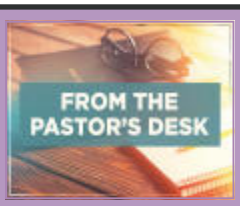
EUCHARISTIC ADORATION

Monday's—9:00—3:00
First Friday's—9:00-3:00



Dear Parishioners –

We are a people who love our freedoms. As we look around and see those living in countries under the yoke of dictatorships, communism, socialism, or military control, we thank the good Lord for our freedom. Unfortunately, some see the Ten Commandments or laws of God as restricting or limiting our freedoms. Actually, they are guides to happiness and peace of mind. In the Book of Deuteronomy 6:3 Moses tells Israel about the commandments. "hear them Israel and be careful to observe them that you may grow and prosper the more…" Then in verse 24, Moses says "Therefore, the Lord commanded us to observe all these statutes in fear of the Lord, our God, that we may always have as prosperous and happy life as we have today;" Now any way of living that promises prosperity and happiness is what most people really want. The problem is that temptation comes into the picture and sinful choices are attractively presented. To resist temptation requires sacrifice which is never easy. However, when we don't resist it, we usually feel guilty and unhappy with ourselves afterward. At least, that's been my experience and most people I know.

Fortunately, when we fail to keep the commandments, we have a remedy to restore our relationship with God. Of course, you know that I am talking about the Sacrament of Reconciliation. Now is a good time to make use of it as we prepare for Easter. The times are still 3:30-4:30pm Saturday and by appointment in the Rectory. I encourage you to come soon before the lines grow to long.

Fr. Carl

Stewardship Thought: "Pathway of Stewardship"

An attitude of gratitude is one of your best partners in developing the will to persevere. Gratitude plays an important role in developing the ability to persevere because any time you are striving to become a better disciple and steward there will be setbacks along the way. We tend to let our setbacks define who we are. We can either accept the obstacles that can come our way and work through them, or we can focus on the setbacks and let negativity define who we are. Being grateful for the progress you are making along the way gives you the strength to persevere and continue the journey. The stewardship lifestyle can be very much counter cultural. People may question why anyone would choose such a path. This is why perseverance is so important in making stewardship a way of life.

When you choose the path of stewardship, you may struggle at first with the initial changes required of you to become a better steward. It is not always easy to separate yourself from the demands and possessions of this world. However, by persevering in your stewardship journey you will experience many surprising rewards along the way. "Stewardship is the right thing to do; its rewards can't be kept out!" (Most Rev. Eugene Gerber, Bishop Emeritus of Wichita, Kansas).

We are God's gift and what we do with our time here on earth can be a gift given back to God. In Ephesians 3:21 it says, "His power at work in us can do far more than we dare ask or imagine." Think about how we can use our gifts, talents, and treasures for good and how we can become that better steward in our community today.

We ask for your prayers….
For all those who are home bound or in nursing home; who are ill or recovering from surgery; dealing with difficult times, may our prayers bring them comfort, hope and healing.
