2nd Sunday
in Ordinary Time

Dear Believers,

In John 2:1-11, we enter the wedding at Cana. We overhear the conversation about the amount of wine and its quality with Jesus and Mary. The wedding feast in this gospel is far greater than our earthly image of marriage. There is something deeper here.

Jesus' passion, death, and resurrection are called the Paschal Mystery. This is the center of our faith. This is what we celebrate at every Eucharist, every Sunday. An image of the Paschal Mystery is commonly referred to as the marriage of heaven and earth. Jesus' resurrection is the new life and covenant of God and God's people. This marriage of redemption, of forgiveness of sin, of life beyond the grave, is a marriage union with God and us on earth.

If we consider this gospel concerning the Paschal Mystery, then it opens our path to such a gift. Last week, Jesus was baptized, and that moment was the beginning of his earthly ministry. This is his first miracle, changing water into wine. If we see this water and wine in the perspective of the Paschal Mystery, then the wine becomes his real presence. He is the new covenant. He becomes the miracle. He becomes the love we desire, the bridegroom. The good wine that comes well into the celebration is Jesus himself. He is the love that enables us a new covenant with God and with God's people in the Church.

The miracle of this good wine is Jesus himself, his suffering, and his new life. Before he died, he took the Cup, shared it with his disciples and invited them to do that action in memory of him, always until the end of the world. The Cup is also a metaphor of his shedding blood, the New Covenant. When we partake of his Precious Blood at Mass, we give over everything in our lives to serve him, to love him, to act in the world with dignity and hope. The Cup of Salvation is available to us in the Eucharist, the wedding of heaven and earth.

Mary is wringing her hands about the fact that the wine is running out at the wedding feast. Jesus says to her, "Woman, how does your concern affect me? My hour has not yet come." This story in the second chapter of John already has deep theology about who Jesus is and what he can do for the world. Even his mother does not quite understand where he is going and what will happen to him.

The large amount of water that becomes wine is also an image of Jesus' presence in our world. His grace is overflowing. His love is beyond imagining. His life outpoured for the sake of the world is what we should be paying attention to in the story of this gospel. In other words, there is enough of God's mercy to go around. There is enough love, tenderness, and peace so that everyone will have their fill. The Holy Spirit will enable all people to sip from this Cup of Salvation. All will be well, not just in the story of the wedding feast, but for us all on earth and for all eternity.

After this miracle, the gospel says that Jesus' glory is revealed. It also states that his disciples began to believe in him. Imagine that day, the hope for the disciples that they did not leave everything for nothing. There is much for them to learn and even more for us to consider in our lives of faith and service in Christ Jesus.

God give you peace,
Fr. Ron Raab, CSC, Pastor

Week of Prayer for Christian Unity

Join Catholics and many faithful from Christian denominations around the world for the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity, January 18-25. The theme for 2022 is "We Saw the Star in the East, and We Came To Worship Him."

Like the Magi who braved the perils of a long and dangerous journey to find the Christ child, our Christian brothers and sisters in the Middle East face many hardships as they strive to live out their faith in Christ. Our prayer in solidarity with their suffering is a light of hope and communion.

The Week of Prayer for Christian Unity began as an eight-day period of prayer called the Church Unity Octave and was established by founders of the Society of the Atonement, Mother Lurana White, SA, and Servant of God Father Paul of Graymoor. Learn more at www.atonementfriars.org.

Reflection

There are different kinds of spiritual gifts but the same Spirit. (1 Cor 12:4)

When scholars study Scripture, they use certain methodologies, often called hermeneutics. (Because saying something with a fancy Greek word always makes you sound smarter!) One of my favorite hermeneutics is called the hermeneutic of suspicion, which is simply another way of being skeptical about WHY an author is saying what is being said.

An example of hermeneutics of suspicion would be to ask why is there a law against adultery or stealing? The answer is because some people were in fact committing adultery or stealing, and God didn't approve. You only have rules if you want to control some behavior. Basically, you don't need a rule against something if no one's actually doing it!

St. Paul goes out of his way to stress that different people have different gifts, but that we're all still part of the same Body of Christ. He assures us that all gifts, whether of faith, healing, prophecy, or speaking in tongues, are good. No one is better than another, as they all come from the same Lord.

So the hermeneutic of suspicion has us ask the question, "Why did Paul need to say this?" And the answer is because some people thought they were "better" than others because of the gifts they themselves had. They set themselves up as closer to God because of what they could do.

We need to remember this hermeneutic, and this teaching from Paul. No one is better than any other person. I always balk at the description of someone as a "really great person." Well, maybe that person has been given very appealing gifts of charm, or friendliness, or charity. But that doesn't detract from any other person. God sees all of us as beloved children, each with our own unique gifts, even if these gifts don't seem to be so flashy or so popular.

As long as each of us tries to use what personality traits and gifts we have for the sake of others, as long as each of us tries to imitate Jesus in our willingness to forgive and care for our neighbor, then each of us can be sure that our gifts come from the Lord.

—Fr. Randy Rentner, CSC, Associate Pastor

What are parishioners doing with Fr. Ron's art from the art sale??

Would you like to share what you have done with Fr. Ron's art that you purchased from the art sale? Send a picture (and even a short description of why you purchased that specific piece) to communications@sacredheartcos.org.

"I purchased this beautiful piece at the art show. It immediately drew me in. The eyes of Jesus and the colors radiated the Lord's kindness, wisdom, and beauty.

My young friend, Kierra, also said something so wise of this painting, 'At first you see a beautiful swirl of colors, but when you look closer you see the face of Jesus.'

And then she added that this is often how our life of faith is— sometimes we have to look closer in order to see Him, as He is always present to us."

Prayer to end Racism

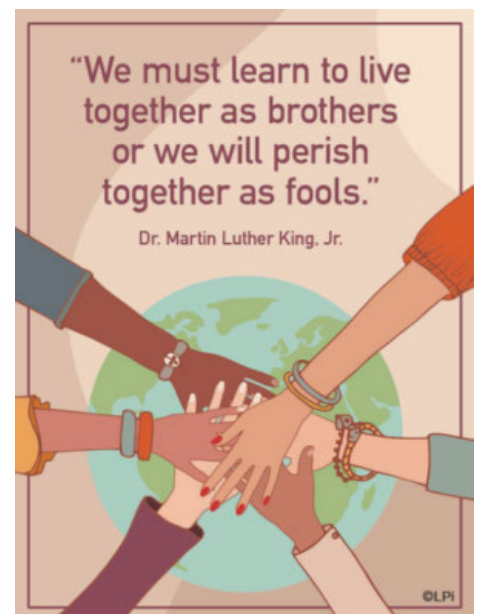

Good and gracious God, Who loves and delights in all people, we stand in awe before You, knowing that the spark of life within each person on earth is the spark of your divine life.

Differences among cultures and races are multicolored manifestations of Your Light.

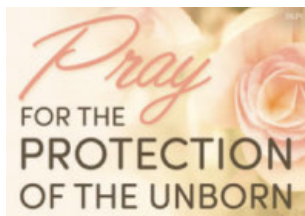

May our hearts and minds be open to celebrate similarities and differences among our sisters and brothers.

We place our hopes for racial harmony in our committed action and in Your Presence in our Neighbor.

May all peoples live in Peace. Amen.
