Welcome

FOOD FOR FAITH LIVING FROM THE DESK OF FR. MARK

We are the beneficiaries of time, discernment and fulfillment of promises which ancient people lacked in the rollercoaster ride of responding to God's covenant with them. They enjoyed times of security and peace and lengthy periods of captivity, exile, suffering. The essence of this? God is a faithful, merciful God ever willing to forgive, restore and invite renewal of the Covenant and Its' "truth which sets us free!" Isaiah (1st rd.) message from, God as people were freed from exile, is coded in names, significant to their understanding. "Jerusalem (Israel) will no longer be called Forsaken, Desolate, but My (God) delight!" The beautiful, symbolic meaning is, "as a young man marries a woman, Your Builder will marry you and rejoice in you!"

They returned, full of hope. Eventually, they wavered and rebelled anew. Such is our human frailty displayed. Much later, when God joins us in a human life, will the promise be fulfilled, the kingdom has come and all who believe are invited to live the Good News by sharing and giving It to others. This is our Baptism lived as God desires. St. Paul (2nd rd.) tells us how. It is through the Holy Spirit that we are able to understand, accept, give thanks for and live "the truth which sets us free!" Sadly, it is a truth we are free to reject, ignore or pay lip service to. Paul expresses our individual uniqueness, blessed with various gifts and talents, all intended to be given to others in the myriad ways love is life-giving to us and others when we gift each other with the true gift, Me!

St. John's purpose (Gospel) was to explain the meaning and purpose of Jesus and our response to Him. "He is the Word of God made flesh!" God with, for and in us! Revealing the sacredness of this Mystery (God), we hear the first occasion where Jesus offers us a true sign of Who He is. He accompanies His Mother to a wedding and saves the bridal couple from embarrassment. The wine runs out. Mary requests Jesus to do something. He does, changing the container, filled with water, into fine wine. This act caused His disciples "to believe in Him." They will deepen their belief when they receive the gifts of the Holy Spirit. Such is our calling and response when we invite the Spirit to enlighten, encourage and inspire us to do what God asks, love one another. This extends beyond blood family. We are all brother and sisters in God's Family. How shall we live this truth which gives us meaning and purpose? God tells us "not to be afraid in making our response."
