Continued ... In the Western Church, when the sacrament of Confirmation came after Baptism and before the First Holy Communion, it was seen as a preparation to the full celebration with the community. Then in 1910 Pope Pius X made it so that seven years old children could receive First Communion. So Confirmation then became the last of the three Sacraments of Initiation leading to the Eucharist. Pope Paul VI changed the Confirmation ritual in 1973 in keeping with the decisions by the Ecumenical Council of

Vatican II that was held from 1962 to 1965. The reforms were to connect Confirmation more closely to initiation. One reform eliminated the bishop's gentle slap which never had anything to do with initiation, and its removal helped purify the sacrament's meaning. Other changes were some of the language in the rite including the renewal of the baptismal promises to include a special one pertaining to the Holy Spirit. The Order of Confirmation has been reformed many times throughout its history, and many would like to see it reformed more. Current thinking of Confirmation is that it does not complete Baptism in the sense that Baptism left something incomplete. Rather, the two sacraments are united in the initiation process. By the sacrament of Confirmation, the baptized are more perfectly bound to the Church and are enriched with a special strength of the Holy Spirit. Sacred scripture says that seven gifts are given to us with the Holy Spirit, and they are Wisdom, Understanding, Counsel, Fortitude, Knowledge, Piety, and Fear of the Lord. Regarding Confirmation, Pope Francis in 2015 said "the word 'confirmation' then reminds us that this sacrament brings an increase and deepening of baptismal grace: it unites us more firmly to Christ, it renders our bond with the Church more perfect, and it gives us a special strength of the Holy Spirit to spread and defend the faith, ... to confess the name of Christ boldly, and never to be ashamed of his Cross. For this reason, it is important to take care that our children, our young people, receive this sacrament. We all take care that they are baptized, and this is good, but perhaps we do not take so much care to ensure that they are confirmed. Thus they remain at a midpoint in their journey and do not receive the Holy Spirit, who is so important in the Christian life, since he gives us the strength to go on. Let us think a little, each one of us: do we truly care whether our children, our young people, receive confirmation? This is important, it is important! And if you have children or adolescents at home who have not yet received it and are at age to do so, do everything possible to ensure that they complete their Christian initiation and receive the power of the Holy Spirit. It is important! Sources: loyolapress.com, vaticannews.va, adoremus.org
