Saint Peter Damian, Bishop and Doctor of the Church: Feast Day Friday February 21st, As a monk, he lived a secluded life of prayer and extreme penance. His penances were so severe that they affected his health more than once. Saint Damien of Molokai is the patron saint of people with leprosy. He was a Catholic priest who devoted his life to caring for people with leprosy in Hawaii. He is known for his compassion, provided spiritual, physical, and emotional comfort to those suffering from incurable diseases.

REFLECTION: SIXTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME:

The Sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time; focuses on themes of trust, resurrection, and true happiness. The readings highlight the importance of relying on God and the hope found in Jesus Christ’s resurrection. Jeremiah warns against trusting in human strength and calls for trust in God. True happiness comes from relying on God, not on ourselves. The readings encourage us to trust in God and find hope in Jesus’ resurrection. They remind us that true happiness is found in faith and reliance on God, not in worldly things. Jesus offers hope to the poor, hungry, and sorrowful, promising them God’s kingdom and future joy. He warns the rich and satisfied to be careful, as wealth and comfort can lead to forgetting God and others. The readings encourage caring for those in need and remembering that all good things come from God. Through sharing and kindness we move closer to God’s Kingdom. Living like Jesus leads to true happiness. It encourages us to think about what truly makes us blessed.

Today's Gospel offers a contrast to many of the messages we hear in our society today. If we were to accept uncritically the "get ahead" messages of our culture, we would think that happiness means having money, being successful, and having many possessions. In this way, we are not unlike the people who heard Jesus teach on the day that he taught the Beatitudes. They too associated happiness with possessions and success. The report of the Beatitudes in Luke's Gospel, However, takes things one step further. Not only will we not find happiness through the "get ahead" messages of the world, but relying upon these messages will cause us harm. The warnings spoken are particularly challenging because they suggest that our way of life must change if we are to gain the lasting happiness of eternal life.

SUNDAY GOSPEL REFLECTION

First Reading: Jeremiah 17:5-8 Put trust and hope in the Lord, not in human beings.

Responsorial Psalm: 1:1-4,6 Blessed are those who follow the law of the Lord.

Second Reading: 1 Corinthians 15:12,16-20 Our hope for resurrection is sure because Christ has been raised from the dead.

Gospel Reading: Luke 6:17,20-26 Jesus teaches the crowd the way to happiness.

Today's gospel reading is the beginning of what is often called the Sermon on the Plain. When spoken from the mountaintop in Matthew's Gospel, we can't miss the impression that Jesus is speaking with the authority and voice of God. The mountaintop is a symbol of closeness to God. Those who ascend the mountain see God and speak for God; recall the story of Moses and the Ten Commandments. As Luke introduces the location of Jesus' teaching, Jesus teaches on level ground, alongside the disciples and the crowd. Luke presents Jesus' authority in a different light. He is God among us. Another distinction found in Luke's version is the audience. Luke's Sermon on the Plain is addressed to Jesus' disciples, although in the presence of the crowd; Matthew's Sermon on the Mount is addressed to the crowd. In keeping with this style, the Beatitudes in Luke's Gospel sound more personal than those in Matthew's Gospel, Luke uses the articles "you" whereas Matthew uses "they" or "those." There is also a difference in number: Matthew describes eight beatitudes; Luke presents just four, each of which has a parallel warning. As we listen to this Gospel, the Beatitudes jar our sensibilities. Those who are poor, hungry, weeping, or persecuted are called blessed. This is, a Gospel of reversals. Those often thought to have been forgotten by God are called blessed. Riches, possessions, laughter, reputation; these are not things that we can depend upon as sources of eternal happiness. The Beatitudes are often described as a framework for Christian living. Our vocation as Christians is not to be first in this world, but rather to be first in the eyes of God.
