From the desk of Fr. Sullivan

Dear friends,

Young adults, in fact parents and grandparents of young adults, have expressed for many years that churches as a whole have very few activities for youth and young adults. I can't say that I disagree with this. Even many years ago, as a young man myself in my 20's, while in the working world and being faithful to church, there was not a lot for us to do as young adults. As wonderful as religious education classes are, high school students do not view this as a community building experience. Much more needs to be offered if we are to attract them to church and keep them engaged, feeling that they have a part in the future mission of the church. After all, our youth and young adults are the future. Many parishes have tag sales, bake sales, different guilds, bingo and even casino trips and as good as these may be, and even beneficial to the parish, these events generally do not attract the younger crowd. Young adults, although many may have a great relationship with parents and grandparents, when it comes to church activities, they generally don't hang out with them in these settings.

At the basilica, we are trying hard to attract young adults to the parish. First and foremost, every human being at some level desires deeper relationship. The greatest love is of course, God Himself in Jesus, yet often we look for love in all the wrong places. Young adults, like every human person needs to be fed, not only physically but also to be fed spiritually. There is strength in numbers and young adults for the most part, do not want to feel that they are the only one who worships. When they see others their own age who are desiring, seeking and ultimately finding, they too want to be a part of this because it feeds the deepest human desire, that of the spiritual.

Nearly one year ago, two young men from the parish, Jake White and Joe Mancusso, approached me asking if they could start a young adult group. I had been praying about this and thought they would be a good team. It has gotten off to a good start with approximately 10 regulars who meet every couple of weeks. Everything starts small and I believe this will have great traction going forward. In a few weeks, Friday September 9th, the parish is planning an overnight camping trip at Lake Waramaug. We will have an outdoor mass followed by a picnic, followed by fun and fellowship around a campfire. There will be a full moon on September 9th, so this will add to the beauty. In the morning after breakfast, we will have a kayak trip on the lake. Pope John Paul II as a young priest, was an avid outdoors person and encouraged this type of community for the young. Vacation Bible School was also a great success for our younger children and they want to continue meeting in some way. The deep sea fishing trip may also attract young and give them a deeper sense of community. Parish picnics and Holy Land masses also attract young families.

Lastly, our young people are seeking a sense of reverence and hopefully the spoken word speaks to their human experience. We do our best to provide this at the basilica. Eucharistic adoration is also attractive to the young and many have found this to be life changing. As we move forward, we pray that all churches reach out to the young who are indeed our future.

God bless to all,
Fr. Sullivan
