Prayer For a New Parish Home

Lord, help us in our endeavor to build a new home. Enlighten us to see how You are leading us, both as a Church and as a family. Why Are You Catholic?

Firstly, I am Catholic because I had the blessing of my parents getting me baptized when I was a wee baby. Then, as I grew up, I got confirmed. My parents always strove to take my brothers and I to Sunday Mass. Furthermore, at the prompting of my dad, I became an altar server when I was just starting high school.

Although it may not be the most stellar upbringing, it was a great gift, nonetheless. Up to this point, I still had not paid much attention at all during mass; most of the time my mind was somewhere else, but my family and I always went –it was what we did.

Eventually, however, a time comes where the parents cannot choose for their child and each person must make their own decision: "Do I want to stay Catholic?" Or others who grew up in a different faith, or even no faith at all, who learn or hear about the Catholic Church may ask at some point in their lives: "Do I want to become Catholic?" My answer was: "I see no reason to leave, it seems I have everything I need here." As I have learned more about the faith, I have grown to understand that the Catholic Church is the true Church founded by Jesus Christ. This is the Church where Jesus Christ is present in His Body, Blood, Soul, and Divinity. This is the Church where I encountered Christ. Eventually I grew to say: "Wherever You are Jesus, is where I want to be." He replies, "I am here. This is My Church." He has never led me anywhere else.

As a seminarian, some days are very trying. The only way to survive is the narrow way. Jesus did not say it was easy or difficult, He said it was impossible –for man; for God, all things are possible. So, I lean heavily on Him every day through mass. I lean heavily on His Mother in the rosary. In the midst of this, I, like the Israelites being led by God into the desert, leaving their past lives behind, have asked myself: "Am I going to survive, or am I going to die in this desert deprived of everything? Will I be able to have fun, or is it going to be miserable the whole time? Can I be myself, or must I be fake?" The Lord has provided for everything that I truly needed. As I reflect, it turns me back to Jesus, saying in a deeper way: "Jesus, I trust in You!"
