VATICAN CORNER

A nine-year-old boy named Alessandro proposed an idea to Pope Francis to have an event similar to World Youth Day which is the well-established international gathering for young people ages 16 to 35, but the boy's idea was for a gathering of younger children. Pope Francis was inspired by the idea and created World Children's Day with the first celebration to be held in Rome on May 25-26, 2024. The Vatican is expecting some 70,000 children between the ages of 5 and 12 and their chaperones to come from 101 countries to Rome for the weekend event with the Pope. Given the school schedules and travel logistics, only 10% of the children will be from outside Italy. Italian actor Roberto Benigni and soccer star Gianluigi Buffon will join Francis in the celebration. Benigni, Italian actor, comedian, screenwriter and director is best known for his Oscar-winning film "Life is Beautiful" and his goofy humor and slapstick sketches. He has been a pitchman for one of the Pope's new books, and will give a performance on Sunday after Pope Francis' Mass and Angelus in St. Peter's Square. Benigni is a devout Catholic and has said in the past that he "would do anything for Pope Francis, be a Swiss Guard, be a Popemobile driver, anything." He has joked that as a child he told people he wanted to grow up to be pope. "But everyone would start laughing so I understood that I had to become a comedian." Soccer star Buffon is the goalie who helped Italy achieve victory in the 2006 World Cup. The celebration will "Kick off" in Rome's Olympic Stadium with greeting of foreign delegations and guests of national and international fame. There will be games, singing and dancing, a mini soccer match between kids and recently retired stars of Italian soccer, with goalie Buffon as their captain. There will be performances by some of Italy's best-known and well-loved singers and actors and late on Saturday afternoon Pope Francis will have dialogue with the children and answer some of the thousands of questions mailed to him along with drawings by children from around the world. Francis selected the theme for the celebration to be "Behold, I make all things new," for the reason that it remind us that to make the world a better place, people need to be united with Jesus and with others. Franciscan Father Enzo Fortunato the organizer of the World Children's Day said the goal of the event is to "look at the world through the eyes of children, who are the hope of the people, their future."
