Heartbreak in Uvalde

On May 24th, an 18-year old male in the small town of Uvalde shot his grandmother in the face, then drove her car to Robb Elementary School, where he shot and killed 19 students and two teachers. The gunman was eventually killed at the school by a border patrol officer.

I am very familiar with Uvalde because for 9 years I was the pastor at St. Joseph's Church in La Pryor, about 20 miles away. I went to Uvalde at least once a week for errands. Many of my parishioners had family in Uvalde, including one couple I knew well, who were uncle and aunt to one of the little girls who was killed. The family is devastated by the senseless death of their niece, whom they describe as a very sweet little girl, who had just made her First Communion two weeks before she was killed.

It is hard to imagine anything more evil than the deliberate killing of a small child. Children are extremely vulnerable and very much defenseless against the aggression of an adult. Children are just beginning their lives and they are innocent of any serious wrong-doing. They deserve to be protected from serious harm, as much as is possible.

It is no surprise that many people wonder how God could have allowed such a terrible thing to happen. Family and friends ask why God didn't somehow prevent this horrible tragedy. Many people are angry and are at a loss at what to do next. There is very little that can be said at this time which will console the heartbroken family and friends who are grieving the loss of those precious children. Those who have been deeply wounded in their hearts by this crime need our support and our prayers.

But it is important for us to realize that God was in no way to blame for the killings. God has given all of us free will, so that we are free to choose to love others and treat them with respect, or to hate others and seek to harm them. Without free will, we would be like robots, unable to do evil, but also unable to do anything morally good. The cost of having free will is that some people will freely choose to seriously hurt others, for whatever reason. But our free will also allows us to reject hatred and evil, and to give generously of ourselves for love of others.

Our Heavenly Father has first-hand knowledge of the painful consequences of free will. He saw in advance the terrible evils that would be caused by the persons He had created in His own image and likeness. But, in amazing mercy, God-the-Father chose to send His only Son, God-the-Son, to become one of us, to pay the price for our sins. Although He was totally holy and innocent, Jesus was rejected by His own people, tortured, humiliated and crucified. This was the worst injustice in all history. Yet God brought about the greatest good from this worst evil, the great good that we are able to be forgiven and to become members of God's family.

Of course God never wants any evil to happen, but He asks us to believe that He can bring great good out of even the worst evil, through His love working through us (Rom. 8:28). There has been a great outpouring of loving support for the families of those who were killed in Uvalde. Perhaps these heartbreaking deaths will lead many people to appreciate more the time they are able to spend with their own children and with others. May this tragedy inspire all of us to work more for peace and reconciliation.

May all those who died in Uvalde last week, through the mercy of God, have eternal rest with Him forever. May those who lost their loved ones be re-united with them one day in heaven, never more to suffer pain or separation again. Amen.

Deacon Roderick Bordelon Sr., beloved man of God and longtime parishioner of our church, passed into eternal life on May 19th. Please remember Deacon Bordelon in your prayers. May God grant him eternal rest, and may He grant consolation to all those who knew and loved him!

El diácono Roderick Bordelon Sr., amado hombre de Dios y feligrés de nuestra iglesia desde hace mucho tiempo, pasó a la vida eterna el 19 de mayo. Recuerde al diácono Bordelon en sus oraciones. ¡Que Dios le conceda el descanso eterno, y que conceda el consuelo a todos los que le conocieron y amaron!

Desamor en Uvalde

El 24 de mayo, un joven de 18 años en el pequeño pueblo de Uvalde le disparó a su abuela en la cara y luego condujo su automóvil a la Escuela Primaria Robb, donde disparó y mató a 19 estudiantes y dos maestros. El hombre armado finalmente fue asesinado en la escuela por un oficial de la patrulla fronteriza.

Estoy muy familiarizado con Uvalde porque durante 9 años fui pastor de la Iglesia de San José en La Pryor, a unas 20 millas de distancia. Iba a Uvalde por lo menos una vez a la semana a hacer mandados. Muchos de mis feligreses tenían familia en Uvalde, incluida una pareja que conocía bien, que eran tíos de una de las niñas que fue asesinada. La familia está devastada por la muerte sin sentido de su sobrina, a quien describen como una niña muy dulce, que acababa de hacer su

Primera Comunión dos semanas antes de que la mataran.

Es difícil imaginar algo más malvado que el asesinato deliberado de un niño pequeño. Los niños son extremadamente vulnerables y muy indefensos frente a la agresión de un adulto. Los niños recién comienzan sus vidas y son inocentes de cualquier maldad grave. Merecen ser protegidos de daños graves, tanto como sea posible.

No sorprende que muchas personas se pregunten cómo Dios pudo permitir que sucediera algo tan terrible. Familiares y amigos preguntan por qué Dios de alguna manera no evitó esta horrible tragedia. Muchas personas están enojadas y no saben qué hacer a continuación. Hay muy poco que se pueda decir en este momento que consuele a los familiares y amigos desconsolados que están de duelo por la pérdida de esos preciosos niños. Quienes han sido profundamente heridos en sus corazones por este crimen necesitan nuestro apoyo y nuestras oraciones.

Pero es importante que nos demos cuenta de que Dios de ninguna manera tuvo la culpa de los asesinatos. Dios nos ha dado a todos libre albedrío, para que seamos libres de elegir amar a los demás y tratarlos con respeto, u odiar a los demás y tratar de dañarlos. Sin libre albedrío, seríamos como robots, incapaces de hacer el mal, pero también incapaces de hacer nada moralmente bueno. El costo de tener libre albedrío es que algunas personas elegirán libremente herir gravemente a otros, por cualquier motivo. Pero nuestro libre albedrío también nos permite rechazar el odio y el mal, y dar de nosotros generosamente por amor a los demás.

Nuestro Padre Celestial conoce de primera mano las dolorosas consecuencias del libre albedrío. Vio de antemano los terribles males que causarían las personas que había creado a su imagen y semejanza. Pero, en asombrosa misericordia, Dios Padre eligió enviar a Su único Hijo, Dios Hijo, para que se hiciera uno de nosotros, para pagar el precio de nuestros pecados. Aunque era totalmente santo e inocente, Jesús fue rechazado por su propio pueblo, torturado, humillado y crucificado. Esta fue la peor injusticia de toda la historia. Sin embargo, Dios sacó el mayor bien de este peor mal, el gran bien que podemos ser perdonados y convertirnos en miembros de la familia de Dios.

Por supuesto, Dios nunca quiere que suceda ningún mal, pero Él nos pide que creamos que Él puede sacar un gran bien incluso del peor mal, a través de Su amor obrando a través de nosotros (Rom. 8:28). Ha habido una gran efusión de amoroso apoyo a las familias de los asesinados en Uvalde. Quizás estas muertes desgarradoras lleven a muchas personas a apreciar más el tiempo que pueden pasar con sus propios hijos y con los demás. Que esta tragedia nos inspire a todos a trabajar más por la paz y la reconciliación.

Que todos los que fallecieron en Uvalde la semana pasada, por la misericordia de Dios, tengan el descanso eterno con Él para siempre. Que aquellos que perdieron a sus seres queridos se reúnan con ellos un día en el cielo, para nunca más sufrir dolor o separación. Amén.
