In the midst of yet another cold winter, we are reminded of the power of God's light which dispels darkness and gives us hope as we celebrate Christ's birth. You, dear parishioners, are a sign of that hope and give us cause for joy. Thank you for all of your abundant kindness to us clergy this season. While we pray for the stamina to hold up our community, it is times like these when we remember it is a team effort which finds us being held up by you! For every card, word, and gift, we are immensely grateful! God bless you and Merry Christmas!

In His Joy, Fr. Daniel, Deacon Jerry & Deacon Donald

Padre's Corner

Dear family,

It has been said that the most zealous and faithful Catholics are those who have converted to our Faith. I think I would agree with this statement for the most part and while I hold it's always better to be raised with the Faith and grown alongside it, there's an unmistakable wonder and awe in the eyes of a person who has newly discovered the Catholic way of life. The words of the liturgy, each season, and the experience of the Sacraments draw in those who are prepared to really pray, listen, and watch for the first time. We their elder brothers and sisters, on the other hand, can get a little too comfortable in what we may view as routine ritual, and we can leave behind that sense of wonder which make our experiences more meaningful. Today we celebrate men of wonder, who were certainly open to being led on a path of truth into uncharted waters. Even in their words, "We saw his star at its rising and have come to do him homage," you can pick up on the excitement in their hearts. They're primed for a miracle. This Christmas season is the ideal time to ask God to renew our hearts to appreciate His presence all the more. It's high time we realize that wonder is not just for children but is especially necessary for the mantra man/woman of faith. Because wonder leads to awe, awe to gratitude, and gratitude to worship, which is our ultimate end in this life!

In His Joy, Fr. Daniel
