Ministry of The Diocese of Oakland Supported by The Order of Malta®

Saturday, Feb. 12, 11 a.m.

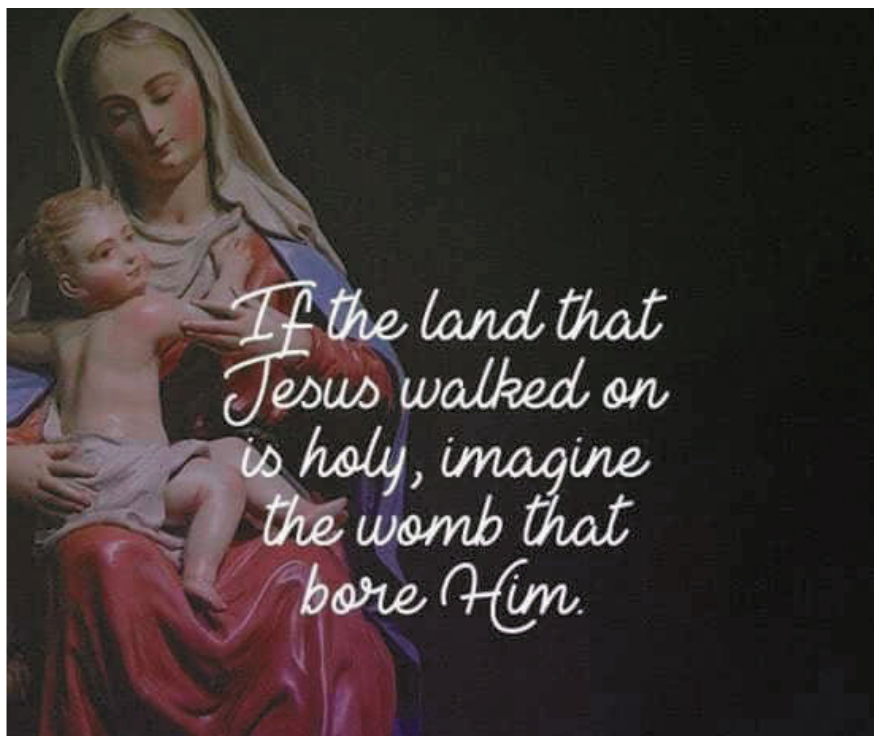

The Cathedral of Christ the Light
2121 Harrison St., Oakland, CA 94612

World Day of the Sick, initiated by Pope St. John Paul II and held annually worldwide near the feast day of Our Lady of Lourdes, is a ministry of the Diocese of Oakland and Bishop Michael C. Barber, SJ.

Bishop Barber invites all who are sick or ill, as well as family members, caregivers and healthcare providers, to observe this day with him and many priests, religious and laity from throughout the diocese.

Please join us in this special opportunity to pray for healing and hope in this fragile population. This World Day of the Sick in Oakland will include:

- Mass
- Sacrament of anointing of the sick
- Blessing of caregivers and health care providers
- Distribution of holy water from Lourdes, France

If the land that Jesus walked on is holy, imagine the womb that bore Him.

Twelve word daily prayer:

Jesus, Son of the Living God, have mercy on me, a sinner.

Prayer doesn't change the world

Prayer changes people and

People change the world.

VATICAN CORNER

On January 11, 2021, Pope Francis made a surprise visit to “Stereosound”, a record shop in Rome near the famous Pantheon/ Basilica of St. Mary and the Martyrs. He came to see old friends - the owners of the shop that he knew from when he visited Rome as a priest, as an archbishop and as a cardinal, and stayed nearby in the Casa del Clero, a visiting clergy residence. He would visit their shop and buy classical music records, CDs and gifts. Francis arrived quietly at the shop at 7 pm in a white Fiat 500L, but soon attracted the attention of passers-by.

According to the Vatican press office, Pope Francis came to bless the shop which had recently been renovated. He spent about ten minutes there, looking around inside and blessed Letizia, the elderly owner, her son-in-law and her daughter. A small crowd gathered outside the shop, mainly youngsters, and they prepared to film the Pope on their smartphones when he exited. They peered through the shop windows and joked about what kind of music the Pope might like. The shop owner’s daughter gave Francis a gift of a 33 rpm record of classical music, and he quietly left with it. Reporter Javier Martínez-Brocal just happened to be there waiting for a taxi and captured the moment on video when Francis was leaving. The reporter’s video went viral on the new media. Afterwards, the reporter apologized to the Pope in a note, explaining that he was not a paparazzo and he regretted that Francis can’t move around unnoticed anymore. Pope Francis has lamented many times that he misses being able to take a walk in public and traveling on public transportation as he did in Buenos Aires before becoming Pope. The reporter also wrote that the story of the visit to the shop provided a much-needed dose of good news for a world inundated with tragedy. About the visit not remaining secret but instead going viral, Pope Francis said it was (bad luck) that after taking all the precautions, there was a journalist waiting for someone on the taxi line. But he added: “You can’t lose your sense of humor.” He then wrote back to the reporter acknowledging that he was only doing his job as a journalist when he recorded the event. He wrote “thank you for doing your vocation, even if it put the pope in difficulty,” he joked. Reporter Martínez-Brocal reacting to the Pope’s letter to him saying “I think the Pope recognizes the importance of a journalist’s job, even if it’s something uncomfortable for him or causes him problems.” “But he is grateful for this service of honestly recounting events as they happen.” But did that reporter just happen to be at the right place at the right time? A statistical analysis demonstrates the near impossibility of this happy accident. There are approximately 3 million residents and tourist in Rome. The probability of an ordinary resident taking the Pope’s picture is 0.0009%. There are around 200 journalists covering the Vatican, and the probability that one of them might accidentally bump into the pope while he is on a shopping trip is 0.000012%. The probability of being in Rome and also being in a semicircle in front of the shop with a radius of 10 meter to be able to take a picture is 0.000012%. The maximum wait for a Roman taxi is half an hour, given that the shop is open 8 hours a day, 300 days a year, then over the 8 year period of Francis as Pope, the shop was open a total of 38,400 half-hour periods. Therefore, the probability that one of the 200 Vatican reporters might run into the Pope while he is visiting a shop during business hours and be within a radius of 10 meters to be able to take the Pope’s picture is 0.000000062%. It seems more likely the report was tipped off.
