Rain, Rain Go Away

A week ago the famous Pacific “storm door” blew open with a vengeance, and we all got drenched. Howling winds broke branches and uprooted trees. The roof on the corner of our new parish offices was peeled back like skin from a sunburn. But most disconcerting of all, most of us were in the dark for a good long while. Cold and uncertain, in the dark.

We’re not used to that anymore. Our ancestors thought the cold and dark were nothing out of the ordinary; those were the ordinary conditions, the defaults of human experience. Yet waking up after a roaring storm and finding that the internet doesn’t work, and that there’s no way to make coffee or get warm were startling reminders to me at least that ours is an uncertain adventure, bound together by fragile wires, webs that can snap in the wind and render us literally powerless.

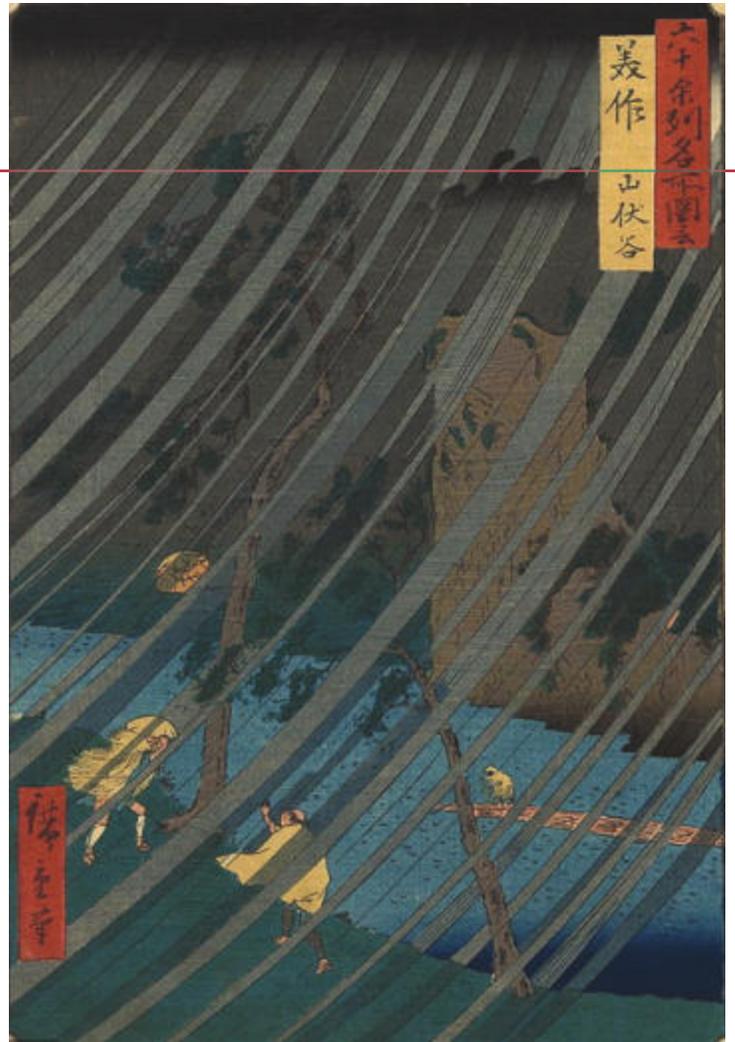

Powerless is how most of us have been feeling for a while now. The pandemic has snapped so many other fragile wires of connection that used to bind us together. The brightness of human communication has been reduced to little two dimensional screens. The warmth of human touch is reduced to an artlessly bumped elbow or a wave. Last Sunday we welcomed four catechumens into our community with a rite that ordinarily has us sign their eyes and ears and lips, their shoulders, hearts, hands and feet with the sign of the cross. Somehow a cross waved in the air didn’t feel complete. It’s better than nothing, of course, but was one more sign of how much we have been reduced by the intangible epidemic that surrounds us.

I reflect, too, that just as the wires that bring us power snapped in the wind, so too what Abraham Lincoln called the “mystic cords of memory” have been strained to the utmost in this past year. Racial, political, and social divisions among us have become more evident, more pronounced. Many of us seem to have forgotten what it means to be a community, united not only as states but as neighbors.

That there is much to repent for is no real discovery. Anyone who explores the depths of their hearts knows that selfishness, fear, and venality are always just below the surface, and that the centrifugal force of the winds of change is always in conflict with the centripetal force of union and communion.

Oddly enough, the most hopeful sounds I heard last week were sirens and chainsaws. Sirens meant that helping people were on the way, and the awful atonal music of chainsaws meant that the downed limbs that blocked the roads and tore through the power grid were eventually going to be cut through and hauled away by strong and generous people working together for the common good.

I realize that I was powerless over the storm, and more or less unable to correct its consequences. I could gather up some of the detritus left behind, call for help from people who knew the roofers, and marvel that good folks went out when it was still stormy to assess the damage and to fix what could be fixed. They didn’t huddle indoors, but went out into the storm, like the nurses and doctors and other essential workers. They did what they could do and fixed what could be fixed. Some used refined, specialized skills. Others put their shoulders and backs into the hard work of reconstruction. The fact is that working together, they restrung the wires, rewove the web, and brought the light and warmth and power back.

I suspect that there’s a lesson to be learned there, nestled inside that metaphor of storm and rain and darkness, and the ordinary heroism of ordinary people. I suspect that it can teach us something about our need for our church and civic communities, for shared responsibility, and for willingness to leave our comfort zones and brave the elements.

What is true is that the storm finally blew itself out, and the reason that the lights and heat came back on is that people took risks to work together. Maybe that’s our invitation.

Blessings

Fr. Tom Lucas SJ

Inspiration, Aspiration & Imagination

The Arts in the Jesuit Tradition

Given by Fr. Tom Lucas, S.J. '70

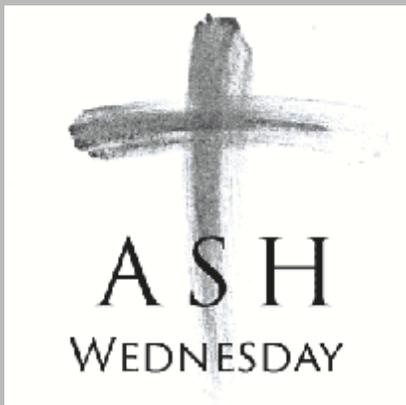

Thursday, February 11 • Jesuit High Sacramento • 7:00pm

All are welcome. This Live Virtual Event is FREE but you must RSVP to attend. RSVP at: www.jesuithighschool.org/pls21.

In a richly illustrated presentation, Fr. Tom Lucas, S.J., will present how the Society of Jesus has championed and used the arts as fundamental elements in its strategic toolkit. Although St. Ignatius didn't have an artistic bone in his body, he understood the tremendous emotive and pedagogical power of art. Even more importantly, his teachings in the Spiritual Exercises underscore creative use of the imagination as a means to encounter God's revelation in our material world.

Fr. Lucas is pastor of St. Ignatius Church Sacramento. He formerly was the university professor of Art and Art History at University of San Francisco and Seattle University. Fr. Lucas is a liturgical artist, designer, and restoration consultant with an international portfolio. He is also an alumnus of Jesuit High School Sacramento, class of 1970.

RSVP at: www.jesuithighschool.org/pls21

This year Ash Wednesday falls on February 17th.

Livestream masses will be available at 8 am, 11:30 am, and 4:30 pm

Distribution of Ashes and Holy Communion follow from 8:30-9:30 am, 12:00-1:00 pm, and 5:00-6:00 pm in front of the Parish Office on Arden Way

St. Ignatius Loyola Parish • 3235 Arden Way, Sacramento • <https://www.stignatiussac.org/lenken-novena.html>

This year's team of presenters for the annual Novena of Grace includes:

Fr. Mike Moynahan, S.J.

Fr. Mike is former pastor of St. Ignatius, Sacramento, and taught for many years at Gonzaga University. “When I pause and look back, I am blessed beyond measure. This fills me with gratitude for all of life’s experiences, challenges and friendships. This also fills me with a great desire to find good and hope in an imperfect world.”

Michael Cheney

Michael Cheney is Director of the Center for Ignatius Spirituality at St. Ignatius Parish, an experienced spiritual director, a retreat director, member of the Ignatian Formation Team for permanent deacons and their spouses, and a full time theology teacher at Jesuit High School. Michael has 38 years of teaching in both high school and university levels.

Charlene Miller Cardenas

Charlene is married and the mother of four children. She recently retired from Jesuit High School after 18 years as a faculty member in the Theology Department. During that time she also worked in the Jesuit Campus Ministry Department in the area of Liturgy and Worship. Before Jesuit, Charlene was Director of Religious Education at St. Lawrence Parish, North Highlands.

Father Tom Lucas, S.J.

Fr. Tom received his doctorate from the Graduate Theology Union in Berkeley after studies at Santa Clara, Fordham, and the Gregorian University, Rome. He has served as University Professor of Art and Architecture at USF and rector of the Jesuit Community at Seattle University and communications director for the US Jesuit Conference.

Fr. John McGarry, S. J.

Originally from Los Angeles, California, Fr. John is former Principal of Jesuit High School, and now President. A member of the Society of Jesus for 37 years, 27 years a priest, he is former provincial of the California Province. “My parents taught me by word and example. Be grateful. Be generous.”

Monica Smith

“I first learned from the Jesuits in my home parish and school, Gesu in Detroit, MI. I am a St Ignatius Parishioner,

Eucharistic Minister, and Founder of the parish’s Coalition for Racial Equity. I am a social justice educator and activist and professional marketer

Maureen Pryor

Maureen Pryor was raised in Carmichael, attending OLA and Loretto High School. Her undergraduate degree is in religious studies from LMU and she earned an M.Ed. in Counseling, an M.A. in Theology and a doctoral degree in spirituality. She taught high school theology and directed campus ministry prior to a 12-year term as Director of University Ministry at the University of San Francisco. In 2001, she returned to Sacramento, teaching theology at Loretto High School and Jesuit High School

Annie Crew-Renzo

Wife and mother of three children, Anne Crew-Renzo serves as Chair of the Theology Department at Jesuit High School. She enjoys running, reading, cooking and spending time with family and friends

Fr. Christopher Calderon, S.J.

Fr. Chris currently serves as Dean of Students at Cristo Rey High School. A California native, He attended Loyola High School in Los Angeles followed by USF before entering the Jesuits. As an educator and a colleague, friend and family member, spiritual director and priest, Ignatian spirituality is a constant source of consolation that informs how he is and who he is.

Important update on Faith & Racial Equity program!

The Coalition for Racial Equity has rescheduled the Faith & Racial Equity program to begin Monday, March 1st. The 8-week session is presented through the lens of our Christian faith and the learning happens in moderated, small faith sharing groups.

Faith & Racial Equity: Exploring Power & Privilege encourages honest dialogue about power and privilege and how they contribute to racial disparities. It gives participants an opportunity to discern practical action toward working for racial equity.

Sessions begin on Monday, March 1st
Monday evenings, each week from 6:30 pm-9:00 pm

For more information visit the Mission & Outreach page under the Ministries tab on the parish website. To register or ask questions about the program. Please send your email to: cmocerin@gmail.com. Please include your name and phone number.

You will receive a follow-up email to complete the registration process and provide log-in information. We look forward to you joining us for this transformative program.

The Annual Catholic Appeal

is one way we can walk with others as Jesus asks us to do. Together as Catholics, we extend our hand to those who need help. We assist them beyond dire circumstances and help them to begin again, refreshed and renewed. As our communities overcome the paralyzing effects of the COVID-19 pandemic, let us accompany those in physical and emotional poverty. Each of our gifts, no matter the amount, really do make a difference in someone's life.

Please prayerfully consider what you can give this year. If you would like to learn more or donate online, visit the Mission & Outreach webpage located in the ministries tab on the parish website. You can also donate by visiting www.scd.org/acagive. Please be sure to select St. Ignatius Loyola Parish when donating. Thank you for your consideration.

Your gift matters
IN EVERY WAY

INTO THE MIX/YOUNG ADULT MINISTRY RACIAL EQUITY AND THE CATHOLIC CHURCH

Join us on February 18th at 7:00 pm. on the Sacramento Diocese YouTube channel to learn about how we as Catholics are called to address racial equity. We will be sitting down with Fr. Bart Landry, CSP and Rudy Dehaney, who will be talking with us about this important topic and sharing a signature drink with our viewers. Like the St. Ignatius Young Adult Ministry Facebook page to get notified when the event livestream link is created and catch a sneak peek at the signature drink recipe! If you have any questions or would like more information, please email Adam Sherwood-McGrew at amcgrew@stignatiussac.org.
