Saint Jerome, Priest and Doctor of the Church: Feast Day Monday September 30th, St. Jerome is best known for translating the Bible into Latin, a version known as the Vulgate. Jerome was prolific writer beyond his translation work. His commentaries on the Bible are extensive, and he corresponded with many of the leading intellectuals of his time. He is the patron saint of librarians, scholars, and students, an apt choice given his lifelong dedication to study education.

REFLECTION: TWENTY-SIXTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

The readings teach us about the presence of God’s spirit, the right use of wealth, and the importance of recognizing good works in others. These lessons remind us to stay humble, be generous, and be inclusive. Reflecting on these themes helps us grow in our faith. In the first reading, God’s spirit rests on Eldad and Medad, even though they were not at the gathering. This surprises everyone, including Moses. Moses explains that God can choose anyone to share His spirit. In the second reading, James gives a strong warning to the rich. He condemns those who hoard wealth and exploit others. He emphasizes that wealth should be used to help others. In the Gospel, the disciples see someone casting out demons in Jesus’ name and try to stop him. Jesus tells them not to stop him because anyone who is not against us is for us. Jesus emphasizes that good works done in His name are valuable. We should not be quick to judge others who are doing good work, even if they are not part of our group.

The second part of today's Gospel contains a strong message for those who share the responsibility of fostering faith. It is indeed an awesome responsibility. Today's Gospel reminds us that faith is a lifelong journey toward God. We don't always get it all or even get it right. But we pray for the grace to acknowledge and build upon the smallest signs of faith, in ourselves and in others. There are plenty of obstacles that might prevent the growth of faith. Let us pray that we are not contributing to the obstacles that might hinder another person's faith in Jesus. As you gather as a family, observe that there are things in our lives that nurture our faith and things that can hinder it. Talk about some of the things that nurture our faith; healthy family relationships, healthy friendships, good literature, and so on.

SUNDAY GOSPEL REFLECTION

First Reading: Numbers 11:25-29 The Lord bestows his spirit on the seventy elders.

Responsorial Psalm: 19:8,10,12,-13,14 The Law of the Lord brings joy.

Second Reading: James 5:1-6 James chastises the rich.

Gospel Reading: Mark 9:38-43,45,47-48 Jesus teaches that whoever is not against him is for him.

Today we continue to read from the Gospel of Mark. Recall that last week we heard Jesus chastise his disciples for their argument about who among them was the greatest. Jesus taught them that the greatest among them will be those who serve the least ones. In today's Gospel, the disciple John questions Jesus about an unknown exorcist who was driving out demons in Jesus' name. John's question might have been motivated by jealousy. Previously in Mark's Gospel, Jesus healed a boy whom the disciples had been unable to heal. John's question is further evidence that the disciples have not yet grasped Jesus' words to them. They continue to compare themselves to others who seem to have greater healing powers, and they do not want to share the power of Jesus' name with others. Today the demon possession described in the Gospels might be seen as a form of mental illness, but the need for healing these syndromes was as real then as it is now. Exorcism was a common practice in the first century, Palestine. The disciples observed that the unknown exorcist invoked Jesus' name and was successful in his healing efforts. This unknown healer recognized the power of Jesus' name, yet he was not a follower of Jesus. In his reply to his disciples, Jesus acknowledges that deeds of faith can precede the words of faith. He also teaches that the disciples should not be reluctant to share Jesus' healing powers with others. Later in the Gospel, Jesus teaches us not to create obstacles for those who are just beginning to have faith but to encourage even the smallest signs in faith. The Greek word used here for sin also connotes "stumbling" or "causing scandal." In vivid terms Jesus teaches his disciples the consequences to those who would put obstacles before people who are on the road to faith.
