EVERYDAY STEWARDSHIP - RECOGNIZE GOD IN YOUR ORDINARY MOMENTS

Planted Near Water

We all know that there are times when life can feel, as Jeremiah writes, empty and wasted. There are moments when we think we resemble a barren bush, thirsting in the desert sun.

That's why it is imperative for us to know the location of our water source. I promise you, it's closer than you think. God never planted a seed in barren ground.

For me, it's the Mass. Going to Mass is where I find total peace and renewal. I don't have any great theological explanation for this — Mass is simply where I can truly rest in God for a time, where nothing and no one in the world can touch me. And wouldn't you know it, it's in the toughest times that I need Mass the most — that my roots stretch harder for that water.

Woe to the rich, says Jesus — woe to the popular, to the content, to the happy. It's not because He hates to see us smile. It's because He knows our humanity. He knows our limitations. He knows that when things are going really well, we often stop looking for God.

What replenishes you as a disciple, as a steward, as a Christian? If it feels far away or hard to reach, why is that? How can you bring it closer?

We are all trees planted near water, to yield our fruit in due season. Let's pray for the strength to know where our water source is, and to seek it both in good times and in bad.

— Tracy Earl Welliver, MTS

LA CORRESPONSABILIDAD DIARIA: RECONOCE A DIOS EN TUS MOMENTOS ORDINARIOS

Plantado Cerca del Agua

Todos sabemos que hay momentos en los que la vida puede sentirse, como escribe Jeremías, árida e inhabitable. Hay momentos en los que pensamos que nos parecemos a un arbusto estéril, sediento bajo el sol del desierto.

Por eso es imperativo que sepamos la ubicación de nuestra fuente de agua. Te lo prometo, está más cerca de lo que crees. Dios nunca plantó una semilla en terreno estéril.

Para mí, es la Misa. Ir a Misa es donde encuentro paz total y renovación. No tengo una gran explicación teológica para esto: la Misa es simplemente donde realmente puedo descansar en Dios por un tiempo, donde nada ni nadie en el mundo pueden tocarme. Y no vas a creerlo, es en los momentos más difíciles cuando más necesito de la Misa, que mis raíces se estiran más por el agua.

¡Ay de los ricos, dice Jesús! ¡Ay de los populares, de los contentos, de los felices! No es porque odie vernos sonreír. Es porque Él conoce nuestra humanidad. Él conoce nuestras limitaciones. Él sabe que cuando las cosas van realmente bien, a menudo dejamos de buscar a Dios.

¿Qué te reaviva como discípulo, como responsable, como cristiano? Si se siente lejos o difícil de alcanzar, ¿por qué? ¿Cómo puedes acercarlo?

Todos somos árboles plantados cerca del agua para dar nuestros frutos a su debido tiempo. Oremos por la fuerza para saber dónde está nuestra fuente de agua y para buscarla tanto en las buenas como en las malas.

- Tracy Earl Welliver, MTS

VATICAN CORNER

The Vatican earns money from the production of coins and it is one of its major sources of revenue. Sales of coins date back as far as the beginning of the 700s. In 1929 the Vatican state and the Kingdom of Italy entered into agreements known as the Lateran Pacts. Part of the agreements was that the Vatican's coins would be minted exclusively at the Roman Mint and those coins would be the same size, composition, and value as Italian coins, and would be accepted within the Vatican, Italy, and San Marino. The agreement also fixed the total value of coins that can be minted each year. Those agreements, with modifications, are still being kept today. Fifty-one percent of the total value of coins has to go into circulation, but the remainder is aimed at collectors. Because of the low number of coins produced, they are considered rarer than most, and are attractive to collectors as well as the religious.

Vatican coin sales do well in the market place, especially Italy, Germany, and throughout Europe. The Vatican is not a member of the European Union but since the year 2002 it has produced euro denominations which are also greatly sought after because of their rarity. Vatican euro coins have appreciated in value over time and this is not a result of increases in precious metal prices, but of limited supply and solid demand. Vatican coins are classified under which pope they were issued, and an image of that pope normally appears on each coin. However, starting in 2017 when Pope Francis no longer wanted his image on the coins, the coat of arms of the Vatican was substituted. Vatican coins also typically feature themes that reflect issues the pope at the time stressed, or often depict saints, Jesus, the Virgin Mary or biblical scenes. The coins issued under the papacy of St. John Paul II, are especially popular all over the world because he played an important role in promoting peaceful change in Eastern Europe. The design of a coin first starts when the artist makes a chalk model from his drawing. It is like a sculpture, 2 mm thick. Once the model is approved it is given to the Italian department that produces the coins. The model is stamped and a coin results. Each year, in the spring, the Vatican issues a mint set and a proof set of new uncirculated coins. Additionally 2-euro commemorative sets are produced in the fall of every year. But the Vatican only sells to an exclusive group of large coin dealers, and not to the general public. So collectors have to obtain coins from coin dealers and distributors. Mauro Olivieri, the director of the former Vatican's stamp and coin office explained that after 80 years, in 2020 his office was reorganized into new State departments to hopefully increase production, keep sales up and in a small way, transmit the faith. People collect Vatican coins for many reasons, such as because they feature Catholic images or events, because they are beautiful, are rare, retain or increase in value and display history. Coin collecting can also be relaxing and can leave a valuable inheritance for heirs. The Vatican benefits greatly from all those collected coins. Mauro Olivieri said each year; the Vatican earns more than 9,000,000 euros from their sales!
