Holy Matrimony

Couples who one or both of the engaged are registered in the parish or have a historical connection to the parish and are planning to marry at The Parish of All Saints must contact the priest to arrange a date and time first. They are also required to attend marriage preparation classes as mandated by the diocese. The period of preparation for marriage is a minimum of one year as required by the NJ Conference of Catholic Bishops.

Last Rites & Anointing of the Sick

The priests may be called AT ANY TIME day or night for the Last Rites. Furthermore, the priests will be happy to visit the sick to anoint them upon request.

THE POPE'S PRAYER INTENTIONS DECEMBER 2020

For a life of prayer

Let us pray that our personal relationship with Jesus Christ may be nourished by the Word of God and a life of prayer.

December is the month of Advent and Christmas. It is four weeks of preparation for the coming of Christ at Christmas. An advent wreath is made, lighting a candle every Sunday, pondering that time of grace. It is an auspicious time for spiritual preparation to celebrate Christmas.

Advent Prayer - Week 2

Father in heaven, during this second week of Advent, help us see clearly the times when we have sinned. Accept our sorrow for having pulled away from you, and give us firm resolve to stay close to you.
God above, help us conduct ourselves in holiness. We long to be the people you expect us to be. Help us as we strive to make our souls spotless and our hearts and minds at peace.
Help us, Lord, to remember that we were baptized for a reason. Help us realize our baptismal call to live as children of God.
And dear God, don't let us miss chances this week to be welcoming to other people and to work in harmony with everyone. Help us as we try to change our ways so that we are good examples of people who love and follow the Lord.

SYMBOLISM OF THE HERALDIC ACHIEVEMEMT OF THE PARISH OF ALL SAINTS MILLVILLE, NEW JERSEY – DIOCESE OF CAMDEN

The All Saints design is properly known as a Heraldic Achievement rather than a Coat of Arms. The reason for this terminology is that in Catholic heraldry, a parish coat of arms also includes a supporter and these two elements – the shield (or coat of arms) and the supporter, together composes a formal Heraldic Achievement. In the church's heraldic law, a parish institution has the right to opt for a single supporter. It is not in any way required. A supporter is that element of a design that upholds the shield, or coat of arms. These are the only elements permitted parishes in Catholic heraldry. No motto, for instance, is permitted.

The heraldic law of the Latin Rite of the Catholic Church limits the form of supporter. The first option available to a parish is the image of the facade of the actual parish church. The church building as supporter is eminently personal as no two church buildings are the same. The second possibility is an artistic rendering of the image of the saint for whom that church has been named. This particular heavenly being is known as the parish titular. And so, when the titular becomes the supporter, the parish heraldic design has the image of their titular saint standing beside the shield, one hand on its top to support it.

When the facade of the church building becomes the supporter, it is generally rendered as close to reality as possible. The shield then sits in the center of the facade so that only partial elements of the church building are actually visible.

In some instances, the parish does not have the option to select between the image of the titular saint as supporter or the church facade. The reason for this is that a parish may be named for numerous saints or for one of the three divine Persons of the Blessed Trinity. Images of the Blessed Trinity as supporters are not permitted in Catholic heraldic practice. Also, heraldic law only permits a parish to have one supporter and a choice between multiple titular saints is considered unacceptable. One saint may not stand above the other titulars. And so, in the case of the Parish of All Saints, the facade of the church building as heraldic supporter became the only acceptable option.

The church's heraldic law also requires that heraldic charges (emblems) inside the shield itself must only be associated with the titular saint, such as an emblem used for centuries to represent that particular saint. In the case of multiple saints, such as All Saints Parish, an emblem associated with the concept of sainthood in general must be used in creating a design rather than one associated with only one particular saint. No other emblems, no matter how time-honored or favored, are permitted in a parish design. The only exception to this rule is the addition of a chief atop the proper shield in honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

A chief is a wide bar or space that sits atop the shield proper. Most people looking at a coat of arms design would think this added space to be nothing more than a division line between two unique spaces within one shield. In reality, the chief is a unique space, added to an already complete design, used exclusively as a place of honor in Catholic heraldry; not all coat of arms designs have one. And so, All Saints' coat of arms has two distinct fields - the shield proper and this chief of honor.

The base of the All Saints coat of arms is worked in gold. Gold is one of the two divine attributes, silver being the other, used to represent the perfection of God, the love of Christ, and the Unity, Wisdom, and Grace of the Blessed Trinity. Because of the significance of gold and silver in Catholic symbolism, the Holy See long ago chose these two metals for its official flag. In flag design, a second generation of heraldic design, gold is rendered as yellow and silver as white. The very familiar Holy See flag, therefore, is a fine example of this usage.

Upon the gold field in the All Saints design appears a strawberry bush in the full bloom of summer. In Catholic heraldry, the strawberry bush represents perfect righteousness, one of the main attributes of all the collective saints in Heaven. The strawberry bush is the emblem representing the fruits of a holy life. When it is depicted in full bloom, the bush's flowers and its ripe fruit clearly visible, it also represents the exemplar of good works of the saints while still alive and the power of the works of the Holy Spirit – always alive and working in the Church. And so this beautiful emblem represents all the virtues of sainthood and covers the innate character of all the saints in Heaven. This is the common denominator to all the faithful already in Paradise. The use of a fruit bearing bush in a rural, farming region inside America's Garden State, New Jersey, also honors (in a purely secondary way) the history of the region, its people, and the contributions of generations of parishioners to life in Millville and to the parish of All Saints.

This powerful symbolism completes the parish design according to Catholic rubrics. Father Peter Idler, pastor of the Parish of All Saints in the year 2018, desired to opt for the additional chief in honor of Our Blessed Mother. The chief in this design is worked in deep red, the color of the Sacrificial Blood of Jesus Christ. On this field appears a coronet for Our Lady of Sorrows. When a parish opts for homage to the BVM, the pastor has the right to select which title for Mary will be represen1ted in the design. Father Idler selected the Marian title of Our Lady of Sorrows.

It is a hallmark of this heraldic designer to create a new emblem for each new commission. And so a coronet unique to All Saints parish has been created to represent the BVM. It is worked in gold and comprises a repetition of golden 'sword lilies' and pearls. A band of rubies surround its rim. These represent the holy martyrs. Pearls are the gemstones representing the BVM. Sword Lilies are a form of gladiola. They are particularly symbolic of strength of spirituality, faithfulness, sincerity and integrity – all attributes of the BVM. By their name/title they also represent the title «Our Lady of Sorrows» as the Blessed Virgin Mary in this title has a heart pierced by swords. No other flower represents Our Lady of Sorrows in a finer way...the lily is always associated with the BVM. This species of lily in particular harkens to Mary's sorrows in life as described in Scripture.
