Do They Really Believe In Science? Part 2

Some famous people who are considered to be very scientific have also spoken in favor of abortion, claiming it must be allowed “because of the science.”

As followers of Jesus, we should support good science. After all, we believe that God created the universe with all of its scientific principles. God is not bound by those scientific principles, but we normally must live in accordance with them. At the same time, we should oppose false science, especially when poor science and bad logic are used to try to justify the deliberate killing of innocent humans.

Last year, in the first part of “Do they really believe in the science?” we discussed 3 “arguments from science” which claim to justify abortion, which are really not scientific at all. In this column I want to show how the advocacy of abortion contradicts both science and logic.

Imagine this situation: A married couple is happily awaiting the birth of their first child, but they do not know yet if their child is a girl or a boy. They already have the early ultrasound pictures taped to the refrigerator door. They have started to think of possible names. They fully recognize that their prenatal child is a human being, because he or she is the offspring of human parents. As long as both parents want their child to be born, their prenatal son or daughter is recognized by all as a human person and nobody has the legal right to end his or her life.

But then the couple has a terrible financial tragedy that will completely change their lives, and they decide that at this time they cannot afford to let their child be born. If the pregnant mother no longer wants the child to be born, then that girl or boy will no longer be discussed as a human being. Instead those involved will talk about “ending the pregnancy” and “getting rid of a clump of cells.” The person working at the abortion center might say, “it is not human yet” or “nobody knows when life begins.” When the woman no longer wants her prenatal child to be born, in our country, in the year 2022, that boy or girl may legally be killed by abortion at any time before birth.

There is no doubt that the couple is facing serious hardships and they need help. But abortion advocates who claim to be scientific should be able to explain how the being who a few days ago was recognized by all as a human person with legal rights, has now become a non-human, non-person with no rights. What changed? In fact, the change that mattered was the desire of the pregnant woman. Advocates for abortion must hold that a prenatal human person with rights can somehow be transformed into a non-human, non-person with no rights simply by a change in the desire of the pregnant woman. This is clearly not a scientific explanation, and it goes against logic. That is why we ask if those who advocate for abortion really believe in science.

Let us pray for those who have abandoned logic and science in their advocacy for abortion. May God grant us courage to speak up for the prenatal babies, and charity to help their moms and dads to protect and care for their children.

¿Realmente creen en la ciencia? Parte 2

Algunas personas famosas que se consideran muy científicas también se han pronunciado a favor del aborto, alegando que debe permitirse "por la ciencia".

Como seguidores de Jesús, debemos apoyar la buena ciencia. Después de todo, creemos que Dios creó el universo con todos sus principios científicos. Dios no está sujeto a esos principios científicos, pero normalmente debemos vivir de acuerdo con ellos. Al mismo tiempo, debemos oponernos a la ciencia falsa, especialmente cuando la ciencia deficiente y la mala lógica se utilizan para tratar de justificar el asesinato deliberado de humanos inocentes.

El año pasado, en la primera parte de "¿Realmente creen en la ciencia?" discutimos 3 "argumentos de la ciencia" que afirman justificar el aborto, que en realidad no son científicos en absoluto. En esta columna quiero mostrar cómo la defensa del aborto contradice tanto la ciencia como la lógica.

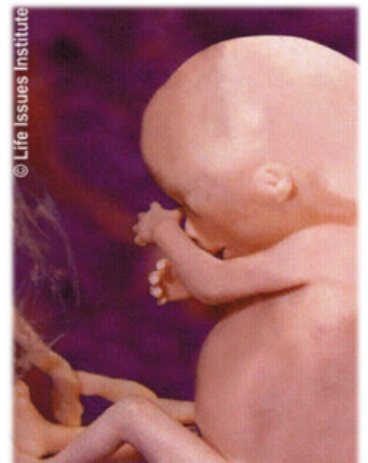

Imagine esta situación: una pareja casada espera felizmente el nacimiento de su primer hijo, pero aún no saben si su hijo es una niña o un niño. Ya tienen las primeras imágenes de ultrasonido pegadas en la puerta del refrigerador. Han empezado a pensar en posibles nombres. Reconocen plenamente que su hijo prenatal es un ser humano, porque él o ella es descendiente de padres humanos. Mientras ambos padres deseen que nazca su hijo, su hijo o hija prenatal es reconocido por todos como persona humana y nadie tiene el derecho legal de terminar con su vida.

Pero luego la pareja tiene una terrible tragedia financiera que cambiará por completo sus vidas, y deciden que en este momento no pueden permitirse el lujo de dejar nacer a su hijo. Si la madre embarazada ya no quiere que nazca el niño, entonces ya no se hablará de esa niña o niño como un ser humano. En cambio, los involucrados hablarán sobre "terminar el embarazo" y "deshacerse de un grupo de células". La persona que trabaja en el centro de aborto podría decir: "todavía no es humano" o "nadie sabe cuándo comienza la vida". Cuando la mujer ya no quiera que nazca su hijo prenatal, en nuestro país, en el año 2022, ese niño o niña podrá ser asesinado legalmente por aborto en cualquier momento antes del nacimiento.

No hay duda de que la pareja se enfrenta a graves dificultades y necesitan ayuda. Pero los defensores del aborto que dicen ser científicos deberían poder explicar cómo el ser que hace unos días era reconocido por todos como una persona humana con derechos legales, ahora se ha convertido en un no humano, una no persona sin derechos. ¿Qué cambió? De hecho, el cambio que importaba era el deseo de la mujer embarazada. Los defensores del aborto deben sostener que una persona humana prenatal con derechos puede de alguna manera transformarse en una no humana, una no persona sin derechos simplemente por un cambio en el deseo de la mujer embarazada. Esto claramente no es una explicación científica, y va en contra de la lógica. Por eso preguntamos si quienes abogan por el aborto realmente creen en la ciencia.

Oremos por aquellos que han abandonado la lógica y la ciencia en su defensa del aborto. Que Dios nos conceda valor para defender a los bebés prenatales y caridad para ayudar a sus mamás y papás a proteger y cuidar a sus hijos.
