Pastoral Reflexions from the desk of our Pastor Fr. Luke Barder, O.P.

Happy Sunday!

"Sorry," Jesus tells James and John in today's Gospel, "Seats're taken." Being at the right and left of Jesus was already prepared for the two thieves (one repentant, one not) who would be crucified with him. Yet, being who he is, Jesus knows that James and John will have to face the same kind of "passion" as he will. Remember in the Garden when Jesus pleads with God, "Father, let this cup pass from me, but not my will but your will be done" ? That's a tall order to drink from the same chalice as Christ. Just as it is to sit by his right and left.

Sometimes in our eagerness ("zeal" if you will), we bite off more than we can chew. It's like anything that requires any discipline: we might be gun-ho and "in it" and motivated, but then comes the normalcy, the routine, the moments where it's no longer "fun" or just don't feel like it any more. This is particularly true with regards to spiritual things: trying to estabilish a prayer routine, or commit to a Novena or regular Holy Hour only to have it fall by the wayside in a week's time (or less).

Jesus doesn't doubt James and John's intention, but prepared them for the reality that they will still need his strength and grace to get through these moments. That's why he died for us, took on what we couldn't. Jesus offers his will and power to fill the gaps in us, to make sure we still attain all the good things he made us for.

"Thank God!" right?!
Fr. Luke Barder, OP

Art & Environment

Artists needed! If you have experience in church enviornemnt or artistic ability - contact Gerard. "Consequently, the Church constantly seeks the noble assistance of the arts and admits the artistic expression of all peoples and regions. In fact, just as she is intent on preserving the works of art and the artistic treasures handed down from past centuries and, insofar as necessary, on adapting them to new needs, so also, she strives to promote new works of art that are in harmony with the character of each successive age."

Also - Lectors,
if you need a lector workbook for next year, please let me know so I can order them. Contact Gerard for any questions!

Reflexiones pastorales - del escritorio del Parróco P. Luke Barder, O.P.

¡Feliz domingo!

"Lo siento", dice Jesús a Santiago y a Juan en el Evangelio de hoy, "los asientos están ocupados". Estar a la derecha y a la izquierda de Jesús ya estaba preparado para los dos ladrones (uno arrepentido, otro no) que serían crucificados con él. Sin embargo, siendo quien es, Jesús sabe que Santiago y Juan tendrán que enfrentar el mismo tipo de "pasión" que él. ¿Recuerdas en el huerto cuando Jesús suplica a Dios: "Padre, que pase de mí este cáliz, pero no se haga mi voluntad sino la tuya"? Es mucho pedir beber del mismo cáliz que Cristo. Igual que lo es sentarse a su derecha y a su izquierda.

A veces, en nuestro afán ("celo" si se quiere), mordemos más de lo que podemos masticar. Es como todo lo que requiere una disciplina: podemos estar entusiasmados y motivados, pero luego llega la normalidad, la rutina, los momentos en los que ya no es "divertido" o simplemente ya no nos apetece. Esto es particularmente cierto con respecto a las cosas espirituales: tratar de establecer una rutina de oración, o comprometerse con una Novena o una Hora Santa regular sólo para que se quede en el camino en una semana (o menos).

Jesús no duda de la intención de Santiago y Juan, pero los preparó para la realidad de que seguirán necesitando su fuerza y su gracia para superar esos momentos. Por eso murió por nosotros, asumiendo lo que nosotros no podíamos. Jesús ofrece su voluntad y su poder para llenar los vacíos en nosotros, para asegurarse de que aún alcancemos todas las cosas buenas para las que nos hizo.

"¡Gracias a Dios!", ¿verdad?

Fr. Luke Barder, OP

Arte y medio ambiente

¡Se necesitan artistas! Si tienes experiencia en medio ambiente eclesiástico o capacidad artística - ponte en contacto con Gerard.

"En consecuencia, la Iglesia busca constantemente la noble ayuda de las artes y admite la expresión artística de todos los pueblos y regiones. En efecto, así como se esfuerza por conservar las obras de arte y los tesoros artísticos transmitidos por los siglos pasados y, en la medida en que sea necesario, por adaptarlos a las nuevas necesidades, también se esfuerza por promover nuevas obras de arte que estén en armonía con el carácter de cada época sucesiva."

También - Lectores, si necesitan un cuaderno de trabajo para lectores para el próximo año, por favor avísenme para que pueda pedirlos.

Póngase en contacto con Gerard para cualquier pregunta.
