Williams looked at her husband with worry. Were they really priests? Maybe they were soldiers, spies sent to trick her husband. John Williams leaned forward shrewdly. “Talk to me in the Latin of the Mass,” he said. The priest did so. John Williams answered, “I hate the persecutor, whoever he is. Unfair laws were made to be broken. Stay the night with us and leave for your ship at dawn.”

Unfortunately, a solitary horseman across the Shannon River noticed the priests enter the Williams abode. Ben Kox hated priests and he also hated his prosperous neighbor John Williams. Kox was a man filled with envy. He alerted the British soldiers to the home. Soon red jackets and fixed bayonets appeared. Williams turned to the priests and told them to hide in the cornfield. Then there was a knock on the door.

The officer entered. “Let’s see your search warrant,” Williams demanded. “Not needed for priests and rebels,” came the reply. “And what about Protestants and loyal Englishmen like myself,” asked Williams. The officer answered, “If you’re a Protestant and a loyal Englishman you’ll be glad enough to lay the scum by the heels.”

“No decent Englishman is glad to see injustice done to any man,” said Williams. The soldiers completed their search in disappointment and disgust. The officer eyed Mr. Kox angrily. At dawn the three priests slipped down to the ship and went off to sea, escaping the clutches of the redcoats. Later, at breakfast, John Williams said, “I hate injustice. A man has a right to worship God as his conscience tells him.” Then he turned to his young son and added, “So, fight for that right. And if you must, risk your life for it.” His boy only half understood. He grinned and nodded and pushed another spoonful of oatmeal into his mouth. (Daniel Lord, SJ, These Tales are True, 1947, p. 10).

Notwithstanding the great defects of his Protestant religion, John Williams had great courage. Courage is the strength to persevere and endure hardship, danger, and especially fear. What is fear? Fear is a reaction to a threat to our being, the response to a real or perceived danger. Fear is a manifestation of our fundamental instinct of survival.

St. Paul writes: Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword? . . . But in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him who loved us (Rom. 8:35, 37). Children of God, our release from fear and anxiety is not found, therefore, in an idea or a technique or a program. No. Our release from fear and anxiety is found in a person: Jesus Christ (blessed be His Name), who has loved us.

The antidote to all fear is Jesus. Fear is lack of inner freedom. Jesus came to call us to freedom. Do not be afraid, He says, I have overcome the world. (John 16:33). Jesus Christ can free us from every distress. What triggers that freedom is our faith in Him and our trust that His promises to us will be fulfilled. Blessed are you who believed that what was spoken to you by the Lord would be fulfilled. (Luke 1:45).

God bless you!

Father Eric
