Sacred Heart Church

Our Lady of Perpetual Help

Holy Rosary Chapel

Dear Believers in the Christ,

Mark 9:38-43,47-48, challenges us to follow Jesus with urgency. We live with the expectation from Jesus Christ that our focus is to remain on the Kingdom of God, and we are to help others find that conviction. We seek healing for the sake of the Kingdom. We seek love and justice even if we are to put our humanity aside. There is an exaggeration in this text that is hard to imagine in our own lives. Yet, Jesus desires us to live with the full hope that our hearts and actions are set on the path of justice for people and the richness of eternal life for even the sinner and the outcast.

When I served at Sacred Heart in the mid-1980's, I proclaimed this text at the Saturday evening Mass. The church was filled with people. In those days, I used various physical props often to support a point of a homily. A psychologist and her daughters were sitting in the front pew that evening. A woman suffering from mental anguish was sitting halfway down the church in the middle of the pew.

So, each time I read a shocking line, "If your hand causes you to sin, cut it off," the woman in anguish yelled at the top of her lungs, "No, Father, don't do it!" She yelled out every time she felt threatened by the text. No one in the assembly flinched. No one seemed to react to the emotion of the woman who was appalled by the gospel.

After I proclaimed the complete gospel, I walked down to the psychologist and asked her to help the woman who had screamed out. She looked at me puzzled. I asked her what the matter was. She said to me, "Oh, I thought she was one of your props!"

Now, after all these years, I remember that moment every time I read this gospel. I think of the woman in anguish who had a genuine emotional reaction to this story in the gospel. That woman can teach us how to listen to this text and the dramatic stories of Jesus. We need to be appalled at this text. This story should wake us up. We have all grown too familiar with these gospels and have yet to fully understand the ramifications of the story itself. We should all be screaming out in our pews, "No, Father, don't cut off your hand!"

Jesus rouses fear to get our attention because he desires us to live virtuous lives here on earth. He invites us to help others to do likewise. His commands to us are countercultural. He desires justice in our relationships and in our systems on earth. He commands we act for the good of people and the good of the earth. He wants us to live for the common good and to put his Kingdom first in every action on earth. Jesus demands that we preach with authenticity so to help all people achieve his gift of eternal life.

If our preaching or actions are false, then it would be better if a great millstone were to be put around our necks and cast into the sea. No person could survive the sea with a millstone around the neck. The weight of our wrong intentions against other people bears an enormous weight in our faith. Christ desires us to lift others from sin, division, and injustice.

This gospel story strikes us like a swift sword. It wakes us up to our own actions in Christ. Let us be vigilant in Christ's desire for every person to be with him in paradise.

"Whoever causes one of these little ones who believe in me to sin, it would be better for him if a great millstone were put around his neck and he were thrown into the sea."

God give you peace,
Fr. Ron Raab, CSC, Pastor

St. André House Fundraiser

There will be a fundraiser for St. André House on the weekend of Oct. 23 & 24 after all Masses at Sacred Heart. Fr. Ron will be selling over 200 of his original paintings (not the Stations of the Cross). On Saturday, Oct. 23 there will be refreshments and live music. More details coming soon.

You can also make a contribution to the Restore Our Heart Capital Campaign by giving on our online giving platform or on our Ministry One online giving app. Contributions can also be dropped in the collection basket at Mass (be sure to mark them for the Sacred Heart Capital Campaign) or mailed directly to the Sacred Heart Parish Office, Attn: Business Manager, 2021 W. Pikes Peak Ave., Colorado Springs, CO 80904. Thank you for your support!

Please Note: The Colorado Springs Diocese's policy on the Sign of Peace at Mass has not yet been restored due to COVID-19. Until we hear from Bishop Golka, we will not be offering the Sign of Peace at any of the Masses in our three churches. Thank you for your consideration.

Reflection

You might remember me saying once that Hophni and Phineas, the two sons of Eli in the First Book of Samuel, were my favorite names in the Bible. They are. After them come Shadrack, Meshach and Abednego from the Book of Daniel. They're just fun to say! (Or even sing. Check out Louis Armstrong's song about them on Youtube.)

But a close third might be Eldad and Medad. They are two men about whom Joshua complains to Moses when they begin to prophesy in God's name. Yet Moses says in response, "Would that all the people of the LORD were prophets!" (Numbers 11:19)

Why is their story important? Well, it comes near the end of Moses' life, and the big question was who will take over? Through whom will the authority of God now come to the people of Israel? Eventually, Joshua himself was chosen as Moses' successor, to bring the people over the Jordan River into the Promised Land, but others, including the prophets, later spoke the Word of God.

For us Catholics, the apostolic succession from Peter (the "Rock") down to our own day with Pope Francis has been fairly clear over the centuries. Orthodox churches and, later Martin Luther and others, however, have "protested" against that line of authority.

Other religions have had their share of questions of authority as well. The Sunni and Shiites have been at odds since the death of Mohammed, when one of Mohammed's cousins contested the legitimacy of one of Mohammed's disciples in taking over after the prophet's death.

In the gospel today, Jesus tells us, "Whoever is not against us is for us." (Mark 9:40)

Too often, in our divided Church, we point at others and say, you are not the authentic voice of God. Some Catholics even question the pope! But it would be better if a millstone were tied around our neck! Similarly, we should not worry about the Eldads and Medads who try to call people to holiness. We should instead be concerned over whether we ourselves are listening to the Word of God.

We pray each day for our daily bread. When we are provided it, do we recognize it? Do we want it? Do we say, with our Israelite ancestors in faith, "What is this?" Let's consider together the bread God provides and how we do, or do not, receive it. Let's consider if we even recognize as bread the daily gift for which we pray.

Welcome, Season of Creation 2021!

“A home for all? Renewing the Oikos of God.”

Celebrate the Feast Day of St. Francis October 4!

Laudato Si' means “Praised be thou,” and is the repeated line in Saint Francis' Canticle of the Sun, also known as the Canticle of the Creatures, published in the 13th century. It is an affirmation of Saint Francis's personal theology, as he often referred to the animals, the heavenly bodies, and the elements as brothers and sisters to humankind, through whom we praise God. He rejected material accumulation and sensual comforts in favor of “Lady Poverty.” You can listen to and study this beautiful poem at: <http://franciscanseculars.com/the-canticle-of-the-creatures>

Consider how you'd like to celebrate this Feast Day, or engage year round:

Make a small change in your life, such as prayerfully reflecting upon the topic, abstaining from meat on Fridays year-round, cleaning up your neighborhood with friends and family, or donating to the Marian House. This month our parish is collecting packages of men's underwear for our homeless neighbors. There are so many things we can do to reduce our impact on the planet and to care for the poor, the marginalized, and the indigenous.

Make a big change in your life by reading the Laudato Si', becoming a Laudato Si' Animator, or participating in a Creation Care Team at our parish.

Study the materials shared at the following sites:

- Read about the seven years and seven themes of the Laudato Si' Action Platform for all dioceses in the USA at www.godsplanet.us
- Discover many ways to get involved at www.catholicclimatecovenant.org
- Join the Laudato Si' Facebook group (look for the image of the planet Earth on a leaf).
- The Laudato Si' is the first encyclical addressed to all peoples of the Earth. Google “creation care” and any faith group you desire, from Baptists to Buddhists, to see how other peoples of faith are participating all over the globe!
- Let the Parish Office know you'd like to be further involved!

Following the instruction of Pope Francis' encyclical Laudato Si', Sacred Heart Parish has committed to creating a Creation Care Team at our parish. To begin, we would like to educate parishioners on the Laudato Si' encyclical. On Sunday, Oct. 31, Nov. 21 & Dec. 19, parishioner Liz Groothof Croddy will lead a discussion from 10:10-11:25 am in Room 4 of the Parish Center. (Adult Faith Formation will not be meeting on those dates). All are welcome to join us to learn more on caring for our common home.

Liturgical Minister Training: We need more Liturgical Ministers at Sacred Heart! Registered parishioners are welcome to serve in these liturgical ministries: Sacristan, Hospitality, Altar Server (age 9 and older, children and adults), Proclaimer, Extraordinary Minister of Holy Communion (EMHC – age 16 or older), Choir and Cantor.

Training is for new and current ministers (unless noted below) and will take place in Sacred Heart Church.

Tuesday, Oct. 5, 6:30 – 8pm, Hospitality Ministry— greeting, take up/organize offertory collection, bulletins, tidy the church after Mass. Wednesday, Oct. 6, 6:30 – 8pm, Sacristan training— set up and clean up after Mass. Tuesday, Oct. 12, 6:30 – 8pm, Altar server training— assist the presider during Mass. Tuesday, Oct. 19, 6:30 – 8pm, Extraordinary Minister of Holy Communion- EMHC— assist with distribution of the Body of Christ during Mass. Training for new ministers only. Tuesday, Oct. 26, 6:30 – 8pm, Proclaimer— proclaim the Old and New Testament scriptures/ lead Universal Prayer during Mass. Training for new ministers only.

To volunteer, contact Sue at 719-633-8711 x102 or sgerlach@sacredheartcos.org.
