FROM THE RECTOR

My dear Brothers and Sisters,

I would like to share with you the following meditation:

“He came to Nazareth, where he had grown up”

The hidden years at Nazareth remind us that God has in view always our needs and our trials. Christ came on earth to save us. His was the tremendous task of converting a hard-hearted world to a way of life that would upset all man's notions of self-indulgent living. Yet, with this great work to be fulfilled, he spent but three years in public life. The first thirty years were passed in a town so small and so thoroughly unimportant that people were to say to him, doubtfully, can anything good come out of Nazareth? Probably this was in the decrees of God because so many of us live what the world considers very unimportant lives. Armies do not march at our command; people do not go halfway around the world to see us; history will have nothing to say of us. No one, in fact, pays very much attention to us. If we take for ourselves no other models than those who are world-famous, this will hurt us a great deal and result in a lifetime of striving to be somebody. But if we follow the model of a Redeemer who for thirty years lived in obscurity, it should not distress us to be ignored. There are very few people of worldly importance; far in the majority are the multitudes of ordinary people whose path to heaven is unexciting and unromantic. How very kind of God to show us by his long, hidden life that his plan of redemption includes everyone, even those whose lives are so unremarkable that the world does not notice at all!

To Mary the hidden life brought its peculiar joys and sorrows: the joy of being always with Jesus, the sorrow of knowing that this beautiful Child must grow to be the Man of Sorrows. He began to teach there, in the obscurity of Nazareth. The proud, and those who are concerned with social position, would be uncomfortable in the poor home of a village carpenter. But the poor in spirit, whom our Lord was to call blessed in his Sermon on the Mount, are never embarrassed to be found suppliant at the feet of the Holy Family. Christ preached many times against wealth, because it so often blinds men's hearts to the important things of God. The Scriptures are filled with references to God's care of his creatures and the futility of our worrying about worldly goods. In Psalm 40:18 is sweetly stated,

SISTER MARY JEAN DORCY, O.P.

Sister Mary Jean († 1988) was a Dominican sister and a prolific author and illustrator, especially of children's literature.

Peace,
Monsignor Mancini

Delivering Food, Shelter and Hope to the Poorest of the Poor

Father Farrell E. “Mac” McLaughlin of Cross Catholic Outreach will be visiting our parish next weekend (January 29th & 30th) to speak at all the Masses on behalf of the poor in developing countries. Cross Catholic Outreach was founded to create a meaningful link between parishes in America and the priests and nuns working in the Church overseas in the Caribbean, Africa, Asia, Central and South America.

Father McLaughlin comes to us from Cross Catholic Outreach and will share some touching stories about the amazing work Catholic missions are accomplishing worldwide. Since Cross Catholic Outreach empowers existing Catholic missions, its program are extremely cost-effective, and the majority of the resources it collects go into program services that help the poorest of the poor around the world.
