“LIKE SHEEP WITHOUT A SHEPHERD,”

...what a powerful phrase, describing the shortcomings and needs of so many people who seek comfort and hope in the words and actions of Jesus. Those voids that so many of us experience when we have distanced ourselves from God and have tried to fill the absences with wrong presences. There is nothing that can quench the thirst and hunger that the soul experiences like allowing itself to be filled with God himself, because “He made us for Himself, and our hearts will be restless until they rest in Him.” (Saint Augustine)

The sheep need shepherds, people of God who are interested in the well-being of their brothers and sisters. People who seek to do the will of God over themselves and over the portion of the people entrusted by God to them. Humble and generous men and women who give themselves time and time again for Christ, the Gospel and the Church.

In today's gospel (Mk 6, 30-34) we see the apostles admiring themselves, for the things they have just done in the name of Christ. And along with the action comes the fatigue that comes with so much activity. Jesus is aware of the effort and exhaustion of the apostles, which is why he takes them to part of the crowd so that they can rest and recover, something so necessary to be able to continue serving and announcing the Kingdom of God revealed in Jesus Christ.

Let us thank God for those men and women who have guided and accompanied us along the path of faith. Let us ask God for all of them, so that they always have the strength and wisdom necessary to continue serving the Church, announcing the Gospel and loving Jesus Christ, for whom one day they left everything and decided to follow him.

Fr. Carlos Flores, OSA

“COMO OVEJAS SIN PASTOR”,

... qué frase tan llena de fuerza, describiendo carencias y necesidades de tantas personas que buscan consuelo y esperanzas en las palabras y acciones de Jesús. Esos vacíos que experimentamos tantos de nosotros cuando nos hemos alejado de Dios y hemos intentado llenar las ausencias con presencias equivocadas. No hay nada que pueda calmar la sed y el hambre que experimenta el alma como dejarse llenar de Dios mismo, pues “Él nos hizo para Él, y nuestro corazón estará inquieto hasta que descanse en él”. (San Agustín)

Las ovejas necesitan pastores, hombres de Dios que se interesen por el bienestar de sus hermanos y hermanas. Hombres que busquen hacer la voluntad de Dios sobre ellos mismos y sobre la porción del pueblo confiado por Dios a ellos. Hombres humildes y generosos que se entregan una y otra vez por Cristo, el Evangelio y la Iglesia.

En el evangelio de hoy (Mc 6, 30-34) vemos a los apóstoles admirados de sí mismos, por las cosas que acaban de hacer en nombre de Cristo. Y junto a la acción surge el cansancio propio de tanta actividad. Jesús es consciente del esfuerzo y del agotamiento de los apóstoles, por eso los lleva a parte de la multitud para que puedan descansar y reponerse, algo tan necesario como para poder seguir sirviendo y anunciando el Reino de Dios revelado en Jesucristo.

Demos gracias a Dios por aquellos hombres que como pastores nos han guiado y acompañado por el camino de la fe. Pidamos a Dios por todos ellos, para que cuenten siempre con las fuerzas y sabiduría necesarias para continuar sirviendo a la Iglesia, anunciando el Evangelio y amando a Jesucristo, por quien un día lo dejaron todo y decidieron seguirlo.
