

St. Thomas More Catholic Parish & School

Thirty-Second Sunday in Ordinary Time | November 7, 2021

For the LORD, the God of Israel, says, 'The jar of flour shall not go empty, nor the jug of oil run dry, until the day when the Lord sends rain upon the earth.'

1 Kings 17:14

What's Inside:

- ◆ Memorial Mass for Miscarriage, Still Birth and Infant Loss
- ◆ Italian Fest
- ◆ Seminaries' Appeal

pastor's note

We are happy to welcome the opportunity to support our local seminaries this weekend. Once again we have the annual Seminaries Appeal and are visited by one of the men in formation at St. John Vianney. As in past, we will be taking up a second collection after the normal offertory collection for the parish. In this way, if you have a special fondness or passion for the education and formation of the future priests of our parishes and Church, you can personally show your support.

As important as the work of the seminaries is, it is only possible when they have men coming to prepare for a priestly calling. In the Gospel, Jesus invites us to pray that laborers be sent for the harvest. We need to pray regularly for vocations for men and women, priests, deacons and religious, that can dedicate their lives to the ongoing work of the kingdom. And those who are so called to priestly and religious vocations could in fact be the very children around your dinner tables, the young men and women in the community with you. Each and every one of us is responsible for fostering the vocational future of our Church. One way we can do that is by the verbal encouragement we offer to them.

I have shared my own vocational story before and mentioned the two conversations that stand out about a relative and a neighbor on two different occasions mentioning the call to being a priest to me. This was long before I was even seriously thinking about it myself. Yet, when I was considering what the Lord was calling me to, and even today, those two conversations stood out. To this day I give thanks to God that those men were willing to voice His invitation to me.

Next weekend we have our yearly Called By Name experience where you are invited to submit names of those you are aware of who you think might have a calling to be a priest, sister, brother, deacon. And I would encourage you to not just submit someone's name anonymously, but make sure you yourself speak to them of your thoughts, perceptions and prayers for their future.

And while praying for vocations to serve the Church, be sure to keep our own parishioners who are studying at St. John Vianney Seminary in your heart and prayers. Both Jacob Machado and Chris Mellen are from St. Thomas More. Pray that they will be strong in their responding to the call God places in their hearts for the good of His people.

This week is the final week for Priests' Retreats for priests from our Archdiocese and I will be away at it. Please pray for me and the almost 30 other priests who will be there. I have mentioned before that this is a welcome respite in the course of the year that priests look forward to and come back from with a great deal of peace and joy. I hope all take time in their busy schedules to come away with the Lord, whether it be on a parish Welcome Retreat, a prayerful getaway with the annual men's or women's retreats offered each year or just a quiet and reflective day or weekend when one blocks out the noise, work and distractions that can fill our typical day, and come to the Lord with heart and hands open to what He is wanting to show you.

Finally, if you or someone you know have ever dealt with the grief and loss of a child by miscarriage you need to know that the Archdiocese is beginning a new ministry to these families. There will be a Mass here at St. Thomas More on this coming Friday evening at 7:00PM for all who have had such a loss. Death is often a great test of one's faith, especially if it is the death of one's child. This can be all the more challenging if one has never had the opportunity to hold, kiss, talk to and show one's love to their child because the death comes during the pregnancy. Often, even family and friends are unaware that there was a child if the loss is early on in the pregnancy. In this month of November we remember the dead in our prayers and hearts in a most special way. Help spread the news, that we are having this Mass, to those who might find comfort and support in a grief that they have had to carry alone for all too long.

– Msgr. Tom

a reflection on today's readings

Grow as a Disciple

When it comes to money, I'm a worrier. Just ask my husband how I reacted when he had the audacity to pay for shipping! I shop carefully, armed with coupons. I've always been a saver, making sure to contribute to retirement, life insurance and the "what-if-the-roof-comes-down" fund.

Being fiscally responsible is a good thing, but the quest for financial security as the ultimate good is a fool's errand. God is the true provider of all that we need, and what we have finds its fulfillment in service to Him. The widows in today's readings knew that too well.

In the first reading, a mother and son are down to their last bites of food, facing starvation and death. Yet she gives her last morsels to the prophet Elijah. In the Gospel, the widow gives generously, not of her surplus, but of her entire livelihood. Both women exhibit utter and complete trust in God, and a generosity that knows no bounds. As we study today's Scripture, they teach the worriers among us that God will and does provide, and that the more we give away, the greater our reward in this life and the next.

Go Evangelize

Do you ever get that knock on the door from a Cub Scout selling popcorn just when you're about to put dinner on the table or run out to a ballgame? Or perhaps you already have a full calendar and suddenly a neighbor really needs your help with an errand or a household emergency – and there goes a whole afternoon!

Today's readings invite us to set aside whatever "sticks we are gathering" and welcome the "Elijah moments." They encourage us to give a bit of ourselves away, whether it's time, money, or attention. In doing so, we give witness to the paradox of the Christian life – that the more we give away the more we are rewarded. We also set a positive example for our children and others, who will see our generosity in action.

Action

Even the budgeters among us can do this! Look ahead at your budget. In addition to regular expenditures and giving, look at something you can sacrifice – a meal out, a new sweater, a movie night – and decide as a family how you would like to use the extra money and/or time to help others.

SEMINARIES' APPEAL: SPECIAL COLLECTION

This weekend, our parish is conducting the annual Seminaries' Appeal. A special collection will be taken at all weekend Masses.

As a stewardship parish, we do not typically take up second collections. In lieu of this, our Stewardship Committee approves a generous donation from our regular offertory on behalf of the parishioners of St. Thomas More. However, for next weekend's Seminaries' Appeal, the Archdiocese of Denver has mandated that a second collection be taken.

Your gift serves a twofold purpose: expressing gratitude for today's priests by helping pass on their legacy of pastoral ministry to the priests of tomorrow and encouraging our seminarians on their path to the priesthood. Kyle Tannehill, seminarian for the Archdiocese of Denver will be speaking at all the Masses as part of the Appeal.

Please visit archden.org/futurepriests for more information. THANK YOU for your generosity and prayerful support of our seminarians!
