Easter Sunday of the Resurrection

First Reading: Acts 10: 34a, 37 - 43

Responsorial Psalm: 118: 1 - 2, 16 - 17, 22 - 23

"This is the day the Lord has made; let us rejoice and be glad."

Second Reading: Col 3: 1 - 4

Gospel: John 20: 1 - 9

Today's gospel acclamation calls us to "feast with joy in the Lord." How does your family keep the Easter feast?

Going Deeper to Understand the Gospel

The beginning of this gospel reading shows Mary of Magdala coming to the tomb early in the morning while it is still dark. The narrative quickly shifts to what is unusual about the scene—Mary noticing that the stone had been removed from the tomb. Without a doubt, that is a tremendous and paradigm-shifting occurrence. When Simon Peter and the other disciple arrive at the tomb and realize that Jesus is no longer dead and no longer housed in the dark tomb, one layer of this incredible event is unveiled. Christ's physical resurrection demonstrates the mighty power of God. We bear witness to God's abiding love for humankind, a love that declares "I love you so much that I will journey with you unto death and bring you out on the other side."

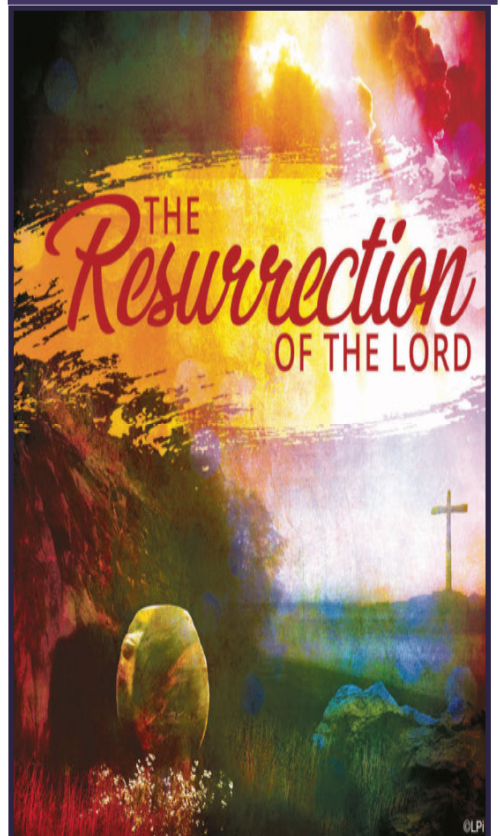

The Easter story is overflowing with miracles, and perhaps one such miracle is that Mary and the disciples exhibit a love and devotion that was not extinguished by fear or by a gruesome and humiliating death. What love, what tenacity of spirit compels one to return and willingly encounter profound trauma again and again? Even without fully understanding what Jesus meant when He said that He would rise again, Mary of Magdala and the disciples returned to the tomb believing that their love held significance regardless of whether it could change the circumstances.

Let us nurture the hope that lives within our hearts while also placing our trust and our joy in the resurrection God has in store for us—whatever its form.

The empty tomb.

He is Risen!
