REFLECTION: SIXTEENTH SUNDAY OF

ORDINARY TIME: In the Gospel, Jesus tells the story of a Sower whose enemy plants weeds among the good seeds. When the servants ask if they should immediately go and pull up the weeds, the master wisely instructs them to let both grow together until the harvest. It is human nature to want to aggressively fix everything that is broken in the world around us and within ourselves immediately. This parable teaches us to have patience. God is the ultimate Judge and Gardener. He allows good and evil to coexist for a time, trusting in the ultimate victory of the harvest. The First Reading emphasizes that God’s might is shown through His clemency. Because God is patient with our own human flaws and “weeds,” we are called to show that same grace and mercy to others, rather than rushing to judge or condemn. It can often be difficult to know how to navigate the complexities of life when to act, when to wait, or how to pray. This week dedicate time to Prayer let the Holy Spirit guide your anxieties before acting.

PARABLE OF THE WHEAT & WEEDS

FAMILY CONNECTION

Taken together, the parables found in today's Gospel offer both a sobering reminder about the Kingdom of God and words of encouragement. As the wheat and the weeds must grow together until the harvest, so we may not know whether our actions contribute to God's Kingdom until God's final judgement. With this word of caution in mind, we act always in prayer that our actions will be consistent with God's plans. In the parables of the mustard seed and the yeast, we hear words of encouragement. God can bring the Kingdom of Heaven from even the smallest beginnings. Thus, we ask God to work through us for the sake of the Kingdom of Heaven. In these parables, Jesus is teaching us that God can work wonders from even the smallest beginnings of the Kingdom of God. This means little things can make a big difference.

SUNDAY GOSPEL REFLECTION

First Reading: Wisdom 12:13,16-19 God has shown himself to be a God of Justice and mercy.

Responsorial Psalm: 86:5-6,9-10,15-16 A prayer to God for mercy.

Second Reading: Romans 8:26-27 The Spirit intercedes for us with God.

Gospel Reading: Matthew 13:24-43 Jesus offers parables about the Kingdom of Heaven and explains them to his disciples.

In today's Gospel, Jesus offers three parables to describe the Kingdom of Heaven. He also explains why he speaks to the crowds in parables and interprets the parable of the Sower for the disciples. This reading is a continuation of Jesus' discourse that we began reading last Sunday. All three parables use commonplace experiences to describe aspects of the Kingdom of Heaven. The first parable is longer and more detailed than the next two, and it alerts us to the two-fold reality of the Kingdom of Heaven. The beginnings of the Kingdom of Heaven can be found in this world. The fruition of the Kingdom of Heaven, however, will not be realized until the final judgement. In the meantime, as Jesus' explanation to the disciples cautions, any effort to judge the progress of the Kingdom of Heaven is premature. Only God, in the final judgement, will distinguish the fruit of the Kingdom of Heaven and offer its reward. The second and third parables call to our attention the abundance that will result from the small beginnings of the Kingdom of Heaven. Just as a mustard seed the smallest of all seeds will become a large bush. So too God will bring his Kingdom to full bloom. As a small amount of yeast will leaven the entire batch of bread, so too God will bring about the expansion of his Kingdom. In each case the image is of the superabundance that God brings out of even the smallest of signs of the Kingdom. Contained within these parables are words of caution as well as words of consolation. In the parable of the Sower we are warned against judging others. To judge and uproot the "weeds" prematurely will harm the wheat; final judgement rest with God.
